EUROPEAN GOLD BLOC PREPARES TO QUIT PARLEY

France Hunts Way to Slip Out Gently.

LONDON, July 9.—(AP)—European gold standard countries prepared tonight to withdraw from the world economic conference gently and without a rumpus.

Georges Bonnet, French finance minister, spent the week-end searching for a formula by which the members of the gold bloc could have observers to keep a sharp eye on what the inflationist sterling-dollar group might concoct. This would not mean a technical walkout, it was said, but the gold countries hoped it would be a knockout blow to the conference.

Decide Parley's Fate Today.

Whether the conference is to blossom forth on the basis of a sterling-dollar price raising program or suffer a painful, lingering death probably will be decided tomorrow.

The conference steering committee will meet at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning to give a final decision on whether the parley is to continue with its full agenda or whether it is to lop off monetary and tariff questions as is demanded by the gold bloc members, representing all continental Europe except Portugal, Finland, Estonia, and the Scandinavian countries.

The permanent monetary committee, the only one which has not yet reported its desire, meets before 11 o'clock.

Gold Bloc's Defeat Expected.

The committee on temporary monetary measures for easing the crisis already has voted to keep pushing on while the economic committees voted to strangle the conference immediately.

The gold bloc members are convinced they will lose the battle in the steering committee, where a majority vote for the sterling-dollar group is predicted.

The policy of the gold bloc as expressed by Bonnet, its stubborn defender, is to remain adamant and not to give a single inch. For that reason they were favorably inclined toward the observer plan, for they are said to feel that it is to their interests to keep tab on the sterling-dollar bloc if it attempts a vast price raising scheme.

Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, chairman of the conference, sent emissaries today to Bonnet to attempt to persuade the Frenchman to "play ball" tomorrow and afterwards. They were told, it was understood, that this was impossible and that the gold bloc countries intended to adopt the observer plan.

British Look to Washington.

Meanwhile the British and dominion delegates were understood to be looking to Washington to produce a price level project for the sterling-dollar group to work on. Secretary of State Cordell Hull's statement Saturday to the dominion representatives was said not to have given them sufficient encouragement to go ahead.

They expected Secretary Hull to disclose some concrete plan upon which the conference could pounce, it was said, if it was decided tomorrow to continue to discuss the monetary phases.

If the American price raising program is not widely accepted statesmen probably will begin to cast about for a few more or less general resolutions on which nations might agree and which might leave a respectable tombstone over the conference.

A year's extension of the tariff truce is considered at American headquarters as one possibility which would help to give the appearance of a decent burial if necessity arises, although even its supporters conceded it would require many reservations.

U. S. Delegation's Cash Low.

How much longer the conference would continue no one knew, but Senator James Couzens of Michigan, one of the American delegates, has made a tentative reservation to sail for the United States July 20.

Incidentally it was learned the American delegation's money is running low. It started with $150,000, but expenses are understood to have been high and it may be impossible to keep the whole staff here more than two or three weeks longer.

Premier Hendryk Colijn of Holland, a leader of the gold bloc with whom Mr. Hull conferred, thinks the conference should recess soon, leaving some committees to work and perhaps reconvene when monetary conditions are more settled and the British holiday season is over.

ILLINOIS TAKES FINAL REPEAL ACTION TODAY

Delegates to Meet in Capitol at Noon.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Illinois today will join the list of states that have formally completed actual ratification of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Favorable action by thirty-six states is required and Illinois will be the tenth in line.

Thus this state retains about the rank in ratification that it acquired among the states in voting for repeal. Its overwhelming popular declaration on June 5 made it the ninth among the sixteen that have voted against the dry law this year.

Meet at Noon in Capitol.

The state convention, which is to act on the pending repeal amendment, is scheduled to meet at noon in the capitol building at Springfield. Only an hour or less—if oratorical tendencies are restrained—will be required for the transaction of the business of the meeting. All that really is necessary is the establishment of a simple organization and the adoption of a single resolution, putting Illinois formally on the list of states favoring repeal.

That there will be jubilee is taken for granted, but the leaders last night had not prepared for any pyrotechnics or brass bands. While they get a thrill out of the final ceremony, they regard it as routine that is not especially exciting but procedure that must be gone through carefully.

Guard Against Slips.

That was the attitude taken yesterday by the delegates from Cook county as they boarded Springfield-bound trains, either in groups such as a large one headed by National Committeeman P. A. Nash, which took a noon train in order to hold some final conferences at the capital last night as a precaution against any slip in the proceedings.

"The real history was written on June 5 when Illinois rolled up its big vote for repeal," said Committeeman Nash, "and the real celebration will come when the thirty-sixth state has come in."

He was one of those who hazarded a guess that the convention would last about an hour. He said he thought the tentative program to make Bruce Campbell of Belleville the chairman, and Senator Harold G. Ward of Chicago the secretary of the session, will be followed.

Women Plan Trip by Air.

He also predicted that the repealist organizations, particularly the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, will be given recognition in the program. As the result of a suggestion said to have originated with Gov. Horner, Mrs. Leslie Wheeler and Mrs. William H. Mitchell, co-chairman of the organization, are planning to fly to Springfield this morning.

The Nash contingent included a number of other delegates and several ardent workers in the anti-prohibition field, among them Congressman A. J. Sabath of the 5th district, and Congressman Leo Kocialkowski of the 8th. Several Republicans also were noticed in the group at the station. In this matter, by decision of Committeeman Nash, there has been no partisanship. The victorious wet slate of fifty headed by Nash consisted of almost equal numbers of Democratic and Republican candidates.

Other smaller groups left on the evening and midnight trains and the forecasts were that the attendance would be perfect.

Springfield, Ill., July 9.—[Special.]—Fire in the Illinois state capitol this afternoon caused damage estimated at $75,000 and for a time threatened the entire structure. Firemen in a four hour battle confined the flames to the south wing and by 6 o'clock had the situation under control.

The fire may lead to a transfer of tomorrow's repeal convention from the chamber of the house of representatives.

After the fire had burned for nearly three hours a section of the roof caved in. Scaffolding from recently completed reroofing work furnished fuel for the flames and gave the firemen another hour's stiff battle.

Documents Are Destroyed.

Thousands of valuable state documents were destroyed. These included plans for remodeling of the penitentiary at Joliet, hundreds of certificates for road construction and building projects, and receipts and bills.

Cause of the fire was not determined, but Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, who made the estimate of damage, said it may have resulted from defective wiring.

Billows of smoke led to the discovery of the fire, which is believed to have started on the fourth or fifth floor of the south wing, spreading upward to the roof over the sixth floor.

Firemen Use Gas Masks.

The smoke proved a severe handicap for the firemen. They donned gas masks, but the heat forced them back time and again.

Gov. Horner and other state officials hastened to the scene to direct the removal of records. The governor gave prompt orders for the protection of the oil portraits of Lincoln and Douglas which hang at the front of the house chamber. Neither picture was damaged.

The fire was just above the house chamber. Water seeped down into the hall, damaging the furnishings. The water was inches deep in places.

May Change Meeting Place.

This damage to the assembly room raised doubt as to whether it would be possible to hold the repeal convention in the chamber tomorrow. Gov. Horner, marked by soot and grime as the result of his inspection trip, said that the roof of the south wing would be inspected to determine whether it would be safe to meet in the hall.

A change in meeting place for the convention might lead to an attack on the validity of ratification, it was contended in some quarters. This might make it advisable, it was said, to call the convention to order in the house chamber and then adjourn to some other place of assembly.

HALTS BISHOP'S SERMON; SPEAKS AGAINST SLUMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 9.—The bishop of Winchester, the Rt. Rev. Cyril Garbett, had just begun his sermon in St. Paul's cathedral today when Miss Joan Conquest, well known novelist, walked to the front of the pulpit and demanded the right to speak. Holding above her head a book she had written about London's slums she shouted:

"I protest, my lord, I protest! This book is a challenge to civilization and Christianity demands that the Church of England take up the cause of British untouchables, the degraded, dispirited masses of the slums."

Two vergers seized the novelist. As Miss Conquest was led out she threw her book on the pulpit steps and cried: "I can only assume that the Church of England is cowardly and criminally neglectful of the salvation of the masses of degraded human beings in the slums."

The bishop, who had remained calm during the scene, continued his sermon. Miss Conquest later explained that she chose the occasion to protest because of the bishop of Winchester, who recently wrote an article on the slums, was preaching.

"I thought he would be the most likely person to hear me," she said.

SELL 3.2% BEER IN DRY VIRGINIA AS POLICE WINK

Charlottesville, Va., July 9.—[Special.]—They were selling beer openly in this city of Jefferson tonight despite Virginia's dry law, and police, acting on word from higher up, were not making any arrests.

One restaurant this afternoon emblazoned across its plate glass front in letters a foot and a half high "Beer 3.2 per cent," and other such places as were able to secure a supply were selling it across the counter. Several café owners and confectionery operators, questioned, said they had ordered a supply to be put on sale when it reaches here tomorrow.

Mayor F. W. Twiman tonight declared that the sellers "had not been given any encouragement, but that police were passing it [the sale of beer] up temporarily."

MRS. ROOSEVELT ON HER WAY TO CANADIAN LINE

Plattsburgh, N. Y., July 9.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt left here by automobile tonight for Mount Mansfield, Vt., after visiting Au Sable chasm and other scenic spots in this vicinity.

During her brief stop here she was the guest of former Lieut. Gov. Thomas F. Conway. On a vacation trip to Montreal and Quebec she drove to Plattsburg from Lake Placid. She was accompanied by Miss Lorena A. Hickok of New York.

Halt Flight at Rockland, Me.; Report Safety

New York, July 9.—[Special.]—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh alighted in a fog on the bay near Rockland, Me., at 6 o'clock tonight after having taken off from Glenn Curtiss airport at 3:40 p. m. on the first leg of their survey flight across Labrador, Greenland, and Iceland.

News of the landing was not received until 10:30 p. m. Then the Radio Marine corporation announced that its station at Chatham, Mass., had been in contact with the Lindbergh plane.

Says Both Are Safe.

"Everything O. K." came the message from the plane, without any further details. Rockland is on the southern shore of Penobscot bay and is about twenty miles from North Haven, Me., where Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, mother of Mrs. Lindbergh, has a summer home. The Lindberghs had hoped to reach that far, but fog is supposed to have held them short of their day's destination.

With better weather the Lindberghs might have continued on to Halifax, but they are not committed to any definite schedule and will make such stops throughout the trip as fit in with the weather and their plans to map the best flying route over the regions they are exploring.

Two Planes Almost Collide.

The expedition came close to disaster before it got under way. While making a flight in the morning, testing new pontoons and instruments, Col. Lindbergh suddenly found himself hemmed in by a group of photographic planes. The colonel had been watching one camera plane on his left and failed to see one on his right until almost too late.

Watchers ashore, off Flushing bay, thought the two planes certainly would collide, but Col. Lindbergh banked sharply and put the big Lockheed into a climbing turn. The 700 horsepower Cyclone motor responded fully and a crash was averted by inches.

When Col. Lindbergh landed after that he warned photographic planes to stay clear. With him on this test flight was Charles Winters, radio expert for Pan-American Airways. Mrs. Lindbergh did not reach the airport until 3 o'clock. She came with Harry Guggenheim, former ambassador to Cuba, and Mrs. Guggenheim, and Mrs. Henry Breckenridge. Mrs. Lindbergh conferred with Winters on the radio equipment.

Carry Emergency Rations.

Mrs. Lindbergh wore a khaki flying suit, with white helmet. She had a sweater tied across her shoulders as she climbed into the plane before the takeoff. The colonel wore gray trousers, blue cotton shirt and tie. The plane carries emergency rations enough for a month in the wilderness, should they be forced down. The flyers also packed away a pup tent, a light rifle, fishing tackle, a machete, a rubber boat, and small outboard motor which they expect to test for taxiing to and from moorings in the north.

To Pick Route at Will.

The Lindberghs have set no definite route nor have they picked definite places as stopover points. Further more, they have set no time for their return. While the flight is being undertaken as a survey of what may some day be used as an air route to Europe for Pan-American Airways, to which the colonel is technical adviser, the Lindberghs propose to enjoy the trip without the worry of keeping to schedules.

ROOSEVELT PUTS NAME ON FIRST CODE OF SERIES

Fixes Output, Pay, Hours of Labor.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt tonight put his signature to the first code adopted for the putting of an industry under the control of the federal government.

It was the code presented by a 77 per cent majority of the cotton textile industry, and according to the plans of the administration is the forerunner of hundreds of similar agreements which eventually are projected to put practically all of American industry under federal rein.

Code Effective July 17.

The code becomes effective July 17, and after that date, in accordance with its provisions, every cotton mill owner in the United States will be forced to pay minimum wages of $12 weekly in the south and $13 weekly in the north. He must limit his workers to a 40 hour week of labor and may operate his machines only 80 hours a week.

He must submit at regular periods certified statements concerning how many spindles he is operating, how many employés he hires, how much he pays them, how much his production has been, what stocks he has on hand, what his sales have been. This is intended to give the administration data upon which to impose future and further restrictions on production and to eliminate certain types of competition.

President Is Pleased.

After signing the code, which was presented to him two hours earlier by Hugh S. Johnson, industrial control administrator, the President issued the following statement:

"I have just approved the cotton textile code, subject to certain conditions, clarifying, but not greatly affecting, the proposals as submitted.

"Many significant circumstances attend this result:

"Child labor in this industry is here abolished. After years of fruitless effort and discussion this ancient atrocity went out in a day because this law permits employers to do by agreement that which none of them could do separately and live in competition."

Explains Minimum.

A list of conditions was imposed upon the industry by the President in signing the code, conditions suggested by Gen. Johnson. The smallness of the minimum wage was defended in one condition as follows:

"Approval of the minimum wages proposed by the code is not to be regarded as approval of their economic sufficiency but is granted in the belief that, in view of the large increase in wage payments provided by the code, any higher minima at this time might react to reduce consumption and employment, and on the understanding that if and as conditions improve the subject may be reopened with a view to increasing them."

Requires Further Reports.

The code excluded apprentices, cleaners and outside workers from the benefits of the minimum wage and hourly restrictions, and the President in his conditions required that data be submitted for the submission of a minimum wage and maximum hours for these classes by Jan. 1, 1934.

Another condition is aimed to prevent members of the industry from requiring employés to turn out more units of work than they did on July 1, 1933, by processes such as speeding up machines or requiring workers to tend a larger number of machines.

Employers who want to increase employé production must submit their requests to a special committee of textile operators, created in the code. If this condition is violated without approval of the agency it will be regarded as "a prima facie violation of the provision for minimum wages."

Violators of the code may be punished by fines of $500 for each day's violation, under the terms of the act.

Provides for Objections.

The President limited the approval of the code to a four months' period and granted the industry the right to apply for a renewal for a four months' period at any time. The code is also subject to change at any time.

The President also required that the agency which will have supervision over the enforcement of the code, which the industry had set up from among its own leaders, must have among its members three persons selected by Gen. Johnson's administration, but these three are not given a vote.

Today, hours before he signed the cotton code, the President pressed a button starting work on the 70 million dollar bridge connecting Oakland and San Francisco and declared that project "symbolizing the upturn that has come in our industrial life."

But viewing all this welcome scene of men marching back to jobs, chimneys blowing flame and smoke, "For Rent" signs going down and "Help Wanted" signs going up, department stores with crowded aisles — viewing all this and much more, there are some men in Washington today, and in the financial capitals, who are sounding notes of warning.

Strike Note of Caution.

The President and certain members of his cabinet, including Secretary of the Treasury Woodin and Budget Director Douglas, are among those who have seen certain danger signs in the situation, and while they are satisfied, as most economic observers are today, that a real recovery has been started, they are also anxious that nothing should happen to retard or imperil it.

The fear which is rated most significant, one which has been discussed at great length by Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers, is over the fact that production is outstripping employment and wage levels.

Oddly enough, the cause for the excess production is ascribed chiefly to the very method which the President has devised to prevent overproduction.

Many industries are being run full blast today by operators who are seeking to pile up large supplies of goods before the high labor costs and production restrictions contemplated in the federal industrial control act are invoked against them.

Team Work Is Sought.

The industry control machinery was set up to prevent overproduction, to team up employment, pay rolls, and production, so as to produce in the country, by artificial means, a balance between purchasing power and production which will yield a constantly level stream of industrial activity at a pace to guarantee a high standard of living to American classes.

But before it has an opportunity to start, even, it has resulted in the setting up of excessive stocks which the President and his industrial boss, Gen. Johnson, are viewing with great distaste. They fear that when the big industries finally are drawn under federal control, and higher wages and shorter hours are to be enforced, the surpluses piled up will be big enough so that the plant owners will shut down.

This would result in a temporary drop in employment, and the fear is that if the drop was deep enough, or sustained, it would have a serious effect on the public confidence which has gone so far in starting the march toward prosperity.

Pushes Public Works Plans.

To this end the President is pushing his public works program, in the hope that the spending of millions of governmental "easy money" will operate as a stopgap in any employment lull caused by the active flotation of his industrial control program.

The fact that many industries, including the biggest ones, are holding back, far from anxious to submit codes which will put them under federal rein, is also disturbing to the President and Gen. Johnson, because it serves to extend the time during which the industries are piling up uncontrolled production.

The President discussed this phase over the week-end with Atorney General Cummings, who accompanied the President on a cruise down the Potomac. It was understood that the President has in mind using the full force of the industry control act to compel industrialists to submit to regulation, if they refuse to come in voluntarily. But tonight it was learned that Mr. Roosevelt regards this weapon as one to use as a last resort, and he will employ every method of persuasion with the business leaders before bending them to the will of his program.

Other elements in the economic situation which are giving the sober thinkers in the administration much concern are the speculative trends in the stock market, and the disposition of some members of the cabinet to abandon thoughts of governmental economy.

The treasury officials are openly wary of the leaps and bounds taken in the stock market statistics. Stocks are rising too fast, they declare, and so are commodities on the speculative exchanges.

Ready to Act on Market.

The administration has given notice through the federal reserve officials that if the situation gets out of bounds it will step in to take some action to level off the market. They do not care to risk a collapse of the stock market, brought on by a speculative inflation beyond real value increases, because of the psychological effect which this would have on that vital element of public confidence.

Some Oppose Program.

The trend among certain cabinet officers to dump the administration economy plan is disturbing Budget Director Douglas. Secretary of Commerce Roper has openly stated that he did not believe it advisable, in view of "better business conditions, insuring more taxes," to cut his department's expenditures, as was first contemplated, and, on top of that, Mr. Roper is fighting for $10,000,000 of the public works "easy money" to be given him for carrying on projects cut off his regular budget, which would result in a considerable increase of the commerce expenditures, instead of a decrease. Secretary of the Navy Swanson is also nullifying the economy pledges of the administration, insofar as his department is concerned. All the employés laid off by the navy are being rehired on a public works program.

Roosevelt Cotton Code Orders

Washington, D. C., July 9.—(AP)—Here are the orders issued tonight by President Roosevelt after signing the cotton textile code and studying the report upon it by the national recovery administration, coupled with an analysis of the textile industry, and recommendations by the labor, industrial and consumers' advisory boards:

"In accordance with section 3 (A), national industrial recovery act, the cotton textile code submitted by duly qualified trade associations of the cotton textile industry on June 16, 1933, in full compliance with all pertinent provisions of that act, is hereby approved by the President subject to the following interpretations and conditions:

"1. Limitations on the use of productive machinery shall not apply to production of tire yarns or fabrics for rubber tires for a period of three weeks after this date.

"2. The planning committee of the industry, provided for in the code, will take up at once the question of employé purchase of homes in mill villages, especially in the south, and will submit to the administration before Jan. 1, 1934, a plan looking toward eventual employé home ownership.

"3. Approval of the minimum wages proposed by the code is not to be regarded as approval of their economic sufficiency but is granted in the belief that, in view of the large increase in wage ayments provided by the code, any higher minima at this time might react to reduce consumption and employment, and on the understanding that if and as conditions improve the subject may be reopened with a view to increasing them.

"4. That office employés be included within the benefits of the code.

"5. The existing amounts by which wages in the higher paid classes, up to workers receiving $30 per week, exceed wages in the lowest paid classes, shall be maintained.

"6. While the exception of repair shop crews, engineers, electricians, and watching crews from the maximum hour provisions is approved, it is on the condition that time and one-half be paid for overtime.

"7. While the exception of cleaners and outside workers is approved for the present, it is on condition that the planning and supervisory committee provided by section 6 prepare and submit to the administration, by Jan. 1, 1934, a schedule of minimum wages and of maximum hours for these classes.

"8. It is interpreted that the provisions for maximum hours establish a maximum of hours of labor per week for every employé covered, so that under no circumstances will such an employé be employed or permitted to work for one or more employers in the industry in the aggregate in excess of the perscribed number of hours in a single week.

"9. It is interpreted that the provisions for a minimum wage in this code establish a guaranteed maximum rate of pay per hour of employment regardless of whether the employé's compensation is otherwise based on a time rate or upon a piece work performance. This is to avoid frustration of the purpose of the code by changing from hour to piece work rules.

"10. Until adoption of further provisions of this code necessary to prevent any improper speeding up of work to the disadvantage of employés [stretch-outs] and in a manner destructive of the purposes of the national industrial recovery act, it is required that any and all increases in the amount of work or production required of employés over that required on July 1, 1933, must be submitted to and approved by the agency created by section six of the code and by the administration, and if not so submitted such increases will be regarded as a prima facie violation of the provision for minimum wages.

"11. The code will be in operation as to the whole industry but, opportunity shall be given by administrative consideration of every application of the code in particular instances to any person directly affected who has not in person or by a representative consented and agreed to the terms of the code. Any such person shall be given an opportunity for a hearing before the administrator or his representative, and for a stay of the application to him of any provision of the code, prior to incurring any liability to the enforcement of the code against him by any of the means provided in the national industrial recovery act pending such hearing. At such hearing any objection to the application of the code in the specific circumstances may be presented and will be heard.

"12. This approval is limited to a four months' period with the right to ask for a modification at any time and subject to a request for renewal for another four months at any time before its expiration.

"13. Section 6 of the code is approved on condition that the administration be permitted to name three members of the planning and supervisory committee of the industry. Such members shall have no vote, but in all other respects shall be members of such planning and supervisory committee.

ILLINOISIANS TO CONFER

A delegation from the Illinois Manufacturers' association led by Thomas S. Hammond, president; Ray Wantz of Rockford, vice president, and James L. Donnelly, executive secretary, left for Washington yesterday. They have an appointment today with Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the national recovery act, to discuss the application of the act to Illinois industries. Edward N. Hurley, a member of Gen. Johnson's advisory commission, accompanied the party and will take part in the conference.

TEXTILE GROUP CHIEF GLAD HIS CODE IS FIRST

New York, July 9.—(AP)—George A. Sloan, president of the Textile institute of New York, issued the following statement from his home at Greenwich, Conn., tonight when informed that President Roosevelt had signed the code for the cotton textile industry:

"I am happy to learn the news from the White House and I am proud of the cotton industry for being the first to coöperate with the President under the Industrial Recovery act. I appeal to the same fine spirit of patriotism and progressive attitude within the cotton manufacturing industry which made this code possible to proceed now without delay in making its provisions effective throughout the industry.

"Besides, I very much hope that the other major industries, for their own sake and for the good of the nation, will lose no time in joining the forward march under Gen. Hugh Johnson to recovery."

Mr. Sloan was chairman of the committee that submitted the cotton industry's code, two hours after President Roosevelt signed the Industrial Recovery act, to Administrator Johnson.

RAIN DRENCHES NEARLY MILLION AT CONEY ISLAND

New York, July 9.—[Special.]—More than 800,000 heat relief seekers were soaked this afternoon by a cooling cloudburst at Coney Island.

The morning had been ideal, but at 2 p. m. a dark cloud swept over the crowds. Suddenly the skies seemed to turn to Niagara Falls.

Coney Island police estimated that 200,000 persons made a concentrated rush for the West End elevated railway terminal only to be caught in a hopeless wedge. By that time the resort's streets were a sea of water—almost a foot deep, police said. Police reported that 203 children were separated from their parents during the downpour. The majority of them, however, had been reclaimed by early evening.

KILLS HIMSELF AT BEACH WHEN BATHERS WATCH

Racine, Wis., July 9.—[Special.]—Sitting down near a group of bathers at the Municipal beach, near English street and Michigan boulevard, George E. Fagerman, 45, shot himself through the head with a revolver today. He died an hour later at St. Luke's hospital.

Fagerman was employed as foreman of the Milwaukee railroad roundhouse. He had been in ill health and under the care of a physician.

Besides his wife, Walda, he is survived by a 12 year old daughter, Dorothy. Fagerman lived at 1200 Jones avenue.

The Honor of Your Presence is requested at an Exhibition of Persian Art and Antiques

This exhibition of Persian Art and Antiques is under the auspices of the internationally known Persian Scholar and Art Collector, Dr. Ali-Kuli Khan, N. D. These historic objects, selected from important private treasures of Persian dignitaries and heads of ancient families, were sent to America for exhibition at A Century of Progress. Since, however, there is no Persian pavilion or official Persian participation at the Exposition, Dr. Khan selected Pushman Bros.' Oriental Rug Galleries, 16 S. Wabash Ave., as the ideal place for this interesting exhibition.

Dr. Khan will give a lecture at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon (Tuesday) on the "Symbolism and Philosophy of Color and Design in Persian Art."

MATTERN TO GET NEW PLANE AND CONTINUE FLIGHT

Plans Completed by His Chicago Backers.

Arrangements were completed last night by the Chicago backers of Jimmie Mattern to enable him to resume his solo 'round the world flight from Anadyr, Siberia, where he has been stranded since he was forced down twenty-three days ago.

These arrangements were begun on receipt from Mattern of two cablegrams, one yesterday afternoon and the other last night, asking that a seaplan be sent to him and revealing for the first time that his own ship, the Century of Progress, had been wrecked. Both messages were dated yesterday.

Two Relief Planes on Way.

Two relief planes, one from Russia and the other from the United States, are on their way to Mattern now. As arranged by his Chicago sponsors, H. B. Jameson of 4300 Lake Shore drive, and Hayden R. Mills of River Forest, Mattern will fly alone to Nome, Alaska, in the American relief plane. The pilot of that plane will be returned to Nome in the soviet ship.

It was Mattern's second cablegram which really started action. The first message said that he wanted to complete his world flight and hoped America would back him. It asked that a Pan-American Airways seaplane be sent him from Alaska to enable him to resume his flight. This was the first authentic word that his own ship had been wrecked.

The second message asked that the American rescue plane, which last night was approaching Juneau, Alaska, be sent on to him so he could fly solo to Nome. He advised that the flyer of that plane could return to Nome by the soviet plane.

Backers Go Into Action.

Acting on this message, S. J. Sackett, attorney for Mills and Jameson, got in touch with Irving Friedman, New York backer of the Alaskan rescue trip, and asked him to send the ship to Mattern. Friedman immediately wired to William Alexander, leader of the relief expedition, at Juneau. His message said:

"Mattern requests you to fly to Anadyr, and turn your ship over to him. A soviet plane will fly you to Nome. Both planes should arrive about the same time. Turn relief plane over to Mattern and let him finish solo flight around world."

The relief plane carries Alexander, Fred Fetterman and Thomas Abbey. They started from New York and were forced down at Tenrace, B. C., because of excessive weight of equipment on their ship. At present they are using a commercial plane piloted by Robert Ellis. Their course as mapped out yesterday would take them to Fairbanks, then Nome, and then Anadyr.

RUSSIAN PLANE ON WAY

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, July 9.—"Anadyr is a tiny settlement in the Arctic waste with a small radio station and highly capricious meteorological conditions," G. A. Ushakov, vice chief of the soviet Arctic service said today in explaining the long delay in information on Jimmie Mattern.

"The task of getting in touch with him at Anadyr by plane will also be difficult" Ushakov stated. "In my opinion the pilot most likely to reach Mattern first is Levanovosky, whom we reached at Khabarovsk with orders to go to Anadyr and do anything he could for Mattern, depending on the state of the latter's plane. Levanovsky either will fly to Alaska for a new motor or convey Mattern in his own plane to Nome or back to Vladivostok.

"At present, you understand, neither I nor my colleague, Shevalof, have any definite information about what happened. Even the report that Mattern's landing was due to motor trouble is only in the nature of a surmise."

Levanovsky and Bukholtz, another Russian pilot assigned to aid Mattern, were both on their way to Wrangel island. Bukholtz is flying a seaplane from Crimea and his exact whereabouts are still uncertain. Levanovsky took his plane by ship to Vladivostok, however, and had reported from Khabarovsk a few days ago.

Trackless Forest.

"Unless you know that country," said Ushakov, "it is impossible to understand why Mattern was so long lost without a trace. Trackless forest alternates with thick scrub in the Anadyr region. There is no population, except a few nomads or reindeer herdsmen. A man might be fifty miles or less from a settlement and never know of it. Mattern probably lived off the country during his wandering until he met soviet frontier or forest guards."

Asked whether the soviet authorities would permit an American plane to bring a motor or parts from Alaska, the foreign office replied: "Probably not." It is believed here that the Russian rescue efforts will be adequate.

"However," it was added, "we are prepared to do everything possible."

YELLOW CAB HEAD TO HAVE COURT HEARING TODAY

Taxicab troubles are scheduled for a further airing today before Judge Thomas A. Green in Traffic court, where Thomas Hogan, president of the Yellow Cab company, and others are to report.

The case is based on the complaint of a Checker cab driver that the Yellow company is plotting against the Checker drivers who reduced their rates of fare from 20 cents the first half mile and 10 cents for each succeeding half mile to 15 cents the first third mile and 5 cents for each additional third mile.

Judge Green issued warrants for Hogan, Henry Jacobson, a road superintendent, and A. Waldron, a driver, charging them with conspiracy to commit malicious mischief. The Checker drivers charge the Yellow drivers, who still charge the old 20-10 rate, are using violence to combat the cut rates. Last week Judge Green issued warrants against Michael Sokol, president of the Checker Cab company, and other officials of that company, and he held Sokol to the grand jury on several charges involving the possession of Checker cabs.

Property Damage Heavy in Colorado Cloudbursts

Section of railway track and loaded gasoline tank car pitched on to road at Morrison, Colo., by one of five widely separated cloudbursts which struck the state. At least five lives were lost in the storm. [Acme Photo.]

Death Toll Grows

Denver, Colo., July 9.—(AP)—Threats of new floods abated and the search for two bodies, believed buried in the débris left behind by high water in Bear creek canyon was resumed today. Three other bodies have been recovered and identified.

Although another wall of water swept down the 18 mile long canyon late yesterday following a cloudburst, those in its path fled to the mountainsides and no injuries or deaths were reported.

An outbreak of typhoid fever is imminent in the Bear Creek canyon district unless steps are taken to improve conditions, authorities warned. The water system at Morrison was damaged and there is no fresh drinking water except that which is being trucked in.

Officials at Morrison and Idledale estimated about $250,000 damage was caused by the storm. Several cabins were swept away and a number of motor cars were buried in silt.

NAVY ESTIMATES JOB GIVING IN SHIP BUILDING

Washington, D. C., July 9.—[Special.]—The naval construction program authorized under the industrial recovery act will create more than 2,430,000 "man weeks" of work. That was estimated today by the navy department in a report to the federal administration of public works.

The navy department was alloted $238,000,000 of the $3,300,000,000 authorized for all public works for the purpose of undertaking a naval building program that will modernize the United States fleet while still remaining within the bounds of the London naval treaty.

Bids on seventeen of thirty-two authorized vessels to be constructed with this money will be opened at noon on July 26. If such bids are satisfactory, work will be started as soon as practicable. The remaining fifteen vessels will be constructed speedily in government navy yards.

Province in Chile Takes Over Trans-Andean Rail Job

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 9.—(AP)—The government of Antofagasta province is planning to take over immediately construction of the proposed Northern Trans-Andean railroad. The move is the result of a decision that the contractors who hold the concession, Cereceda Garcia company, are unable to fulfill their promises.

EX-CONVICT HELD FOR MURDER OF SHERIFF'S SON

Milwaukee, Wis., July 9.—(AP)—Less than two hours after Robert Shinners, 21 year old son of Sheriff Joseph Shinners, was shot to death in a holdup attempt early today, Fred Garcia of Riverside, Cal., was arrested and, police said, confessed the slaying.

County authorities said a first degree murder warrant would be issued tomorrow. Garcia, a former convict, was arrested while sleeping on a park bench, to which he fled after robbing a lunchroom immediately following the shooting of Shinners in the warehouse and garage of which he was night manager, officers said.

Garcia said he fired at young Shinners when he resisted his attempts to rob the garage.

CHINESE BANDITS SHOOT 32 COREANS AND 3 JAP GUARDS

TOKIO, July 9. — (AP) — A Rengo [Japanese] news agency dispatch from Seoul, capital of Corea, today said Chinese bandits attacked a convoy of about 4,000 Corean peasants under the guard of 27 Japanese soldiers en route to Paitsaoku, in southeastern Kirin province, killing or wounding 32 Coreans and three Japanese. When the convoy reached its destination 1,600 of the Coreans who started out were missing. Most of them are believed to be stragglers but it is feared many of them fell into the hands of the bandits.

Roach Poison Administered by Mistake Kills Patient

Ernest Busse, 45 years old, 115 South Campbell avenue, died yesterday of a dose of roach powder which his wife gave him by mistake for medicine. Busse, a special express messenger, had been ill for several months and had had a powdered medicine prescribed for him. His wife picked up the wrong container yesterday and gave him some of the poison. He died a short time later in the Robert Burns hospital.

ASK INDICTMENT TODAY OF TWO POLICE SLAYERS

One Breaks Down Before Brother, a Policeman.

Ross King, 34 years old, and John Bongiorno, 28 years old, both paroled convicts, stood together yesterday on a platform in the detective bureau as exhibits in the regular showup of criminals. They had confessed the killing of Policeman Harry Redlich in a robbery Saturday, and they were hardened in their demeanor until suddenly Bongiorno began to sob.

Policeman Anthony Bongiorno of the state's attorney's office, his brother, was facing him. Nothing was said by either brother. Anthony, a new member of the police department who is assigned to the prosecutor's office to serve summonses, shook his head and walked away.

Both Sign Confessions.

The two robbers, identified by a couple whom they had held up, were taken back to the Warren avenue police station where written statements were taken from them and signed by them in the presence of witnesses. A physician was called to examine them so that a certificate might be made to the effect that neither had been beaten and that the confessions were voluntary.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty and Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney, were taking no chances. They want the death penalty for both men, they said, and while they believe the confessions are not needed, due to the fact that several witnesses positively identify the pair, the case is being carefully prepared for trial.

Seeks Indictments Today.

Prosecutor Dougherty expects to rush the case to a speedy trial. He plans to have murder indictments voted today. If King and Bongiorno plead guilty, trial and sentence may follow at once. If they plead not guilty they may demand 30 days in which to prepare their defense.

The killing of Policeman Redlich occurred outside the office of the Thomas W. Compton advertising agency on the third floor of the Madison-Kedzie building, 9 South Kedzie avenue. King and Bongiorno had robbed the office on June 7 and went back to rob again Saturday. King had taken $61 and some stamps and jewelry when Policeman Redlich arrived from his post at Madison street and Kedzie avenue, where he was directing traffic.

Jumps Out Window; Returns.

The policeman seized Bongiorno and held him in the corridor outside the office, but King jumped from a window to the roof of a garage below, then dropped to the alley and walked around to the front stairway of the Madison-Kedzie building. As he climbed the stairs he saw that Bongiorno was being held by Redlich and then he ran up behind the policeman and fired.

The killing was reënacted on the scene yesterday by King and Bongiorno with Prosecutor Dougherty and police officials as witnesses.

"I never left a pal," King said in explaining his motive for the murder. "When I saw that the cop had Bongiorno against a wall covered with a gun I put my gun to the cop's back and told him to stick 'em up. He turned around and fired. I let loose and let him have it. If he had put up his hands as I told him to I would not have killed him."

"What would you have done, hit him on the head with your gun?" a policeman asked.

"No, I'd have taken his gun and backed away from him while my pal got away," replied King.

Both King and Bongiorno were caught within a few blocks of the murder scene. They claimed not to know each other until early yesterday when their wives called at the Warren avenue station together and said the men had been acquainted for 18 months.

King served time in a Michigan prison for robbery and in 1932 was paroled to Chicago, a practice against which Chicago authorities have often protested but which the state of Michigan continues to follow. Bongiorno served in Pontiac reformatory for robbery and was paroled in 1930.

Asks Death Penalty for Both.

Prosecutor Dougherty cited several precedents for asking the death penalty for Bongiorno as well as King. An accessory is as guilty as the actual murderer and a dozen accessories have been hanged or electrocuted in Cook county in recent years, Mr. Dougherty declared.

Policeman Redlich's widow will receive $7,500 from the city, Supervising Capt. John Stege, who aided in the capture of King, declared yesterday. She will also receive $2,000 insurance from the Police Benevolent association, and a life pension.

ARTHUR LOEW'S PLANE FALLS; STARTS FLIGHT AT ROOSEVELT FIELD

New York, July 9.—[Special.]—Bad luck that seems to have followed Arthur Loew, theater magnate, ever since he became an air enthusiast, appeared again today when his 110 horse power privateer amphibian with Warner motor crashed at Roosevelt field, Long Island. Loew escaped with slight injuries. The ship was wrecked.

The wealthy aviator, a son of the late Marcus Loew, and a former vice president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, had taken off into a northwest wind, bound for his estate at Glen Cove. He had planned to make a water landing there. When, at fifty feet, while rising, he pulled the nose too high, the ship stalled and fell sideways on its left wing.

PRICE OF BREAD IN CHICAGO GOES UP 1 CENT TODAY

Pay Increase for Bakery Workers to Follow.

The price of all bread made from wheat flour advances 1 cent on 12 ounce loaves in Chicago today. This loaf will now sell at 6 cents. There is no increase in price on the larger loaf, but its weight is reduced from 24 to 20 ounces. This loaf sells at 10 cents.

Chain stores, which have been selling a pound loaf for 5 cents, have also announced a price increase of 1 cent. The increase will not apply to bread made from rye or barley.

Italian Bakers Boost Price.

The Italian Bakers' association met yesterday and agreed to join in the price increase. The increase is to be 1 cent a pound. Pound loaves made by members of the association will now sell at 9 cents.

The new prices were agreed upon by bakers to meet the rise in wheat prices and the federal processing tax, which became effective at midnight Saturday. The tax adds $1.38 to the price of a 196 pound barrel of flour.

Prepare to Adopt Trade Code.

The price increase will result in a wage increase for inside workers, representatives of baking companies said. The Gordon Baking company has already announced a 10 per cent increase in wages, effective today.

The question of wage adjustment under the new price scale is to be determined this week at the meeting here of the American Bakers' Institute. Henry Stude of Chicago, president of the institute, has been in Washington arranging for the preparation of a code of trade practices and prices for the baking industry under the national recovery act.

The code is to be adopted at the meeting of the institute. It is expected the code will group bakers into states and regions on prices and wage scales. Chicago and its suburbs, it is expected, will constitute a region in Illinois district from downstate areas because union bread drivers are paid $43 a week here, as against $17 and $18 downstate.

World's Deepest Gold Mine Caves In; Miners Trapped

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

RIO DE JANIERO, July 9.—Many miners are believed to have been killed today in a cave-in in the Morro Velho mine, the deepest gold mine in the world. The gallery where the disaster occurred is more than 3,000 feet deep.

[The Morro Velho mine is in Minas Geraes, an inland state on the high Brazilian plateau. The mine, which is about 6,500 feet deep, has been worked since 1725. A further depth to 7,700 feet has been contemplated.]

NICKEL BEER ON SALE TODAY

NORTH ILLINOIS U. S. BEER TAXES $800,000 MONTHLY

Beer sold in the thirty northern counties of Illinois is providing the federal government with more than $800,000 revenue in taxes monthly, according to the office of Collector Gregory T. Van Meter.

During June the office collected $829,200 from the sale of $5 stamps which must be placed on each barrel of 31 gallon capacity. Additional revenue will come from the federal licenses of $20 annually for retailers, $50 from wholesalers, and $1,000 from brewers.

If the rate of production continues as is now indicated, the nine breweries in the district will turn out more than 2,000,000 barrels of beer annually, which is almost as much as the fifty-two breweries in the Chicago area produced yearly before prohibition.

Pana Is 5 Cent Beer City.

Pana, Ill., July 9.—[Special.]—Pana is the first city in Illinois to go on a basis of "nickel beer." Every government, state and city licensed beer retailer today at a business meeting agreed to sell a uniform 8 ounce glass of beer at five cents. Meanwhile a threatened beer war was averted

ANOTHER FACTOR CLEW ENDS IN FRUITLESS RAID

Gilbert Finds Suburban Cottage Vacant.

Another anonymous report on the whereabouts of John [Jake the Barber] Factor, millionaire stock promoter kidnaped a week ago Saturday, proved worthless last night when Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator of the state's attorney's office, raided a bungalow at 80th and Birchwood avenues, Elmwood Park, and found it empty.

The anonymous informant said Factor would be found with his captors in the bungalow, which is near a cemetery.

Capt. Gilbert does not share the suspicion of representatives of the British government, which is seeking to extradite Factor for trial on a $7,000,000 stock swindling charge, that the kidnaping was a hoax. He said he was convinced that the Touhy gang, in whose territory Factor disappeared, took part in the abduction. The kidnaping is supposed to have occurred near The Dells, a roadhouse on Dempster road west of Evanston.

The Factor headquarters in the Morrison hotel was deserted most of yesterday, with only Leon Bleet, the missing man's secretary, making an occasional appearance. Lieut. Leo Carr, who has been working unofficially on the case, departed on a mission for the Illinois attorney general's office, to which he is assigned.

Jerome, the 19 year old son of Factor, who was kidnaped in April, spent the day with his stepmother, Mrs. Rella Factor, his father's second wife, in their Pearson hotel apartment.

"The silence of the kidnapers is driving us crazy," said the youth.

The only message purporting to come from the kidnapers which the family admits receiving was a telephone call last Monday, demanding $,000 ran-

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Automobiles stolen, 111; recovered, 74; stripped, 9 [from police records for the twenty-four hour period ending at midnight Saturday].

som. Jerome expressed the conviction that this call came from a crank.

At the request of the British embassy, through the state department, federal agents of the bureau of investigation and officials in border towns have been notified to watch for Factor. British authorities believe that he might be attempting to escape from the country before his extradition case comes up in the United States Supreme court for the second time on Oct. 9.

ARGENTINA HIT BY COLD WAVE ON LIBERTY DAY

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

BUENOS AIRES, July 9.—Argentina celebrated her Independence day today under the worst cold wave of the present winter. The average temperature was 14 degrees above zero in the interior.

Snow fell at several points in Buenos Aires province for the first time in fifteen years. The temperature reached 28 degrees in this city, which has experienced only one colder day this winter.

President Justo reviewed 10,000 troops and attended services in the cathedral. Two newspapers and several stores distributed bedding, clothing, and food to the poor in observance of the holiday.

MARYLAND AND ILLINOIS BOTH WANT SAMMONS

Prospects of strife between Illinois and Maryland for the possesison of James "Fur" Sammons developed yesterday as a result of the arrest of the notorious criminal in Kansas City on Friday. The Maryland authorities want him for a Baltimore pay roll robbery several years ago, for which Willie Niemoth, one of Sammons' associates, is now serving a ten year term in prison.

Maryland asked Sammons' extradition from Illinois more than two years ago after Sammons had been out of Joliet prison for a year. While the request was awaiting action in the courts here Sammons was recommitted to prison under an opinion that he had been illegally freed while serving a term for murder. Then Judge Edward D. Shurtleff of Marengo assumed jurisdiction and liberated Sammons.

Sammons is wanted in Cook county on several charges, and the question of whether he must serve the rest of his life at Joliet on the old murder conviction is pending in the Illinois Supreme court. If that case is decided soon, authorities said, and he can be incarcerated in Joliet for the rest of his life, the Maryland complainants might be satisfied. If not, Maryland will ask that its request be given precedence over the request of Illinois.

POLES SHARE DAY AT FAIR WITH MICHIGAN CITY

3,000 Falcons Stage Finals of 3 Day Carnival.

Polish Falcons, 3,000 sun tanned men, women, and children, representing the leadership of Falcon Nests from all sections of the United States, yesterday staged the finals of a three day athletic carnival in Soldiers' field as the feature event of the day at the Fair.

Ten thousand Polish-Americans gathered in the stadium to watch the rhythmic drills, calisthenics, athletic events, and massed review.

Sharing honor with the Poles were 3,000 visitors from Michigan City, who presented a program of music and speeches to observe their official day at the Exposition, made possible to a large extent by the industries of the Indiana city.

Fair Passes 4,000,000 Mark.

With the special programs of the Indiana visitors and the Polish-Americans as the high lights of the Sunday program, attendance at the Fair ran far ahead of that of Saturday, when 92,391 visitors passed through the turnstiles. At 11:30 o'clock last night the official attendance was 135,432.

Total attendance at the Fair yesterday passed the 4,000,000 mark, with the four millionth visitor arriving at the 23d street gate shortly after 1 p. m. to form, without her knowledge, one of the features of the Michigan City program. She was Miss Billie Morse, 19 years old, 124½ Green street, Michigan City. The honor visitor was given a World's Fair gold medal and the official hospitality of the Fair. This was not her first step into the limelight, however, as she had placed second in the Panther woman contest in her city.

Veteran of 1863 Attends.

Honor guests at the Polish celebration were Commander Vincent Smolczynski of Boston, one of the few living veterans of the Polish insurrection of 1863, and Dr. Titus Zbyszewski, Polish consul general in Chicago. City and Fair officials will take a leading part in the observation of Polish day at the Fair July 22, but were not represented at yesterday's program.

Yesterday's program opened in the stadium with the singing of the American national anthem and the Falcon song, with the assembly joining in the chorus. The athletic events included drills, calisthenics, apparatus work, and acrobatic stunts.

Among the prominent Poles attending were F. W. Dziob, president of the Polish World War Veterans' association; G. Pieprzny, national physical director; Dr. T. A. Starzynski, national president, and Mrs. Marie Korpanty, national vice president of the Falcons.

A program of music and speeches in the court of the Hall of Science featured Michigan City day, with opening ceremonies in the Court of Honor at the 14th street entrance and a parade to the Science Hall. Speeches were made by Mayor Harry B. Tuttle of Michigan City and John W. Gerby, representing President Rufus C. Dawes of the Fair.

"I saw the Columbian Exposition," Mayor Tuttle said, "and though it was the greatest show I had ever seen, but it pales almost into insignificance when compared to the present Exposition. A person can get a liberal education here at the Fair for fifty cents. As far as I am concerned it is going to be a success. I intend to see it not once, but often, and I advise all Indiana residents to do the same."

Advertise Fair to Friends.

Music for the Indiana celebration and the colorful parade opening the ceremonies was furnished by the following organizations: Michigan City High school band, Michigan City Kiltie band, Junior and Senior High school glee clubs, and the drum and bugle corps of the Michigan City post of the American Legion.

Following the close of the formal program the visitors departed in groups to survey the Exposition so that they could "advertise the Fair to friends and neighbors, realizing that the success of the Chicago Fair is as important to the citizens of Indiana as it is to Chicago and Illinois."

LUTHER LEAGUE OPENS REGIONAL MEETING HERE

1,500 Attend Session at Austin Church.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Nearly 1,500 delegates to the mid-west regional convention of the Luther league assembled last night for the opening session of a two day conference in the North Austin English Evangelical Lutheran church, Mason avenue and Le Moyne street.

Young people representing the 30,000 members of the league have been arriving from various parts of the district, which extends from Ohio to the Rocky mountains.

Consider Youth Movement.

The program of the conference, announced by the Rev. F. W. Otterbein, pastor of the Austin church, follows A Century of Progress theme. It will include fields of church interest not often touched by Lutheran groups, the Rev. Mr. Otterbein said. The general theme of the conference under the title, "Progressing Through Christ," will call today for the consideration of the subject of "The youth movement in the changing political world." "The New Industrial Order" and "World Peace" will be the subjects tomorrow.

Progress Exacts Toll.

Last night the Rev. Mr. Otterbein, speaking at the opening session, pointed to the cost of progress. He said that few stop to consider that advances made in all fields of human endeavor exact heavy toll. This cost, the Austin pastor continued, is the same in religion.

"The reason that Christianity sped through the ancient world," said the Rev. Mr. Otterbein, "was because the early Christians were willing to pay any cost for the spread of their faith. If we could have a dozen young people out of this conference who would give themselves completely, the world would be changed into a far better place."

5,000 PANAMANS DEMAND FOREIGN IDLE DEPORTED

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

PANAMA CITY, July 9.—Increasing nationalistic fervor ended in a demonstration of 5,000 persons last night before the presidential palace. They demanded the deportation of idle foreigners as a measure of relief for native workmen. Fascist salutes greeted President Arias as he spoke from the balcony. He promised government action to repatriate idle foreigners.

"Panama for Panamans" is the slogan of several groups, including the local Fascist organization, said to be composed of government employés.

Reduced appropriations for Panama canal work has resulted in the discharge of many West Indians who live in Panama, where they increase the government's burden in caring for the idle. The canal administration is repatriating many West Indians.

ROB UPTOWN DRUG STORE.

A bandit took $100 in the Walgreen drug store at 800 Wilson avenue yesterday, after holding up Sylvester Ludka, clerk, a porter and a customer.

A. OF C. OPENS NEW SERVICE BUREAU FOR FAIR VISITORS

A new information and service bureau for out of town visitors to the World's Fair has been opened by the Chicago Association of Commerce, on the mezzanine floor of the Sears Roebuck building.

Conservative estimate made by the association, its officials announced, indicate that 700 national conventions to be held in Chicago will bring in excess of a million persons to the city. The American Legion convention alone is expected to bring 250,000 visitors in the first week of October.

The bureau at the World's Fair will be in charge of F. J. Ashley, Clarence C. Hintze, and Asa C. Phelps.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

The next two of a series of lectures on Italian achievements in science, fine arts, literature and politics will be given tomorrow and next Saturday in the Italian pavilion. Dr. E. Carey, professor of anatomy at Marquette university, who is in charge of the medical science exhibit at the Fair, will speak tomorrow night at 8 o'clock on "The Italian Fathers of Basic Medical Science," and Lorado Taft will give an address on "One Hour in Florence" at the same hour Saturday. The lecture series has been arranged by Dr. E. Bompiani, professor at the University of Rome.

Women visitors from 30 countries, coming to Chicago for the international congress of women during the week of July 16, will be guests at two receptions to be given for them at the Fair. On Friday, July 21, they will be guests at an informal reception in the exhibit of the National Council of Women in the Hall of Science, and on the following day they will attend a reception in the Illinois host building at 4 p. m.

A party of 150 newsboys from Evansville and Terre Haute, Ind., visited the Fair over the week-end as winners of subscription contests. They were brought here by Century Vacations, Inc. A group of 16 teachers and pupils from Milwaukee also was brought in by the same tour service.

A party of five girls, winners in a popularity contest in South St. Paul, Minn., arrived at Chicago yesterday for a week's visit to the Fair. They are the Misses Frances Ross, Grace A. Johnson, Signe Holmgren, Edith Knapp, and Amy Dahlin.

Harry S. New, United States commissioner to the Fair, yesterday was made a member of the Sioux tribe of Indians from Black Hills, S. D., by Chief Blackhorn. Commissioner New was given the name Wandle Takha, which means Leader of Men.

A program of Hawaiian music and dancing was given at 8 o'clock last night in the Old Mill garden in the Horticultural building by a group of Hawaiian boys and girls who are touring the United States. The entire group was in native costume.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ulmer of 5415 South Paulina street, celebrated their 42d wedding anniversary yesterday in the same way they celebrated their second anniversary, 40 years ago, by attending the Chicago World's Fair. Mr. Ulmer has been employed in the postoffice department at the Federal building for 30 years.

Miss Verna Socket, 7025 South Ashland avenue, and Miss Juliana Neeley of Cary won first and second honors yesterday in the balloting for the most charming girls at the World's Fair bathing beach. Ten girls will be awarded prizes in the first revue at a parade of contestants to be held at the beach at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon, and ten prizes will be awarded tomorrow in the second revue. Winners will be named on Thursday. There is no charge for entrance to the charm revue and the public is admitted free.

"Hail, Chicago!" a song written 25 years ago by Angus S. Hibbard, will be recorded tomorrow in the Brunswick laboratories, to be broadcast periodically over the public address system at the Fair. A chorus of 20 picked singers of the Glee Club of the Chicago Association of Commerce will sing for recording.

Traffic on the sky ride was held up for 35 minutes yesterday afternoon when a fuse blew out just as one of the rocket cars was leaving the west tower. An hour was needed to replace the fuse and put the car back in operation, but 36 passengers in the car were held up for only half an hour, being unloaded when the car was pulled back to the entrance gate at the 200 foot level.

The New York Central lines brought a total of 4,926 World's Fair guests into Chicago yesterday, breaking the railroad's record for passenger traffic for the third successive Sunday. During the first 18 days of June 5,000 employés were put back to work by the railroad because of increased traffic, and the number has been augmented since.

We take hot summer winds and chill them 'til they're cool and refreshing breezes, 'til you smile again . . . and rest . . . and eat.

FRANCE REVEALS BATTLE PLANS TO DEFEND HER GOLD

Premier Tells Nation the Franc Is Safe.

PARIS, July 9. — (AP) — France's battle plans to defend her golden franc, her trade and her prestige were outlined by Premier Daladier today in a rousing speech surveying the future.

On the eve of the campaign which six gold bloc countries launched yesterday to support their currencies and throttle speculation against gold through their central banks, the premier assured the country that its money was safe and promised a "youthful policy"—vigorous, daring, but never too venturesome—to keep it so.

He announced he would summon parliament in October to arm the government for the anti-inflation fight by balancing the budget, pledged rapid repayment of the British loan, said France was able to meet all her bills and intimated that the war debt difficulties with the United States would be adjusted.

Seek to Salvage Trade.

Meanwhile, Lucien Lamoureux, budget minister, announced in a speech that measures would be sought to salvage France's trade from the threat of the cheapened dollar and pound.

Daladier, speaking at Apt, said the government was convinced that stability of moneys is necessary to control of production as a means of economic betterment, adding that it "wishes neither a closed door policy nor one of self-sufficiency."

"Determined to defend France and let nothing harm the national money," the premier declared, "we will recall parliament beginning in October and invite it to crown the work necessary to public safety by a final straightening out of our finances."

To Repay British Loan.

Reviewing the government's accomplishments of the last five months, the premier said the country's financial condition was improving and that the treasury would repay the recent British loan by the end of this month.

He reiterated his position on disarmament and other international questions, and said France intends to pursue cordial conversations with Italy "from which country we have been separated by misunderstandings too long" and to "work to tighten the equally cherished bonds with the United States."

"Must Balance Budget."

"Former Premier Harriot's trip to Washington," Daladier declared, "already has permitted us to make useful contacts and has given the government the most valuable information. If on one precise point differences are raised, we will remove them."

Lamoureux, who spoke at Saint-Pourcain Sur Sioule, said the deadlock in the world economic conference makes a drastic effort to balance the budget imperative for defense of the stability of the franc.

For that reason, he continued, the government will introduce a special finance bill in October based partly on the effect of the dollar's fluctuations on French economy.

RUSSIANS SEIZE JAPANESE BOAT IN FISHING WAR

TOKIO, July 9.—(AP)—A Rengo (Japanese) news agency dispatch from Hakodate today reporting the seizure of the Japanese fishing boat Kotohira Maru, carrying a crew of 20, by a soviet trawler yesterday added a fresh incident to the Russo-Japanese fishing fleet quarrels in the northern seas. The craft was reported seized off Petropaviovsk, Kamchatka. A Japanese destroyer was said to be en route to the scene.

Another Rengo dispatch from Nemuro said the soviet vessels which the Japanese seized in the Kuriles July 4 were towed to Nemuro by a Japenese patrol boat. The captains and other officers were taken ashore, where they submitted to a judicial examination for alleged unauthorized presence in Japanese territorial waters. They probably will be tried shortly in the Kushiro District court.

The rest of the soviet crews, numbering 160, were detained aboard their ships.

nature as have a chance for quick adoption is being led by the American secretary of state, who has been conferring with the British and other delegations. He expressed the opinion that it is possible some partial and regional agreements may be reached. This was interpreted as meaning tariff agreements or possibly price raising measures similar to those in effect in the United States.

Favor Prolonging Tariff Truce.

It was pointed out at American headquarters that the tariff truce engineered by President Roosevelt and adopted by most nations of the world would expire with adjournment of the conference. It was indicated that the United States might favor continuance, say for a year, although with a reservation that would permit raising barriers as prices rise under the American industrial recovery bill. It was argued that this would not affect the competitive rights of foreigners in the United States market.

While Mr. Hull's expressions were still optimistic, some of his colleagues said privately they believed the conference is dead as far as real accomplishments are concerned.

Now that the danger of responsibility for a collapse being fixed on the United States is past, it appeared some delegations would agree to an orderly windup of the conclave before long with committees, perhaps, continuing.

It was learned the adjournment resolution whose adoption Mr. Hull narrowly averted by an inspiring speech last week definitely charged the American government with responsibility because of Mr. Roosevelt's sharp rejection of the currency stabilization appeal.

The Americans spent a quiet day today, most of them driving in the country. Senator Couzens had a slight cold and sore throat and called on a doctor.

Film Colony at Fair Gives Farewell Party for Ates

A farewell party was held in the Hollywood concession at the Fair last night for Roscoe Ates, motion picture actor who has been making films at the concession, and who leaves this morning for the west coast to appear in a show. His place at the Fair will be taken by Grant Withers, who will appear in a picture with Dorothy Ates, daughter of the character actor.

HOWE PREDICTS PARLEY PAUSE TO PLAN WORK

Washington, D. C., July 9.—(AP)—Prediction was made tonight by Louis M. Howe, secretary to President Roosevelt, in an authorized interview that the London economic conference would adjourn shortly to permit study of the many problems involved by special committees.

The declaration of Mr. Howe, in printed form, was taken to represent the attitude of Mr. Roosevelt.

"Of course," he said, "what will actually be done within the next few weeks at the conference cannot be forecast, but I think you will find in a general way that the sub-committee will be appointed to consider the topics already agreed upon, and that after a short time the meetings of the full commission will be adjourned for some weeks until these committees are ready to make preliminary reports."

This was taken in some quarters here tonight as meaning that President Roosevelt is willing to have postponed for a time the effort for fulfillment of the broad program for world economic recovery.

Standard of the World

Of few products can it be said with truth that they actually set the standard for others of their kind. And among these few, most surely, is a Cadillac automobile.

For almost twenty-five years, Cadillac cars have occupied this unusual position in the automotive industry — in fact, since 1908, when Cadillac was awarded the famous DeWar Trophy for perfect interchangeability of parts.

Year after year, the public has grown more aware of Cadillac's position, until today you hear it affirmed on every hand.

"She's a little Cadillac, isn't she?" boasts the owner who has just taken possession of one of the smaller motor cars.

"She has a little of the 'feel' of a Cadillac," says the new possessor of a medium-priced car.

"This performs more like a Cadillac than any other car I ever drove," explains another owner.

And, again, you hear the good-natured apology, "Of course, it's not a Cadillac!"

A moment's reflection will serve to recall that you have heard these very remarks, time and time again. Practically never is any other car used as the standard of comparison — almost always a Cadillac.

This, of course, did not "just happen." Reputations such as this do not "grow up," like Topsy. They have their basis, always, in an actual superiority of fact. And back of this superiority is usually found an ideal, religiously adhered to, year after year.

In the case of Cadillac, the will to leadership has become a greater spur to achievement than any creed or law could possibly be. It simply never occurs to anyone at Cadillac that Cadillac is privileged to do anything else than excel in all things.

It is out of this spirit that has come Cadillac's long list of basic contributions to the motor car industry. The self-starter, precision manufacture, the closed body, the Syncro-Mesh transmission, the 16-cylinder engine, the 90-degree V type engine — all of them came, and could have come only, from the Cadillac will to achievement.

We feel certain that most buyers in the fine-car field appreciate the position that Cadillac occupies. Cadillac sales, at least, certainly indicate as much. But for those who may not have had occasion to give the matter particular thought, we wish merely to suggest that the "Standard of the World" is always a safe measure to follow in choosing any commodity.

BOY HURT IN FALL, DIES IN CRASH ON WAY TO HOSPITAL

Father Also Injured When Auto Turns Over.

Leo Cassatto, 7 years old, 1355 West Ohio street, was critically injured yesterday when he fell from the fourth story of his home. A few minutes later the car in which he was being taken to the county hospital overturned in a collision with another automobile, and the boy was killed.

Falls from Attic Window.

Leo had been playing with other boys in the attic of his home. He stepped too close to a window and fell to the ground below. His father, Rosano Cassatto, 72 years old, picked him up and ran to the home of a neighbor, where Michael Favia, 4802 West Chicago avenue, who was visiting there, placed the boy in his automobile and started for the hospital.

At the three way intersection of Ogden avenue, Lake street and Sheldon street, Favia drove through a red traffic light, police said. His car collided with another driven by Carl Lowgren, 3536 North Central Park avenue and turned over.

Second Accident Fatal.

Leo was taken from the wreckage and hurried to the nearby office of Dr. M. S. Corbett, at 1380 West Lake street, but Dr. Corbett found that the second accident had been fatal to the boy. The elder Cassatto received two broken ribs and was taken to the county hospital.

The deaths of the Cassatto boy and two others raised the Cook county motor toll for 1933 to 514. The other victims:

George Firotino, 41 years old, 728 West Grand avenue. Fatally injured when his automobile overturned in Rand road five miles southeast of Lake Zurich, in Cook county. A woman was believed to have been with him, but she could not be found. Firotino, a barber, was taken to the Des Plaines Emergency hospital, where he died.

Unidentified woman, between 60 and 65 years old. Died last night in the Gerfield Park hospital of injuries received earlier in the day when she was run down at Cicero avenue near Lake street by a car driven by Harry Triggs, 24, of 5934 Thomas street.

An automobile driven by Jacob Dzorkia, 1235 South Avers avenue, last night struck and killed Albert Dudzik, 55, of 6042 Reading avenue, East Chicago, Ind. The accident occurred in Hammond. Dzorkia was ordered to appear at the inquest.

G. O. P. LEADERS TO MEET HERE TO PLAN FIGHT

Washington, D. C., July 9.—(AP)—Chieftains of the Republican party are preparing quietly for a major drive aimed at regaining in 1934 some of their lost power in congress, and leaders in the midwestern states today turned toward Chicago for another of a series of conferences over the approaching congressional campaign.

This gathering, to be held in Chicago Tuesday under the leadership of Everett Sanders, chairman of the Republican national committee, will find party spokesmen from Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Iowa reporting on the political situation in their states and the prospects for success a year hence.

Issues for the 1934 congressional campaign and the 1936 presidential election now are being drawn, based in large part upon the Roosevelt emergency legislation.

Woman Dies of Injuries Due to Fall from Window

Mrs. Anna Crowley, 29 years old, mother of two children, died this morning in the Roseland Community hospital of injuries suffered early yesterday in a fall from her second floor home at 352 West 116th place. It is not known whether she leaped or fell. She was found beneath the bathroom window.

TELLS OF QUEST TO LEARN WHAT'S BETWEEN STARS

Yerkes Observatory Chief Longs for Time to Study.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Listening to Bach or Mozart in the soft summer evening, climbing at midnight to a great telescope and spending the night in studying the cosmic cloud of matter in interstellar space or the stream motion of the stars, might appear an ideal life for any man. And so it is for Dr. Otto Struve, the young director of the University of Chicago's Yerkes observatory at Williams Bay, Wis.

The only drawback, he finds after a year as successor to Dr. Edwin B. Frost is that directing takes too much time from studying. And now he has in prospect the double duty of managing affairs at the McDonald observatory in the Davis mountains of southwestern Texas, which is to be built by the University of Texas and staffed by the University of Chicago.

Regents of the University of Texas, having in hand a $1,000,000 bequest of the late W. J. McDonald of Paris, Texas, are expected this week to order the building of an 80 inch reflector telescope, at a cost of about $400,000. Dr. Struve explained yesterday what lines of study will follow this and what has been accomplished at Yerkes.

Studies Interstellar Matter.

Strictly an observational astronomer, an astro-physicist, and not a theorist, Dr. Struve is able to present facts which bear upon such problems as the expanding universe, radiation and the possibility of atomic disintegration and rebuilding, in which physicists and philosophers of the world are deeply interested.

His own preoccupation has been with the physical properties of matter in interstellar space, a subject which his grandfather, a noted astronomer under the Russian imperial government, studied. He was later led to emphasize the subject through his work under Prof. Arthur S. Eddington of Cambridge, who now espouses the expanding universe theory. The basis for this is the red, or receding effect, found in the spectographs of the giant nebulae, the most stupendous spectacle upon which the human eye has ever gazed.

Dr. Struve offers another suggestion for this red effect.

"The red shift in the spectrum of the stars was discovered here by Frost and Adams [now director of Mount Wilson observatory] in 1904," he said. "It was shown that the stars have a general tendency to go away. Prof. Campbell of Lick found this value to be four kilometers per second in our galaxy. That is small compared with the spiral nebulae. The observational proof is complete, but I do not pass judgment on the theory. The interpretation is uncertain. Prof. McMillan thinks that if light travels a great distance energy is lost by friction and imitates the red shift.

"Our tests cannot differentiate between the two explanations. In the idea of friction another phenomenon comes in. Matter is distributed between the stars. There are atoms of all the elements there. In the spectrum of stars which have a certain velocity we get hydrogen, helium, and other elements. These agree with the Doppler effect [the reddening shift indicating a receding]. In some we find two calcium and two sodium atoms which do not show the Doppler shift. We find a very small velocity. The calcium-sodium vapor cloud is not moving with the star. We observe the star and find it moving away. This means that there is a stationary cloud around the star.

Cloud Between Star and Sun.

"While diffuse nebulae in our galaxy have been known for a long time, the existence of a widely spread tenuous cloud of gaseous matter enveloping all the stars of our Milky Way system has not been suspected until much more recently. This may form a local cloud around the star or a concentric layer around our solar system or it may form a cloud between the star and the sun, in interstellar space. This is nearest the truth.

"Careful measurements have been made at Yerkes observatory of the amount of gaseous matter between the stars. The result is startling. Imagine a cubic inch of ordinary air drawn out into a column long enough to reach one of the more distant stars of the universe. To be exact, imagine that the column is 15,000 light years long, retaining of course its cross section of one square inch. Let all the atoms which formerly occupied our cubic inch of air be spread uniformly throughout the column. The resulting density of matter will be that of interstellar space.

"It is difficult to comprehend a state of rarification in which there may be an atom or so per cubic inch of space. What is not occupied by the atom itself must be 'empty' and just what that means I will leave to the theoretical physicists to explain. I am not sure, however, that it is any easier to comprehend the empty spaces between nuclei and electrons in what we usually regard as dense matter.

"It is not probable that this small amount of gas would scatter enough star light to add appreciably to the illumination of the night sky. There remains the possibility that in addition to gaseous atoms interstellar space may contain particles of dust. The fact that distant stars are redder than nearby ones may simply mean that the light from the distant stars passes through more interstellar dust than does the light from the closer stars.

Color of Night Sky a Factor.

"If starlight is scattered and made red in its passage through interstellar dust the scattered light must reappear as a general illumination of the sky. If starlight passing through the dust is reddened the general illumination of the sky must appear as blue as—or even bluer—than the daylight sky. No measurements of the color of the night sky are now available. Observationally the problem is complicated by the atmospheric radiations discovered at Lowell observatory, but it seems probable that a method may be devised in the early future that will enable us to correct the measurements for the atmospheric radiations and to determine the color of the night sky as it would appear to an observer stationed at the outskirts of our atmosphere.

"There is almost complete proof that the calcium-sodium vapor is uniformly distributed. The composition of the universe outside the stars has worried astronomers for 200 years. My grandfather thought if there was no matter the sky would be uniformly brilliant. We now think we know definitely as an established fact that there are atoms floating about.

Production of Cosmic Rays.

"The temperature of interstellar gas is about 15,000 degrees centigrade. Collision with molecules of the air would possibly force the air to emit radiation and may account for the illumination of the night sky. The velocity of these calcium atoms, ten to fifteen kilometers per second, would not generate enough energy to produce the cosmic rays. The chances are that these are produced by something much more powerful. Dr. Robert A. Millikan thinks that some of these atoms can collide with each other and may happen to stay together and form a new element, releasing a beam of light which goes into cosmic radiation. Many different observatories are working on this.

"The McDonald observatory will be built near Fort Davis, on Flat Top mountain, at an altitude of 6,800 feet. The eighty inch reflector, which will take about two years to make, will be of pyrex glass, because that will not change its shape in the low temperatures of the night.

Reorganization at Yerkes.

"We will reorganize the work at Yerkes to conform with this. Investigations started here by Dr. Frost in astro-physics will be transferred to McDonald. The most important work here will be the determination of the accurate position of the stars, which leads by computation to the distances of the stars and their transverse motion in the sky. Prof. Ross discovered here a large number of stars, which, from 1899 to 1933 have moved a centimeter on the photographic plate.

"Samples of the sky in different regions show that this motion is not distributed at random. There is a tendency in each section to go in one general direction, indicating a stream motion of the stars. Plotting the motions on a map of the whole sky shows that they converge in one point. That can be interpreted in two ways. All the stars are moving roughly in a general direction or the sun is moving in an opposite direction, and we see the motion of the sun projected on the star.

Telescope of Great Power.

"We will stress this work particularly after the Texas telescope is in operation. This telescope will be much shorter than the Yerkes refractor, which is 62 feet long, but it will have twice the aperture, or about four times the light gathering power, and will, therefore, be much more efficient for the photographing of faint stars or of stellar spectra.

"Since an important phase of our research is the study of celestial spectra, we shall have a number of accessory instruments designed especially for this purpose. The mounting of the telescope is to be constructed in such a way that the light of any star may be concentrated in a room of constant temperature, where it may be analyzed with the aid of prisms, photo-electric photometers, or other analyzers.

HOLLAND ACTS TO BALK EAST INDIES GRAB BY JAPAN

Sees Position in Pacific Menaced by Tokio.

BY PIET VAN 'T VEER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, July 9.—It is not by chance that the new Dutch minister for foreign affairs is Jonkheer de Graff, who brings to his office experience gained as governor general of the Dutch East Indies and also as Dutch minister in Washington and Tokio.

For the new Dutch government sees its position in the Pacific developing as one of its most difficult problems, with Japan threatening increasingly to dominate its valuable East Indian colonies.

Borneo, the largest island of the Indian archipelago, possesses huge oil fields which supply nearly 80 per cent of the fuel needed for the Japanese fleet. It would be impossible for Japan to wage any war without access to these Dutch oil fields.

Alarmed at Jap Move.

The principal harbors from which oil is exported to Japan are Balik Papan and Tarakan, in East Borneo, both of which are under Dutch management. Dutch authorities have taken alarming notice that within the last few months Japan has shown great interest in territory near these ports. The Japanese pretend that the wooded regions are valuable as prospective Japanese plantations. They advance this reason for the repeated appearance of Japanese vessels in a region barred by the Dutch-Indian government to foreign fleets because of the strategic fortifications.

Appearance of these ships is highly disturbing to the Dutch, for it is realized that the fleet based there, comprising chiefly hydroplanes and submarines reinforced by a few culsers, would be helpless in any naval encounter with the Japanese.

Follow Peace Course.

The Dutch realize no war in the Pacific could bring them success without the support of the United States and Great Britain. The question of conflict with either of these two countries never enters the Dutch mind. The concern is whether either could be relied upon as an ally in the event Japan decided to wrest from The Netherlands her oil fields in Borneo.

The Dutch meanwhile are pursuing a studied course of peace. A treaty was signed recently at The Hague between Holland and Japan providing for the settlement of disputes by conciliation and arbitration. This treaty, the only one of such general scope so far concluded by Japan, is meant as confirmation of the traditionally friendly relationship which has existed between the two countries for centuries.

It provides for a permanent commission of conciliation. For all judicial disputes, moreover, authority is extended to the Permanent Court of Justice at The Hague or to some court of arbitration.

Japs in New Guinea.

It is not only in Borneo that the Dutch are anxious about the activities of the Japanese, for Tokio's interest in the north coast of the second largest island of the world, New Guinea, is looked upon here with disfavor.

The number of Japanese on the north coast has recently increased, although the climate is not suitable to them. Their presence is especially marked at the harbor of Manokwari. Here the Japanese have repeatedly made their appearance and stayed for a few months. A few, who called themselves journalists, spent their time surveying and making maps.

A Japanese steamer also took a body of scientists to New Guinea to "study." Although there is no great Japanese colony at Manokwari, a cruiser recently appeared there. These activities force the Dutch to the conclusion that the objective is more than trade.

Try to Colonize.

Recently a Japanese steamer stopped at Manokwari from which stepped one Mr. Matsuki with a complete Japanese staff. Although he returned to Japan a short time afterward, the other Japanese remained. In a short time they were reinforced by a large party of workmen, including iron workers and stone cutters. Plans were announced for a trolley line from the coast to a concession in the inland.

This rail line was later abandoned, but a hard road 30 miles long was constructed. Hundreds of coolies were employed in the work. A Japanese freighter landed herds of horses and cows, but these died off due to the climate.

Dutch Firms Periled.

Another cause of controversy between the Dutch and the Japanese in the Pacific is that Japan is flooding Dutch Indian markets with cotton goods at dumping prices. Numerous textile factories in Holland are closed because the Dutch Indian government lacks courage to shut the Japanese out of the market, fearing controversy with its powerful neighbor.

Many Dutch concerns whose continuation is regarded as of vital interest to the Dutch East Indies will sooner or later collapse unless Japanese dumping is stopped.

The Dutch regard the "yellow peril" in the Indies as a standing menace, and they fear the influence of the Japanese on the natives. Recently one of the leaders of the Javanese national movement, Mohammed Hatta, returned from Japan. This agitator is watched constantly by the police of Java. The incident led to rumors that the nationalist movement in Java is supported secretly by Japan, where Hatta was well received.

LEG AMPUTATED

SHANGHAI, July 9.—(AP)—Lieut. Christy Mathewson Jr., son of the famous baseball pitcher, who was gravely injured last Jan. 8 in an airplane crash in which his bride was killed, has had his left leg amputated above the knee, it was learned today.

The amputation was made necessary by the failure of an infection and compound fracture to heal. For the last six months Lieut. Mathewson has waged a courageous battle to survive his serious injury, undergoing several major operations. Following the amputation of his leg, however, his progress has been marked.

The flyer's mother, who was in Shanghai at the time of the accident, is planning to take her son to the United States July 22 aboard the steamer President Hoover, arriving in San Francisco Aug. 7. From there they will go to Washington, where the flyer will enter Walter Reed hospital for further treatment. Mathewson hopes to return to China and resume his position in the government flying school as a ground instructor.

ROCKEFELLER SR. JOKES, POSES; 'GOLF IS GOOD'

Sends Guards Away as He Leaves Church.

Tarrytown, N. Y., July 9.—[Special.]—John D. Rockefeller, as neighbor John, attended services today at the Pocantico Hills Union chapel. Following the services he dismissed guards, who had assembled there to protect him from interviewers, and shook hands and "God blessed" every one who wished him happy birthday and long years of happiness.

Previously it had been announced that Mr. Rockefeller would remain in the estate, but by the grapevine method the fact that Mr. Rockefeller would put in an appearance soon spread and as a result the Rev. Lesier Brent spoke to the largest congregation in the history of his pastorage.

Jokes with Photogs.

Numerous cameramen were present. Mr. Rockefeller posed, talked to the newspapermen and interested them with his numerous quips.

"Please, Mr. Rockefeller——" said one.

"O, I've heard that before—go ahead and take as many as you like," replied Mr. Rockefeller.

"Now, Mr. Rockefeller, will you smile for the next snap?" another asked.

"Smile—don't say that—just snap your picture. Remember I'm an old man and if I smiled people would think I were pretending. I can't smile," replied Mr. Rockefeller.

Congregation Enjoys Jokes.

As the cameramen focused to get the next snap the congregation on the side line laughed at Mr. Rockefeller's remarks, and he smiled:

"I hope they got it," said Mr. Rockefeller. Up to this point, John D. Rockefeller Jr. was with his father. Then he left him to attend a meeting of the vestry. Mr. Rockefeller was assisted down the steps by a newspaperman.

"How do you feel, Mr. Rockefeller?" he asked.

"Never better," he replied. "I lead a simple life and none simpler than yesterday. I did not play golf. I did not go outside of the estate. We had a quiet family party and that was all."

His Golf Still Good.

"How's your golf?"

"It's good, but not as good as it used to be. I can still hit a straight ball, but as for distance, I can't make it."

Asked about the London conference, Mr. Rockefeller said "They'll arrive at some decision," but he was frank in admitting that he was not interested, except to see America get the better deal.

"You know, I don't read as much as I used to," he replied. "You know, my pleasure is riding and golfing. I've traveled many miles in my automobile in a year." Then calling to Vincent Frasca, he asked, "How many?" Mr. Frasca replied, "More than 20,000."

Champion Auto Rider.

"That makes me one of America's champion automobile riders," said Mr. Rockefeller to the laughter of the congregation.

"Just another picture?" asked the cameramen.

"All right," replied Mr. Rockefeller, "but you must listen to this story.

"Once upon a time there was a community that received unusual good fortune. So the people of the community met and passed a resolution to take up a collection. The next day they met again and decided that the collection should be for the poor and, meeting the third day, they decided they were the poor."

Although Mr. Rockefeller shook hands with numerous children, he did not pass out any dimes or nickels, but he congratulated the Rev. Mr. Brent on his sermon.

Bandits Hold Up Home Seeking "Hidden Money"

Three bandits, seeking "hidden money," invaded the home of Mrs. Anna Houseknecht at 2611 West 23d street last night, surprising her and three house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Linchester and the Linchesters' son, George, 15. "Where is the hidden money?" demanded the bandit leader. He was told there was none. The robbers then took $80 in jewelry from Mrs. Houseknecht.

HOOT GIBSON AND SALLY EILERS TO SEEK A DIVORCE

Actor Makes Statement from Hospital Bed.

His statement was made in the presence of June Gale, 21 year old San Francisco actress, who agreed with Gibson that they were "madly in love." Miss Gale has been a daily visitor at Gibson's hospital room since July 3 when his plane cracked up during a race with Ken Maynard, another film cowboy.

Asked if they were going to marry, Gibson said:

"I don't think this is the time to talk about engagements or marriage. I still am married and it wouldn't be fair to any one concerned to make any statement now."

Miss Eilers, second wife of the actor, left for Europe several months ago. It was rumored then they were estranged. Gibson said there was an agreement that her trip would be sort of a "trial separation." He said Miss Eilers wrote him from Europe that she felt they would be happier apart.

Miss Gale has appeared in New York musical comedies and revues.

Does Robbery Scene in Films, Then Is Held Up

Los Angeles, Cal., July 9.—(AP)—An hour after she had completed a robbery scene in a motion picture, Miss Roberta Gale, film actress, was held up and robbed of a $2,000 diamond ring last night.

ESCAPE OF REBEL LEADERS LEADS TO UNREST IN LISBON

LONDON, July 9.—(AP)—A Reuters [British] agency dispatch from Lisbon attributes the disquieting feeling in Portuguese government circles to the escape from prison of two officers described as the leaders of a dangerous conspiracy against the administration.

[A communique Saturday referred to anti-government activities and said that "measures are being taken to dissipate the revolutionary atmosphere which enemies of the government have been displaying lately."]

The officers, Capt. Cruz and Lieut. Pio, escaped by a ruse Friday from Oporto prison, where they were sent a fortnight ago to serve sentences of four years. A man dressed as an officer called at the prison and presented a document ordering the appearance of the two prisoners at Lisbon. The authenticity of the document appears not to have been questioned. The two prisoners were placed in charge of the visiting officer and left the prison. The trio has not been seen since.

Dissatisfaction with the government is said to have been caused by dictatorial actions of Premier Salazar and there are indications that the government fears a revolutionary movement. A strict censorship was imposed on all telegrams abroad.

BOY FALLS IN RIVER; DROWNED.

Wilmington, Del., July 9.—(AP)—Benjamin Gatharis Jr., 7, drowned at Bowers beach late today after falling into the water as he attempted to board a rowboat in which he and his chum, Billy Jackson, 8, intended to cross the Murderkill river.

ALDERMEN SEEK PUBLIC'S O. K. ON FOUR YEAR TERM

After many years of endeavor, the Chicago city council has succeeded in having the state legislature adopt a bill lengthening the terms of aldermen from two years to four years. Credit for the passage of the bill is given by the councilmen to Ald. Frank J. Corr [17th], chairman of the council judiciary committee, who worked actively in Springfield for the measure.

The bill has been signed by Gov. Horner, but must be approved at a referendum before becoming effective. The aldermen are planning to have the bill put to a referendum at the earliest possible election. They are working also to create public sentiment in its favor.

"I believe the bill can be put to a referendum next April," said Ald. Corr. "If it is then approved, the first four year term will begin in April, 1935. The longer terms will result in a saving to Chicago taxpayers of approximately $750,000 every four years through the elimination of the aldermanic elections that have come halfway between mayoralty elections."

SEES BOLIVIAN TRENCH MORTARS REEL FOES BACK

Tribune Writer Visits War in Chaco Again.

Here is another dispatch from Anthony Patric, the first American correspondent to reach the jungleland battlefields of the Gran Chaco.

BY ANTHONY PATRIC.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

FORT MUNOZ, Gran Chaco, May 31.—[By courier to Villa Montes, mail to La Paz, Bolivia, and air mail from La Paz.]—The year old war between Bolivia and Paraguay for possession of the Gran Chaco—legalized war since Paraguay's official declaration on May 10—appears to have entered another critical stage.

A second visit by this correspondent to the key points of the front line trenches, where the two armies have been backing and filling for more than four months, disclosed two significant developments:

Two Developments.

FIRST—The Paraguayan army, led by the French trained Col. Jose Estibarribia, realizes that defeat on the present horseshoe shaped battleground around Forts Gondra, Nanawa, and Ayala would be disastrous. It has therefore been engaged in "feeling out," maneuvers which will likely be followed by a major offensive to dislodge the Bolivians from their advanced position.

SECOND—The Bolivians, led by the iron crossed Gen. Hans Kundt of the old Prusian military school, are chafing at four months of getti.. nowhere. Consequently indications are that Gen. Kundt's troops will make a supreme effort to break through the enemy's lines within a month.

The Paraguayans have been testing every possible section of the Bolivian lines in their struggle to penetrate into the territory they lost in the Bolivian drive directed by Gen. Kundt last winter.

(Cabled dispatches from Asuncion and La Paz state that a battle of large proportions is now raging in the Gran Chaco. Both Paraguay and Bolivia claim to have inflicted heavy losses on the enemy. Meanwhile the league of nations has ordered a commission to go to South America to attempt to end the war.)

From a lookout installed in the top of the tallest tree behind the Bolivian front I could see movements of troops, trucks, and horses back of the Paraguayan lines which presaged another "big push." One Paraguayan airplane, evidently carrying ammunition, landed just back of Fort Ayala, which is now reduced to ruins.

Trench Mortar Battle.

From the lookout I witnessed the first battle in which the Bolivian troops used their newly acquired trench mortars. The government, it was stated, was enabled recently to obtain a large number of these mortars as a result of the recent rise in the price of tin.

A platoon of Paraguayan infantry had almost surrounded the trench mortar section when the Bolivian officer ordered his battery to fire at a range of about 130 feet. The effect of the fire was terrific. The Paraguayans, not knowing that Bolivia had acquired the mortars, thought for a moment they were falling under the fire of their own trench guns and shouts of "Don't fire so close!" were heard.

Only after losing nearly fifty men did they realize that the projectiles were coming from the Bolivian trenches and then they fell back.

The trenches of the Bolivians, which incidentally are the first ever to be used in South American warfare, have been improved, although they are still far from homelike. The worst foe of both the Paraguayan and Bolivian soldier is not the regiments of the enemy but those of the Chaco mosquitoes. Even mosquito nets fail to offer protection.

Smart soldiers dig their sleeping holes on the edge of a salt water stream and so partly escape the insects, although in so doing they must take a chance on having a snake or two for bedfellows.

STREET CAR ROBBER SHOT.

Robert E. Tucker, 23 years old, 5028 Calumet avenue, a Negro, was shot in the left leg early yesterday by detectives who arrested him and a companion shortly after they had robbed a street car conductor of $20.

BALBO AID HERE

Awaken Sleeping Woman and Steal Her Earrings

Mrs. Ante Ritholz, 635 Sheridan road, awakened early yesterday to find two robbers in her room. One of them struck her over the head before she could summon her sons, sleeping in an adjoining room, and took from her ears a pair of diamond earrings valued at $1,500.

BALBO ARMADA AGAIN DELAYED BY BAD WEATHER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, July 9.—Weather reports late tonight again indicated unfavorable conditions on the route of Gen. Italo Balbo's Italian mass flight of 1,500 miles from Iceland to Labrador. Though everything is in readiness to take advantage of any sudden change in conditions, it is considered unlikely that the Italian minister of aviation will lead his 24 seaplanes off tomorrow on the next lap of the cruise to Chicago.

A heavy gale on the west Atlantic in the vicinity of Cartwright, Labrador, was reported and Gen. Balbo was advised that unfavorable conditions would continue. An unconfirmed report said he received an emphatic order from Rome not to start while this outlook continued.

Gen. Balbo and his fellow officers attended mass this morning in the Reykjavik Catholic church. Bishop Meulenberg blessed the flyers. This afternoon 400 American tourists from the liner Carinthia came ashore and greeted the aviators. The Italians spent the rest of the day in sightseeing.

DECORATE LAKE FRONT.

Members of twelve Italian societies started decorating the lake front in Grant park with Italian flags yesterday, preparatory to their welcome of Gen. Italo Balbo and his armada of seaplanes, which are flying to Chicago. Operators of the miniature railroad along the lake front announced that one of their locomotives is to be renamed the Italo Balbo.

Building Owner Is Shot by Two Young Robbers

Frank Reinhart, 52 years old, 7053 Eggleston avenue, was shot in the throat and critically wounded yesterday by one of a pair of young Negro bandits. The shooting took place during an attempted robbery of Reinhart in a building which he owns at 1420 Hastings street. He had gone there to collect rents.

Flying Forecast

Special flying route forecasts for the period from 11 a. m. yesterday to noon today [central standard time]:

Cleveland-New York—Scattered clouds.

BOYS AT PLAY FIND 2D BODY IN STORE RUINS

Williamsburg, Ky., July 9.—(AP)—The body of Siler Perkins, 30, was found today at the back end of the Wender department store, scene of an explosion and fire yesterday which caused $100,000 damage to that and other buildings before being brought under control.

Boys playing in the ruins saw some clothing under a pile of brick, summoned officers, and the body was removed. The death toll was increased to two, as Leon Humpfleet, 20, was killed by falling bricks yesterday while aiding in removing goods from the building.

Perkins was a brother-in-law of John Wender, general manager of the store, which occupied the lower floor of the building in which the explosion occurred. The second floor served as the National Guard armory.

County Judge H. H. Criscillis, said clothing and a bottle stopper would be analyzed in an attempt to discover the cause of the explosion.

Officials of the state department of fire prevention probably will investigate, as the fire destroyed five store buildings.

WOMAN, 83, DIES SUDDENLY.

● ABOVE—THERE IS NOTHING LIKE FENCING for bringing out the condition of a man's nerves. The quick reflexes and perfect coördination of healthy nerves helped George Santelli, former Olympic fencer, win the Open Saber Championship of the United States.

● LEFT—GEORGE SANTELLI, who says: "I can enjoy as many Camels as I want and still know that my nerves are fit."

STEADY SMOKERS TURN TO CAMELS

"A man can't fence his best unless his nerves are healthy," says George Santelli. "Fencing is one of the fastest sports there is—you've got to keep your reflexes and nerves in perfect condition. As a coach, I have fencing appointments from seven-thirty in the morning until ten or eleven at night. I can enjoy as many Camels as I want and still know that my nerves are ready and fit when fast action is needed."

READER GIVES CAMP FUND FOR 'UNKNOWN CHILD'

$8.40 Contribution Exactly Pays for Two Weeks.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

A little tow head, name unknown, has two gay weeks at Camp Algonquin in store for him [or her].

A letter reached THE TRIBUNE vacation fund yesterday which we want to pass on to readers. A check for $8.40, exactly the amount necessary to pay for a two weeks' vacation, tumbled out of the two closely written pages, bearing the signature of a woman who for years has eased the suffering of the sick in homes of poverty.

Memory of Camp Lives.

"I would like to multiply this check by 40," she wrote, "but if I wait to do that you may never get it. I hope that the small tow head who gets the two weeks' vacation will have the thrill of a train ride, the fun of learning how to eat food 'different from my mother's,' and a few dozen other joys that come with camp. He or she is bound to return with better muscle tone and an extra pound or two under the tan. And not even a torrid August will wipe out the memory of 'when I was at camp.'

"When I was 7 or 8 the vernacular used to be 'the cottage on the island.' If I live to be 90 there will never be an island comparable to it."

Fund Gifts Total $1,169.

Among other contributors to the camp fund was the Cui Bona club. The money, $6, was raised through a benefit card party. The club members are Jane Stevens, Betty Peters, Ellen Smith, Joan Walmsley, Genevieve Foote, and Jean Phillips. W. C. Mead sent $2, and H. Jr., $1. This gives the fund a grand total of $1,169.49.

Contributors may send their gifts to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower, keeping in mind that $8.40 will purchase a two weeks' vacation for some mother or child who longs for an outing away from the crowded city, where troubles are forgotten in the joys of vacationland.

TREATIES BALK DANUBE REVIVAL, SAYS GOEMBOES

VIENNA, July 9.—(AP) — Premier Julius Goemboes of Hungary, after a conference today with Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss of Austria, said economic restoration of the Danubian countries can be had at the price of revision of the post war treaties.

Without revision, he said, there can be no real solution to the economic problems arising out of the world war. He said he came to Vienna to discuss economic coöperation with Austria and "also other questions."

"Austria and Hungary are the keys to the Danube problem," he said. "Without us there can be no solution."

Seventeen Sea Scouts left on the yacht Blow Me Down yesterday for a 3,000 mile cruise through the Illinois waterway and down the Mississippi river to the Gulf of Mexico and return. The Scouts, most of them from Aurora, are led by W. G. Groom of that city.

Hunt Still in Ruins of Burned House; Tenant Dies

Police were searching yesterday for remains of a still in the basement of the house at 6713 Rhodes avenue, where an explosion early in the day caused the death of James Crawford, 47 years old, a Negro. His daughter, Geraldine, 5 years old, was cut by flying glass. Fire destroyed the house.

OFFERS TO PAY LEGION DUES FOR MUSSOLINI, KING

ROME, July 9.—(AP)—Col. W. E. Easterwood Jr. said today he would pay the dues of King Victor Emmanuel and Premier Mussolini for the life memberships in the John W. Lowe post of the American Legion at Dallas, Tex., which he said he conferred upon them last week.

He made the statement after reading cables from Legion authorities in Indianapolis that Mussolini and the king could not be honorary members.

Col. Easterwood left tonight for Athens to inspect the Legionnaires there, and said he still is determined to bring the matter befor the Legion's national convention in Chicago next October.

HITLER PLANS TO TRAIN CITIZENS TO SERVE STATE

DORTMUND, Germany, July 9.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler, reviewing the last five months' achievements since his elevation to the chancellorship, said today he had not believed it possible such tremendous changes could be wrought in such a short time. The next task, he announced in a speech in this west German city, is the training of citizens for the state. Hitler said his whole endeavor would be to fight unemployment which, since his advent to power, already has been reduced by two million persons.

"If we make a false step, we will start over again the next day," he said. "We will restore the people's consumption capacity, thereby imbuing them with fresh courage to face life."

Referring to the new concordat between the reich and the holy see, signed yesterday in Rome, the chancellor said: "We are happy that the new concordat bars priests forever from interfering with politics." Hitler said the political party system in Germany never would be resurrected and that the Nazi régime would endure forever.

RISE IN JAPANESE IMPORTS PROBED BY AUSTRALIA

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

CANBERRA, Australia, July 9.—Following complaints by business men, including the Australian Association of British Manufacturers, of an increase in Japanese imports, Col. T. W. White, federal minister of trade, announced that Stanley M. Bruce, resident minister in London, had been requested to confer with the British cabinet.

Meanwhile the position is being examined by Australia to ascertain the effect on Australian and British industries. Col. White said that heretofore Japan had bought three times as much from Australia as she had exported and that Japan was the second greatest buyer of Australian wool.

Therefore the government wishes to maintain the existing cordial relations with Japan and will take action only where unfair competition exists.

FREED AFTER KILLING MAN.

Duquoin, Ill., July 9.—[Special.]—A coroner's jury last night exonerated Noah Longshore of the death of Andrew Clark, 62, coal miner, who died in a local hospital a few hours before. Longshore mistook Clark for a squirrel while hunting and fired at him.

Aged since April!

the first bottle of

Saturday, July 8

That is OUR idea of aged beer . . . mellow beer . . . the beer you expected but haven't found until now

SINCE beer came back, the demand has exceeded the supply. Beer has been sold as fast as it could be made and delivered. Every one who owned a brewery had a chance to make a lot of money—quick!

But this brewery, one of the oldest in Chicago, is still the property of the family who founded it. New generations of that family are coming along, to inherit, not only a fine brewery, but a fine old business reputation as well.

So we refused to rush our beer on to the market before it was properly aged. We had waited 13 long years for beer to come back. We could afford to wait a few months more—until the day our Meister Brau should have a smoothness, a mellowness, that only time could give it.

That day is here. With your first taste of Peter Hand's celebrated Meister Brau you will have the proof—probably for the first time since beer came back—that age is essential in producing the body, smoothness, the flavor of beer you expected but haven't found until now.

We expect many orders for aged Meister Brau at once. But—we shall never release a single barrel or bottle of Meister Brau until it has been aged long enough to be worthy of its name, a true master brew.

To be sure of getting your supply of this aged, well mellowed beer, it is necessary for you to make arrangements at once. All orders should be placed through your regular retailer now.

If he has no Meister Brau, ask him to telephone Lincoln 4906—or you may call us direct.

GOOD CHEER.

The Chicago Fair has observably made this a holiday city. The streets are noticeably festive in appearance, animated and cheerful. The prevailing summer apparel is bright and colorful. Even the men have ceased to be quite as drab as has been their doleful habit. The crowds on the sidewalks and in the traffic lanes are in apparent good humor, expectant of having a good time and are merrymaking. Result: A city of good cheer.

The whole spectacle is one of inspiring optimism and confidence. The world has seemed a vale of tears these last few years, and long faces have filled the scene. Now there is a change. There's an expectancy of brighter days and the good times which Americans once thought were normal to them. An additional reason, if one is needed, for coming to Chicago. A visit exposes the guest to the contagion of good cheer. The visitor will find a tonic in his first sight of a gay scene. We have said that Chicago would lead the way back. It is doing so.

Humanity here is in its best clothes and in its best humor. It has come for a holiday, and coming, it changes the outward aspect of the world. From the outward change the confidence will penetrate into the inward. If this be of Dr. Pangloss, make the most of it. Gloom is a state of mind from which the human being seeks release. On the hundredth anniversary of the birth of the Chicago village the Chicago metropolis tells the world that the first hundred years are the hardest.

MARCH OF THE JAPANESE.

The bargain price obtained by the Japanese government for the Russian rights in the Chinese Eastern railway is significant of the situation in the far east at this time. The first offer by Moscow was to sell for a hundred million dollars; the final figure was ten. Whatever other conditions entered into the bargain, if any, the transfer represents the present removal of the Russian foot from the territory of Manchuria.

It is an important advance of the Japanese imperial power, the latest victory in the long march from the Chinese battlefields of 1894, interrupted and disappointed often, but stubbornly resumed after each rebuff. Protesting idealogues call it the march of ruthless militarism, but it is the march of an expanding people. What the end is to be no one can foretell. Dangers within and without lie thick in their path. They have lain in the path of every aspiring nation and they may engulf the hopes of Japan. But meanwhile the Japanese are on the march and the proud imperial dream which has visited so many great peoples down the long vista of human history shines in the skies of Japan.

THE INFLUENCE OF HOT DRINKS ON SOCIETY.

Coffee dealers say that the return of beer has not affected the coffee sales. The coming back of one beverage has not diminished the use of the other. The balance between hot drinks and cold alcoholic beverages was struck a long time ago and is unlikely to be much changed. The advent of the hot drinks in Europe made a profound change in the social order and to some extent in the political. Many large consequences flowed from dietary additions. The hot drinks gave Europe a stimulating but nonintoxicating substitute for ale, wine and small beer, or rum, gin and brandy, with which the citizen had been accustomed to start the day and frequently maintain it.

There is an easily imagined difference between the person who breaks his fast with a meal washed down with tankards of ale, glasses of wine, or shots of spirits and one who uses coffee, tea or cocoa. But until these three nonintoxicating hot drinks reached the European diet the only alternative for water or milk was an alcoholic beverage.

When Spain discovered and explored Central and South America cocoa was found, and the use of this new beverage began the makeover of European habits. The introduction of tea and cocoa in France was followed by a marked decrease in drunkenness and the benefits of a general increase in sobriety. Tea and coffee reached London almost simultaneously. Coffee came by way of Constantinople to Venice and there was a coffee shop in St. Michael's alley, Cornhill, London, in 1652.

An advertisement marks the advent of tea in London in 1658. It advises the use of "that excellent and by all Physitians approved China Drink called by the Chineans Tcha, by other nations Tay, alias Tee," sold at the Sultaness Head in Sweetings Rents. Coffee was the beverage which got most into public life and it may be said that a good deal of the British and American party political system found its origin in the popular coffee shops of London, where the beverage stimulated talk and talk worked itself out in political action. Charles II. liked all this so little that he tried to close down the coffee shops as centers of trouble and sedition.

The change the hot drinks made, however, was more of a general social nature than of a specific political character. The hot beverages were of the minor discoveries which greatly modified human conditions and conduct. Later people wondered how any one got along without them at any time, without such articles as soap, tobacco, potatoes and hot beverages. It can be allowed that the breed could wait for the development of modern utilities, but how did it possibly stagger along without these simple commodities of everyday domestic economy?

SEX IN COURT.

The refusal of a jury last week to award damages to a woman plaintiff alleging assault should be beneficial in discouraging the idea that any personable female can rely upon any twelve males to present her with a profitable judgment regardless of the weight of the evidence. Sentimental or sex-susceptible juries and judges have put a premium upon blackmail and even murder. A pretty figure or face has in many flagrant instances proved that justice is not as blind as it is reported to be, and extortion and even violence have thrived upon that assumption. Recently there has occurred a change in this situation which is certainly to be welcomed. The maudlin sentiment which has protected designing or criminal minded women is no protection of or tribute to decent womanhood and it puts men in anything but a favorable light.

LOCATE THE CAPITAL AT BENTON HARBOR OR NEW BUFFALO.

News that an air conditioning system has been placed in the White House to enable President Roosevelt to endure the ferocious summer weather reminds us that Washington is climatically and geographically unsuited to be the capital of the nation. The country will suffer from the incapacity of its public servants to do work for nearly half the year and from the remoteness of the officials from the country they serve as long as the capital is kept in its present location.

We repeat that the proper location for the capital is on the east shore of Lake Michigan, where it would be centrally located in the best climate on this continent and stimulated to energetic work by its proximity to this great metropolis.

BRITONS FREED.

The last of the five British subjects lately treated to the peculiar processes of bolshevik law have now been released and returned to the bosom of their families and countrymen. Their appearance on landing in England was eloquent of their condition and experience: Thornton, "drawn and haggard"; MacDonald, "very pale and nervous, with his hands never still." What they have endured, if ever told, and indeed what has already transpired, might be expected to chill any enthusiasm foreign engineers and technicians may have had for assisting the great experiment of communism to hasten the arrival of the proletarian Utopia. Certainly the sight of these cowed victims of the communist despotism, rescued only by the most extreme measures short of war, is a striking reminder of the fact that the Englishman is not what he was in the days when civis Britannicus was as proud a boast in the uttermost parts of the earth as was civis Romanus under the wide shadow of the eagle's wings.

Not what it was, but still something, and something better, it would seem, than the state of the American citizen, affronted and manhandled not seldom in recent years in many lands; better than the state of the unlucky Americans now in a Spanish prison and apparently forgot by their government and their countrymen. The five Britons are home again, haggard and broken of spirit, but alive at least, and free. It has cost the British government rather humiliating resorts, even to a trade embargo, but the government was not slow to act, and the British people rose en masse to the succor of their fellow Britons. Once the American government and people were like that.

Editorial of the Day

[Baltimore Sun.]

It would be easier to have faith in the new deal if those who are engineering it did not so often appear surprised at the results of their own actions. It is only a few days since Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, one of the architects of a higher price level for wheat, let out a telegraphic cry of pained astonishment over the fact that the Iowa farm belt had reacted to his wheat program by raising the price of bread. And now here is Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, the author of industrial recovery, indicating that despite all the hullabaloo about raising prices for industrial products he is taken completely unawares by the suggestion that prices of industrial products may rise.

Gen. Johnson's desire to oppose what he is pleased to call "extortionate prices" is pleasant to contemplate. But what does he think he is doing? Doesn't he know that the whole enterprise upon which he is engaged is designed to promote price rises, and that when the snowball of inflation gets going it rolls very, very fast? Take the textile code, on which he is presently engaged. That code by his own calculation contemplates an advance of some 50 per cent or more in labor costs. What is the manufacturer to do with this additional burden? The textile mills have not been making a lot of money under the old régime. Is it to be expected that they will absorb a 50 per cent wage increase and charge the whole thing up to profit and loss?

Again, the agricultural recovery people are about to slap a processing tax on cotton amounting to 3 cents a pound or $15 a bale. In anticipation, cotton quotations have already started a precipitous rise. This will still further increase the cost of textile operations. It would require a great deal more naïveté than we think Gen. Johnson possesses to believe that the operators will not undertake to pass this additional load on to consumers. The recovery administrator may howl about "extortion" until he is hoarse, but so long as he and his collaborators at Washington work in such a way as to make "extortion" inevitable the howling will be about as effective as such gestures usually are.

Much more than mere inconsistency is involved in this matter. There is a great danger that the price rise which is being engineered through the recovery administration, through the agricultural administration, and through the President's talk about inflation may defeat itself. It is one thing to have prices rise by inevitable operation of the law of supply and demand, and it is quite another thing to have them boosted suddenly and artificially. In the latter case there is not a little danger that consumer demand may be checked and that the price rise may operate as a brake on business instead of as a spur.

Gen. Johnson does not seem to have considered this possibility. He just talks about the objections to "extortionate prices." Does he think there can be a cause without an effect?

BETTER LUCK NEXT TIME.

THE SUGGESTION to run John D. Rockefeller Jr. for mayor of New York will be hard to put over, because the idea will be at once spread about by the rival candidates that John D. Sr. will give everybody who votes for Junior a bright new dime. And the regular market price for a vote in New York is two dollars, and they won't stand for John D. Sr. upsetting the regular scale.

And now that that's off our chest we would like to know a vacation place in Canada where there is no golf, bridge, tea on the veranda, dancing in the dining room, and where no effort is made to make the guests "just like one big happy family." We've got more troubles than those two, of course, but they can be taken up later.

But who will see, or seeing, hoard such charms
Who has known ecstasy within your arms?

THE GIRLS have taken up a fad of having some sort of glazing put on their legs which gives the appearance of stockings but won't rip, ravel, or run. All very good, but Gen. Johnson down in Washington is liable to step right in and tell how many silk stocking makers will be thrown out of employment. And think of the silkworms that will lose their jobs! How are we going to get stocking factories and stocking workers and silkworms busy again if the girls glaze their legs? But girls never think of those things.

PARIS, ILL., VS. PARIS (STREETS OF).

Sir: "Yeah," said the Keeper of the Three and Two-tenths Gas Station, "I attended the Streets of Cairo in '93, and I reckon I'll run up and take in the Streets of Paris some time this summer. Of course, living down here on Route One, north of Cairo, Ill., and just south of Paris, Ill., I know something about the streets of both towns in a general way; but the Cairo streets exhibited in Chicago forty years ago were quite different from those of the old town that dozes where the Ohio and Mississippi meet. And, from what I read and hear, I expect these Streets of Paris up on the lake front are considerable livelier and more lit up than our Paris streets are, even of Saturday nights.

"The Streets of Cairo, as I recollect them, were mostly a vision of what might have been and what might be done, while I understand the Streets of Paris show things being done right now. The old Streets presented beauty of form and color and the beginnings of ballyhoo and esthetic dancing, to the tinkle of oriental tomtoms. There was one dance in particular, called the dans du venture, or something like that, I think. Ballyhoo has made some long strides and dancing many short ones since then, and I have no doubt I'll see things on the Streets of Paris that nobody dreamed of in '93. (Or, if they did, they never mentioned it.)

"But I hope our town of Paris won't be misrepresented or misunderstood. We've had several street fairs with real lions, live snakes, and chorus girls; but, as a rule, our streets are like other streets; and tourists who have visited the Century of Progress will be doomed to disappointment (or relief) if they come here looking for outdoor cafés and things, red-capped gendarmes, the gold standard, or frogs' legs.

"Anyhow, the people I have talked with who have attended the Streets of Paris are mostly well pleased. My neighbor, Mrs. Scroggins, says she enjoyed it greatly—for Art's sake. But her man's name isn't Art—it's Andy. And Andy says it's O. K., but be sure to wear smoked glasses. Yes, I think I'll run up some of these days." EOLUS.

CARBON MONOXIDE IN AIR.

HOW much is the street air polluted by carbon monoxide, and how much harm is done to people who breathe this air as they pursue their ordinary vocations? This is a question that is often asked. The answers given are varied and sometimes contradictory.

One method of answering it scientifically has been to collect air and analyze it. Preliminary to the building of a vehicular tunnel in New York City those in charge employed a skilled physiological chemist to collect information on the subject. He fashioned a funnel in the windshield of his automobile, and this led into gas bags. As he drove along the street he gathered air under different conditions of traffic and examined it for carbon monoxide. Another line of approach is by examining the blood of people for this gas. Carbon monoxide is harmful because it makes a close combination with the hemoglobin of the blood. There is some disagreement between those who say that the sum total of the harm it does is in interfering with the capacity of the blood to carry oxygen and those who claim that, in addition, it is a direct poison.

In the study made by Gettler and Mattice it was assumed that no harmful effects of carbon monoxide are felt by a person until carbon monoxide in his blood lowers its oxygen carrying power from 15 to 20 per cent. In a group of people who lived in the country and who had but little exposure to automobile fumes the carbon monoxide of the blood averaged one-quarter of 1 per cent, and the percentage of their hemoglobin saturated with the poison averaged well under one. Four had percentages over one. One had as high as 3.6. At the other end of the line was a group of New York City taxi drivers whose blood showed from 1.5 to 4.3 per cent of carbon monoxide. The saturation of hemoglobin with carbon monoxide was always over 8, and in one case was 19. It appears that large city taxi drivers usually have about as much carbon monoxide in the blood as they can stand without having symptoms.

A group of people who work on the streets in New York City—most of them street cleaners—had an average of seven-tenths of one per cent carbon monoxide, and the degree of saturation ranged from one to seven. They were below the level of demonstrable harm, though many of them were not so well off as they might have been. A group of people who use the streets as do the business man and office worker were well below the line of danger. Only about one to one and one-half per cent of their hemoglobin bonds were occupied by carbon monoxide.

It is fair to conclude that, for the ordinary user, city street air is still reasonably safe so far as carbon monoxide is concerned. People who drive automobiles continually, policemen on certain locations, workers in foundries and rolling mills, cooks in kitchens, and people in rooms heated by stoves and gas heaters are liable to be in greater danger. One of the conclusions arrived at by Gettler and Mattice is that smoking loads the blood with carbon monoxide more than does driving a car on a city street.

SULPHUR AND ITCH.

W. A. K. writes: What is the proper way to use sulphur for itch? You speak so often about using sulphur and not once have I read what is the proper way.

REPLY.

There is no proper way to use sulphur for any of the itches not due to insects and other skin parasites. There are several ways for using it for the several itches due to parasites. About the best sulphur ointments are those commonly known as the Danish itch ointments. They are put out under different names by several pharmaceutical houses.

HIVES.

Mrs. J. M. writes: I am bothered with hives lately. What can be the cause? Can it be cured and how?

REPLY.

Every man has his own hives. Finding the cause is a problem of the individual. That which causes one man to have hives may make the next one feel like a million dollars. The cause in most cases lies in the field of foods.

If a person avoids the cause there is no hives to cure.

NEPHRITIS.

F. S. writes: I am 28 years old and am suffering from nephritis.

1. Is it curable?
2. What is nephritis?

REPLY.

1. There are several kinds of nephritis. Some are curable. Some are chronic. Most of the cases are very responsive to right living.

2. Loosely speaking, it is inflammation of the kidneys. Also loosely speaking, it is Bright's disease.

DISPOSITION OF ESTATE.

Chicago, July 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. My father passed away in August, 1932. I obtained a copy of his will, but know nothing about condition of the estate or its value. This is in Iowa. Where can I get information? 2. An executor was appointed. Should I ask him or find out through court records? Should I wait until the year is up? 3. My mother is to be taken care of until her death, when the estate is willed to heirs. My father divided same. Who should take charge at time of mother's death? 4. Property, both personal and real, is left for my mother's use. She receives income, and if this be not sufficient to keep her the will states she be allowed to draw from estate. Can she give away or sell any of the household goods or automobile? 5. There are four children, but mother favors only one. She has furnished him money and the other three have had to work. Is there any way I can find out what she receives? 6. Above mentioned son practically took possession of automobile and affairs at time of father's death. I was willed two-fifths and he one-fifth. What can be done to keep him from taking more than this share? M. G. R.

1. The clerk of the Probate court there might be willing to give you a summary of the inventory, otherwise you could secure a complete copy by paying for it.

2. It would do no harm to ask the executor first.

3. We cannot advise to advantage without knowing the wording of the will.

4. We would say no on the facts as you state them.

5. Presumably an account will be filed in the probate proceedings and you will be entitled to examine it.

6. The wording of the will would control.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

INHERITANCE TAX.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is there any state inheritance tax in Illinois on stocks or bonds held as "joint tenants with right of survivorship and not as tenants in common"? 2. Is there a federal tax on this same class of stock? R. W. C.

1 and 2. In general, the one-half which passes by survivorship would be subject to tax. The Illinois tax is assessed on the share of the beneficiary. The exemption and the rate of the tax depend upon the degree of relationship of the deceased. The federal tax is assessed upon the estate and estates of less than $50,000 are exempt.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 10, 1917.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Wilson issued a proclamation yesterday calling the entire National Guard and the National Guard Reserve into the federal service. The call is effective July 15 for eleven states, including Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Iowa. Troops of nineteen states, including the Illinois division, are called out July 25. Seventeen states, including Indiana, are called out Aug. 5. The President's proclamation also drafted into the military service of the United States as of and from Aug. 5 all members of the National Guard and reserve, including those previously called into the federal service and now on guard duty. The danger of aggression by a foreign enemy and the necessity for proper protection against possible interference with the execution of laws of the Union by agents of the enemy were reasons advanced in the proclamation for calling out the guard.

COPENHAGEN.—A sharply censored Berlin special dispatch says that the emperor at yesterday's audience expressed confidence in the imperial chancellor and approved Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg's course to commit Germany to peace without annexation or indemnities. The Berlin Tageblatt says that the all day conferences of the reichstag middle parties and moderate Socialists brought the parties near to an agreement regarding the question of peace terms and internal reforms.

WAR SUMMARY.—Petrograd reports the capture of several villages and more than 7,000 Germans west of Stanislaus, in Galicia. Berlin declares that Russian attacks in eastern Galicia have been brought to a standstill. Paris reports failure of a renewed attack by the Germans on the Chemin des Dames. The major part of the trenches occupied by the German on July 9 was recaptured. Berlin reports the capture of French trenches on a two mile front in this sector. London reports a successful raid southeast of Hargicourt.

NEW YORK.—Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman, anarchists, convicted here last night of conspiracy to obstruct operation of the selective draft law, started for prison in the custody of federal marshals a few hours after the verdict had been returned. Berkman will be taken to Atlanta, Ga., and Miss Goldman to Jefferson City, Mo. Each was sentenced to the maximum penalty of two years and a fine of $10,000.

CHICAGO.—Col. Edward H. R. Green, son of the late Hetty Green, who in her life was usually spoken of as "the richest woman in America," will be married today. The colonel's bride is Miss Mabel E. Harlow, niece of Mrs. George H. Campbell of Highland Park. The ceremony will be performed at the residence of the bride's aunt, 108 North Sheridan road, in Highland Park, at noon.

WORLD'S FAIR QUESTION BOX

Requests for information concerning A Century of Progress will be answered in this column. It is urged that questions be stated briefly.

QUESTION—Where are swimming and diving contests held at the Fair, and what are the qualifications for participation.

ANSWER—Contests are held at the World's Fair beach. Write to J. C. Bonnell at the beach for information as to qualifications.

QUESTION—Where can I apply for a waitress job at the Fair?

ANSWER—There is no central place. The only way is by contacting individual concessions.

QUESTION—Is there any hiring of stenographic help by the World's Fair? Whom shall I see?

ANSWER—Gate 31 Soldiers' Field Stadium is the location of the personnel office. A large reserve list of trained people has been compiled, so there is small chance of more help in any line being needed.

QUESTION—I have a copy of the Declaration of Independence handwritten in gold and several other pieces of unique handwriting. Where could I arrange for an exhibit of these at the Fair?

ANSWER—There are no facilities for utilizing such exhibits.

THE ARREST OF MR. LOHMAN.

Stillwater, Okla., July 6.—This letter is to express the appreciation of this institution and of its staff for the courteous tender of your good offices in connection with the unfortunate and evidently unfounded arrest and detention of Mr. Lohman.

Mr. Edward Lohman has been on our staff for a number of years and during that time has enjoyed our full confidence and respect. We know of no action of his that has cast a shadow of suspicion upon his reputation during these years. Due to the nature of academic social conventions the publicity which followed Mr. Lohman's unwarranted arrest must have been quite humiliating to him and will be most difficult to counteract entirely, consequently we appreciate deeply your proffered assistance.

HENRY G. BENNETT,
President Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College.

PROF. MOLEY DEFENDED.

Chicago, June 21.—Any one who read the article in today's TRIBUNE reporting the remarks of Prof. Gideonse regarding Assistant Secretary of State Moley must assume that professional jealousy or the intense internationalism of Prof. Gideonse has biased his judgment unduly.

Prof. Gideonse is a smart young man, but his extended residence in Geneva as director of the International Students' union is no doubt responsible for his near idolatry of all things foreign. Prof. Gideonse is a cancellationist who shouts from the housetops that though France had plenty of money with which to pay her debt installment, though she had solemnly promised to pay this debt, though she refused flatly to pay a thin dime on it, she did not default.

Prof. Gideonse is a free trader, but I sometimes wonder who he really thinks would benefit by that policy.

Naturally a man of those opinions has small sympathy for such a man as Prof. Moley who, like President Roosevelt, seems to be determined that the United States shall have a return to prosperity, with Europe if possible, but a return through its own efforts if Europe's stubborn nationalism refuses to cooperate.

C. E. BACON.

CHARITY AS A CAREER.

Chicago, July 6.—I am hiring salesmen and saleswomen. Last week a man came in to see me, sent by a church organization. He was well dressed and well educated. In time he asked what basis we paid on. When I told him that it was all commission, but that we furnished all the leads, and his customers were strictly his and that we protected him on that, he asked, "Can you guarantee me $19 a week?" I told him that we could not, but that it would be very easy to make that, and he said, "There are four of us in the family, my brother-in-law and his wife, myself and my wife, and we are each on the relief rolls and get $49.50 a week, and we can live very comfortably on that, so guess it will not pay to give up a good thing for such an indefinite proposition."

Are the men and women of Chicago getting so indolent that they will accept charity rather than go to work? No wonder there is a seeming depression. We cannot get business going unless every one gets his hands, feet, and brains working. CHESTER G. WOOD.

COURTESY AWARDS.

Chicago, July 3.—Your notice in this morning's TRIBUNE of courtesy awards for Chicago and Chicago park policemen is surely a marvelous idea, and I wish to extend my sincere congratulations. Having to use a car for business reasons, I can well appreciate what a hard job our policemen have in normal conditions in Chicago as well as during the Fair. DONALD R. KIMBARK.

RELIEF.

Chicago, July 5.—Now that the sales tax has been placed on us again, I would suggest that the relief workers make a fair and thorough investigation of all who are on their lists. It might also be a good idea if they would inquire of the neighbors as to the worthiness of those who are on the relief roll. It certainly is no disgrace for those who are really needy to be getting relief, and I don't think any one would object to helping them. However, I know people who are running automobiles and yet they are on relief. I also know people who have members of their families working, yet they are getting relief. Out of one family of four, there are two working. This is most unfair. One man had a job offered him at a salary my husband would have been tickled to get, but he turned the job down because of the small amount of pay. If such people as these were taken off relief, we would not have to be burdened quite so much with taxes.

My husband has been out of work for nearly two years. I went to work, leaving a small baby, in order that we might get along and not have to ask for help. I have come to the conclusion that it would have been much better if I had stayed at home with my baby, and asked for relief. I would have been able to get ahead a bit, whereas now it is all I can do to keep us supplied with the bare necessities of life. And then last night these same people had dollar after dollar's worth of fireworks, nonsensical articles, while the people who are trying to get along unaided weren't able to spend a cent. It seems those who are on relief are sitting pretty, while those of us who are working are the ones to pay MRS. P.

CHEER UP.

Chicago, July 6.—I have always been under the impression that the comic strips appearing in your paper were to offer amusement to the reader, but after following up Smitty for the last few months I have formed the opinion that this is really more of a tragic than a comic feature.

First, Smitty's father was hurt in an airplane crash. He was taken to a hospital and died. Mrs. Smith gave up the home and moved to a poor, dilapidated home, with no support for the two children. No back yard for Scraps, so he's given away and Herby is crying.

There's really nothing amusing to this feature. I think it's about time the author got wise to himself and started giving his readers a "and they lived happily ever after" finale.

EDITHE FRIEDMAN.

THAT MOSCOW BUNCH.

Waterloo, Ia., July 5.—Apparently we are headed into close relations with Russia, and I wonder does the brain trust [and Barney Baruch] now in the saddle in Washington really believe they are so much smarter than British statesmen and others who have tried playing with that irresponsible Moscow outfit that they can hold them to any sort of agreement as to communistic propaganda, promises to pay, or anything else? I wonder if they are that egoistic?

H. A. WILEY.

BOAT WHISTLES AT NIGHT.

Chicago, July 5.—During the period after midnight when the river bridges are open to lake boat traffic the steamers keep up a continual din with their whistles signaling the bridge tenders. This deafening noise is extremely annoying to hotel residents and others living within a mile of the river zone, who are trying to sleep during the hours commonly dedicated to sleep. It constitutes another loud argument in favor of the abandonment of the archaic river traffic entirely. CHARLES GRANT.

NEW TAXES ADD 62 MILLIONS TO FEDERAL INCOME

Yield in Illinois Drops Somewhat.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—[Special.]—Americans paid an additional 62 million dollars in federal taxes in the fiscal year ended a week ago because new levies more than offset the decline in wealth due to depression, the treasury department announced today.

Heaping on 25 new taxes and raising the rates on others, the government managed to collect 1 billion 616 million dollars from internal revenue taxes last fiscal year, compared with 1 billion 558 millions the previous year.

Announcing for the first time the tax collections by states for the fiscal year, 1933, the bureau of internal rev enue revealed today that in 31 states, the federal tax yield increased and in the other 19, which included Illinois, the yield dropped.

Illinois Pays 105 Millions.

Illinois during the fiscal year just closed, paid $105,104,061 in federal taxes, compared with $106,792,753 a pear ago, a decline of 1.5 per cent. The increase for the country as a whole was 3 per cent. Of the total yielded by Illinois last year, $56,472,191 came from income taxes and $49,631,871 from miscellaneous taxes like those on gasoline, electrical energy, bank checks, beer, stocks and bonds transfers, estates, and dealings in futures. Of the income taxes, $28,672,806 was paid by corporations and $27,799,385 by individuals.

Illinois ranked fourth in total revenue paid into the federal government, third in income tax payments and fourth in total miscellaneous. New York and Pennsylvania were the only states to show larger income tax collections.

Income Tax Drops.

Only by piling on additional excise and stamp taxes has the federal government been able to offset the decline in income tax collections. Despite higher rates which have been in effect since January 1, the treasury's compilation today showed that the yield of the income tax had dropped 30 per cent, from 869 million dollars in the 1932 fiscal year to 747 millions in the last fiscal year.

Most of the drop in income taxes had been in corporation returns which showed a decline of 35 per cent last year. Corporations' income yielded only 395 millions of federal taxes last year, compared with 630 millions the year before. Returns from individuals, where the rate increases were heaviest, dropped from 427 millions a year ago to 351 millions last year.

NANCY CARROLL VICTIM OF STRIKE; FILMS DELAYED

Hollywood, Cal., July 9.—(AP)—Nancy Carroll and Allan Dinehart are among the film players immediately affected by the strike of 1,000 members of the Sound Technicians' union and allied trades which has tied up all production at the Columbia motion picture studio.

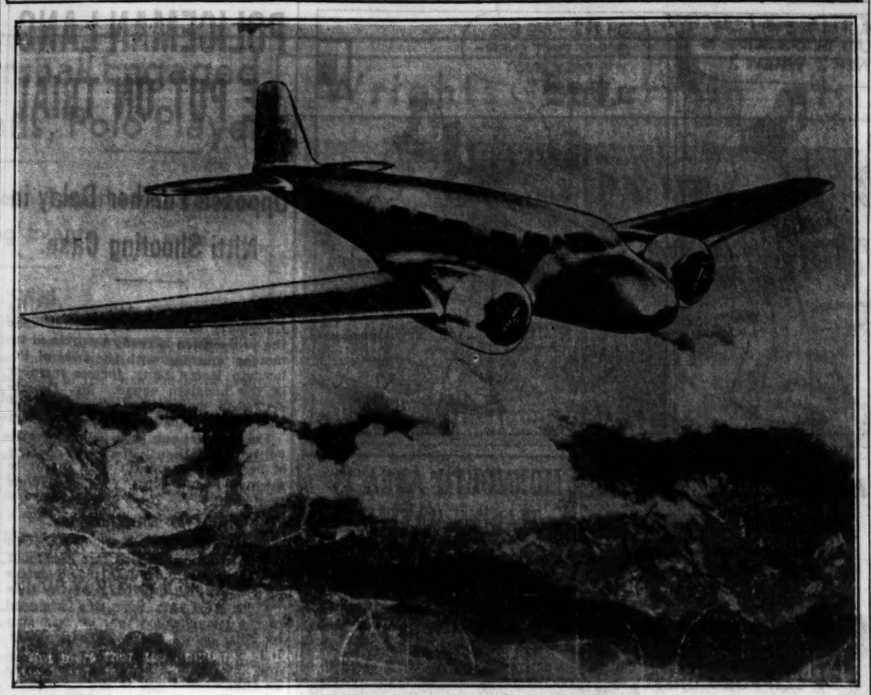
Pictures in which they were under contract will be delayed.

Samuel J. Briskin, general manager of the studio, said two full length feature pictures and some shorts were in the making when the strike was called last night. He said the strike was called without the studio being given any warning, but Harold Smith, business representative of the sound union, said it followed negotiations lasting several months.

"We have been trying to get a wage adjustment with the Columbia studio and have failed," Smith said. "Almost 40 other independent producers have met our wage scale."

Briskin said the technicians' salary demands were exorbitant, and that in some instances increases of 250 per cent were asked.

New High Speed Planes for Air Line to Northwest



Lockheed "Electra" high speed transport plane, ten of which have been purchased by the Northwest Airways for $500,000 to open new air line in September between Chicago and Pacific northwest. The planes carry ten passengers, two pilots, mail, baggage and express at 180 miles an hour.

AIR LINE PLANS NEW NORTHWEST ROUTE TO COAST

High speed air transportation over a new northern route to the Pacific northwest will be inaugurated this year by Northwest Airways, Croil Hunter, general manager of the system, announced yesterday. Then new Lockheed "Electra" transport planes, capable of cruising at 180 miles an hour with ten passengers, mail and express, have been purchased at a cost of $500,000 for the new route, he said.

Northwest Airways now operates from Chicago to Billings, Mont., via the Twin Cities, Fargo, and Bismarck, N. D. The route is to be extended through Helena, Mont., and Spokane, Wash., to Seattle, where it will connect with the eastern terminus of the proposed trans-Pacific air line of Pan-American Airways.

The creation of the new northern route to the Pacific coast by Northwest Airways is expected to result in a battle between that system and United Air lines for the passenger, mail, and express traffic between the Pacific northwest and the Chicago gateway. United Air lines operates west from Chicago to Salt Lake City, then northwest to Spokane, Portland, and Seattle.

FOUND SLAIN; GUN NEARBY.

Caseyville, Ill., July 9.—(AP)—Earl Missimore, 40, contracting superintendent of Litchfield, Ill., was found shot to death in his tool shed here today. Nearby was a revolver from which one shot had been fired. Friends said he had been ill.

ARGENTINA JAILS RADICAL LEADERS IN REVOLT PLOT

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, July 9.—(AP)—Police expressed the belief today they had discovered a subversive plot designed to disturb public order.

Although official information was lacking, it was learned reliably that the alleged plot was connected with the finding July 6 in a house in suburban Palermo of 1,200 bottles containing materials for the manufacture of incendiary bombs.

Police arrested several extremists, including Emilio Duprat, who they believed acted under orders of former Gen. Severa Toranzo; former Lieut. Col. Segundo Pomar, and other noted Yrigoyenist radicals.

FIND SUICIDE'S BODY STUCK IN HOLLOW OF TREE

Firemen Work Hours to Release It.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., July 9.—[Special.]—The body of Carl Heinz, 27, of the town of Greenfield, who has been missing from home since July 2, was found this afternoon wedged in the hollow of a great elm tree on the C. Conrad farm on highway 100, between the Layton and the Boulder roads. Death had been due to a bullet, authorities said. A pistol was found in the tree hollow beside the body.

Heinz's body was so securely wedged in the hollow of the tree that the Hales Corners fire department worked for four hours in cutting an opening so it could be removed.

Tell of Suicide Threats.

The elm tree in which the body was found measures more than 15 feet around, is more than a century old, and towers above all other trees in the vicinity. It has been hollow from the base to the first branches for years. The upper opening of the hollow is about 9 feet from the ground.

A large branch was blown down during a recent wind storm. In its fall it became so braced against the tree as to form a natural runway to the upper opening of the hollow.

Walter Krueger, a deputy coroner, said it is his belief that Heinz climbed up this branch, seated himself at the upper opening of the hollow, and then shot himself, his body dropping into the tree interior.

Heinz was a widower. His wife died 20 months ago, and he has been despondent since, his parents said. The sheriff's deputies were told he had made threats to end his life.

Tree Landmark for Years.

Weinand Heinz, a younger brother, found the body while berry picking today. While in the vicinity of the elm tree, a landmark for years, Weinand decided to see whether rabbits, squirrels or other woods animals had sought refuge in it. Sportsmen who hunt in the vicinity always visit the tree, whose hollowed interior has made it a favorite hiding place for small game. The man whose body was found there today knew it well.

When Weinand reached into a small opening at the base of the tree, just large enough for a man comfortably to insert his hand, he found the pistol this afternoon. Further investigation disclosed the body of his brother.

Coroner's assistants and deputy sheriffs called for the Hales Corners fire department, when their efforts to remove the body with ropes and hooks were unsuccessful.

RAILWAY GIVES JOBS ON TRACK TO FORMER SKILLED EMPLOYES

Clovis, N. M., July 9.—(AP)—The Santa Fe railway company's call for ex-railroad employés to help lay 36 miles of new rail in eastern New Mexico has brought together 135 men from all branches of the transportation business.

Former white collared executives, clerks, engineers, firemen, dispatchers and telegraph operators are working side by side near Encino, N. M., and the section bosses are pleased.

"They are doing more work in a five day week," one said, "than our regular crews back in the 'good old days' did in six."

Mexican Warship Picks Up Idle; Carries Them Home

PANAMA, Canal Zone, July 9.—(AP)—The Mexican gunboat Nicolas Boo, which is picking up unemployed Mexicans in Central America and returning them to their homeland, arrived today from Manzanillo. It is also picking up Nicaraguans similarly, who will be debarked at Corinto, and will call at Cuba for idle Mexicans.

Stuttgart-Berlin Express Derailed; 4 Dead, 16 Hurt

APOLDA, Germany, July 9.—(AP)—Four persons were killed and sixteen were seriously injured when the Stuttgart to Berlin express was derailed today. Six cars overturned. Heat was believed to have warped the rails. There were no Americans among the victims.

NEW ZEALAND DRAFTS MARRIED MEN FOR CAMPS

Join Single Unemployed in Labor Service.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, July 9.—Idle married men must enter state unemployment camps at once or forfeit all claim to relief under the state insurance scheme, the government has decreed.

All but $360,000 of the $20,000,000 fund raised last year by special taxation has been spent and the government fears collapse of the scheme unless grants are reduced. Seventy thousand idle were registered this fall and the number is expected to mount during the winter which began June 21. The drafted married men will join more than 12,000, most of them single men, who have been in the camps for a year or more.

Men must leave their wives and families in the cities and enter the labor camps, where, the government promises, they will earn $2.50 a day and will be able to send $10 to $15 a week to their families.

Men Resent Separation.

However, men are evidencing resentment at the separation and doubt about the promised rates of pay. The government insists the minimum is $6 a week. In earlier labor camps pay rolls have not reached the optimistic totals and after long months men quit the camps in swamps and barren country only a few cents to the good. In one recent case a man came out with only 14 cents.

It is the general opinion, though not admitted by the government, that the labor campers were not intended to earn anything like a reasonable amount, but were massed to reduce the cost and menace of maintaining them in the city.

The cities, hit by the government policy of exchange inflation, have declared they will suspend their own local relief plans. Mayor Thomas C. Hislop of Wellington has loudly announced that his city will not provide another penny for jobless relief and that the government can now carry the lot. The government seeks to forestall this policy by drafting the men into camp before the cities can carry out this threat.

Men Are Now Organized.

Inevitably there has been a revolt against these "forced labor camps." The idle, who are now nationally organized and have just held their first national conference, are strongly protesting the government's statement that further relief will be withheld from men who decline to enter the camps once they are drafted in.

Women's organizations, ex-servicemen's leagues and other bodies are strongly petitioning the government to abate the plan. The Christchurch city council supports the protest. Women of all classes at a public meeting in Wellington protested the scheme as "breaking up the homes and increasing the hardship which women are already suffering."

Grant Some Delay.

Before this wave of feeling the government has paused, but the plan is not stopped. The camps are to be organized and the men drafted into them. Adam Hamilton, minister of employment, has granted one concession, that the board will withhold "for a reasonable time" the penalty from men who refuse to enter the camps where circumstances warrant their remaining at home.

But for the many idle he considers these camps to be no hardship. "It is very difficult to justify granting relief to able bodied men who insist on remaining at partially useless work in cities when sufficient men are not available for reproductive public works," he declared.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Continuous Performance

DR. CHASE LAUDS SENATE FOR AID TO UNIVERSITY

Leaves Soon for Post in New York.

Urbana, Ill., July 9.—[Special.]—In a farewell statement today to the people of the state, Dr. Harry Woodburn Chase, for the last three years president of the University of Illinois, praised the state senate for its resolution which urged generous support of the university so that the voluntary budget reductions would not result in lasting injury.

Dr. Chase will attend a trustees meeting in Chicago tomorrow as his last official act and will then go to New York City to become president of New York university. Dr. Arthur Hill Daniels, dean of the graduate school and acting dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, will serve as acting president of the university until a permanent head is selected.

Thanks Gov. Horner.

"It is significant," Dr. Chase said, "that the state senate should adopt a resolution not only urging future generous support of the institution but also commending the board of trustees, as the agency elected by the people for the administration of the university, for its conscientious care in preparing its budget, for the efficient manner in which the university is operated, and for the coöperation of the board with the legislature in its efforts to reduce public expenditures.

"I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the legislature and to Gov. Horner for their careful and public spirited consideration of the university's problems during a most difficult time," Dr. Chase said.

Bids Farewell to State.

"The spirit on all sides has been a genuine desire to provide adequately for the university's needs and to serve public interest. I believe the university has again justified the confidence the people of Illinois have in it.

"I desire to express to the people of Illinois my appreciation of the honor and privilege I have had in serving their university. I leave the University of Illinois with genuine regret but with a sense of pride that I, too, have been a citizen of this great commonwealth and may count myself as one of the Illini."

AT 72 HE SEES TOWN AND AUTO FOR FIRST TIME

Murphy, N. C., July 9.—(AP)—Edward Valentine Gladstone lived 72 years on his mountain farm within 13 miles of Murphy and never saw a town, an automobile or a movie until last Friday.

Fate decreed that Gladstone go to a mountain mill to have some corn ground just as the city dwellers of Murphy drove up in their automobile.

"I'd kinda like to see that town before I die," the farmer said wistfully.

They invited him to return with them for a visit and he finally agreed after much persuasion. But they had a hard time getting him into the automobile. He said he was afraid it would jump down the mountainside.

Once in town, Farmer Gladstone took to urban ways and liked them. The town's leading citizens outdid themselves to entertain him. Gladstone confided to Chief of Police Fred Johnson that he had never seen a Negro but would like to, so Johnson took him to the Negro quarter.

He was guest of honor at a hotel dinner that night and then his hosts drove him home to give a full report to Willie May, his 40 year old daughter who says she has never been more than three miles from the farm.

UKRAINE DENIED FOOD; CAUSE OF LEADER'S SUICIDE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, July 9.—The refusal of the central executive committee of the communist party in Russia to grant famine relief to the Ukraine region was responsible for the suicide of Nicolai Alexeivitch Skripnik, former Ukrainian commissar and later president of the state plan commission, it was declared by a Baltic diplomat who arrived here today. The suicide was announced yesterday by communist party headquarters in Moscow.

The diplomat said that the executive committee, of which Skripnik was a member, discussed last week the growing seriousness of the famine. Skripnik demanded that the Stalin faction change its policy toward the peasants by using the government's so-called iron reserve fund of grain to feed the village population.

The commissar tried to arrange a meeting between President Kalinin and a group of Ukrainian peasants but they were refused permission to visit Moscow. The only action taken by the committee was to expel Skripnik from the party for his anti-Stalin activities.

ANNA D. SCHWARZ DIES; SURVIVOR OF CHICAGO FIRE

Mrs. Anna D. Schwarz, 72 years old, died yesterday in her home at 5150 South Bishop street of injuries incurred in a fall a week ago. Mrs. Schwarz was a child at the time of the Chicago fire, and frequently recalled that her home then, which escaped the flames, served as a refuge for less fortunate families. Her husband, Joseph Schwarz; two sons, the Rev. Augustine Schwarz and the Rev. Arnold Schwarz, Catholic priests, and three daughters, Sister Arnolding, a nun; Mrs. Elizabeth Feulner, and Mrs. Marie Bodinet, survive. Funeral services will be held Wednesday in St. Augustine's Roman Catholic church, 5045 Laflin street, with burial in St. Mary's cemetery.

HAWAIIAN SUGAR BOSSES SENDING FILIPINOS HOME

Make Room for Native Supply of Labor.

BY CLIFFORD GESSLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, T. H., July 9.—The tide of labor immigration has reversed in Hawaii. Hawaiian sugar planters in the last year and a half have sent 8,952 Filipinos back to the Philippines and have brought none into Hawaii.

The Hawaiian Sugar Planters' association revealed on June 28 that in the last 18 months the association has spent nearly $900,000 repatriating Filipinos who had fulfilled their labor contracts or were unemployed. In all instances where returning Filipinos had families their wives and children were sent home with them. Additional groups will be returned from time to time.

Make Room for Citizens.

Indigent and unemployed Filipinos have been repatriated largely for the purpose of relieving unemployment in Hawaii and to make room on the plantations for citizen labor. Figures released by the planters show that approximately 10,000 citizens now are employed by sugar plantations in Hawaii. Since June 1, 820 citizens have applied for plantation jobs and practically all of them have obtained work.

The planters see in this encouraging evidence that the citizen young people are beginning to turn to the land, and some express the hope that eventually employment on noncitizen labor will be rendered unnecessary. This movement is of double value. It provides the planters with a labor supply that is said by many managers to be superior to the old "coolie" type and it also guards against the evils that might follow from the increase of unemployed young people of local birth.

Japanese Most Numerous.

The citizens who are thus turning to plantation work are of various racial ancestries. Those of Japanese origin predominate, most of whom have had at least a high school education and R. O. T. C. training, and have acquired a degree of Americanization that has set them so far apart from the remaining members of the old Japan-born group that they have become practically a different race.

There were in Hawaii at the time of the federal census of 1930, 56,404 Filipinos, 48,465 Japanese, 10,223 Americans of Filipino descent and 91,613 Americans of Japanese descent. With the 79,337 Americans of European descent, these are the largest racial groups in the islands, though the predominant voting strength remains with the 20,275 Hawaiians and 28,596 part-Hawaiians.

Chinese in Business.

The 9,160 Chinese, though fairly important in business, do not play a large part in other affairs in the islands, and the 2,801 Koreans and 140 aliens of other nationalities are practically negligible. There are also 16,158 Americans of Chinese descent, 3,801 of Korean descent, and 376 of racial ancestry otherwise unclassified.

The total number of Americans in Hawaii at the 1930 census was 250,379; of aliens, 120,871, with the addition of 56,404 Filipinos who are neither aliens nor citizens.

MONMOUTH AREA IS WAGING BATTLE ON CHINCH BUG ARMY

Monmouth, Ill., July 9.—[Special.]—Farmers in this section are preparing to wage desperate battle against chinch bugs which have already attacked cornfields in many vicinities and are believed to be spreading rapidly. Experts from the state university have been called in to demonstrate best methods of combating the pests.

Many believe that the rain of the last few days will be advantageous in stopping the spread but it is thought that will not hinder bugs already in the fields.

Chinch bugs attacked some fields of wheat last year but were not general. They did little damage to wheat this year which according to reports will be at least up to average in most cases.

Chinch bugs are not believed to be responsible for the short oat crop which is blamed on the long dry spell. Considerable corn planted late is still very small and especially susceptible to ravages of chinch bugs.

MARRIAGES GAIN, DIVORCES SHOW A 1933 DECREASE

Divorces in Cook county decreased 7 per cent for the first six months of 1933 in comparison with the first half of 1932. Marriage licenses for the same periods showed an increase of 5.6 per cent for 1933 over 1932. These statistics were made public yesterday by Clerk Frank V. Zintak of the Superior court, Clerk John E. Conroy of the Circuit court, and Chief Clerk Sidney Summerfield of the marriage license bureau.

The figures in Chicago reveal an increase in the divorces granted in the Superior court and a decrease in the divorces given in the Circuit court. The divorces for the six months period are shown by months as follows:

Month—	Circuit court 1932	Circuit court 1933	Superior court. 1932	Superior court. 1933
January	345	219	304	258
March	368	310	372	327
April	349	298	282	414
May	356	276	312	329
June	359	282	341	327
Totals	2,105	1,635	1,309	1,998

For the first six months of 1933, 14,223 marriage licenses were issued. This is an increase of 753 over the first six months of 1932 when 13,470 licenses were issued. The ratio in 1932 was approximately 3½ marriage licenses to each divorce. The ratio has changed this year to nearly 4 marriage licenses to every divorce.

ELMER L. RODER TAKEN BY DEATH IN PARK RIDGE

Elmer L. Roder, 56 years old, 907 South Prospect avenue, Park Ridge, a former member of the board of directors of O. W. Richardson & Co., 125 South Wabash avenue, furniture dealers, died yesterday in his home of heart disease. Mr. Roder is survived by his widow, Laura, and a daughter, Ruth. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Oehler's undertaking rooms in Des Plaines. Burial will be at Mount Olive cemetery.

Heiress' Hand Is Crushed When Her Auto Overturns

New York, July 9.—[Special.]—Her right hand severely crushed in an automobile accident Sylvia Gould, 15 year old heiress to millions, was recovering today in Doctors' hospital. The accident occurred Monday near the Catskill estate of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kingdon Gould, at Fleischmanns, N. Y., when a small coupe the girl was driving over turned when she swerved to avoid an approaching car.

STATE DEMANDS POLICEMAN LANG BE PUT ON TRIAL

Opposes Further Delay in Nitti Shooting Case.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles Dougherty announced yesterday that the prosecution is ready to proceed tomorrow morning with the trial of Policeman Harry Lang, former member of the hoodlum squad. Mr. Dougherty said he would oppose any further continuance of the case.

Policeman Lang, who is under suspension, has been indicted on charges of perjury and assault with intent to murder Frank Nitti, former Capone lieutenant.

Sequel to Nitti Shooting.

The indictments are the outgrowth of the shooting of Nitti last December during a raid on Nitti's headquarters in a downtown building. At the time Policeman Lang, who was wounded in the leg, charged that he was shot by Nitti before he shot the gangster. It is now charged that Lang shot Nitti and then shot himself in the leg as an alibi.

The real facts of the raid came out during the trial of Nitti on a charge of attempting to kill Policeman Lang. Nitti was acquitted before Judge Rudolph Desort when Lang refused to answer under oath when asked whether Nitti shot him. Lang stood on his constitutional privilege of refusing to incriminate himself.

Other policemen then admitted that they had searched Nitti before the shooting and found him to be unarmed. They said they were then sent to an adoining room with other prisoners by Lang, who was in charge, and the shooting followed.

Lang Arrested in Court.

Lang was arrested in the courtroom on a charge of perjury. Charges were subsequently filed before the police trial board against Harry Miller, partner of Lang, and he was dismissed from the department.

During the grand jury investigation of the charges against Policeman Lang a rumor was presented to the jurors to the effect that Ted Newberry, north side gangster who was slain after the Nitti shooting, offered to pay $15,000 for the assassination of Nitti. Lang denied this rumor.

Lang was indicted on the assault to murder and the perjury charges on April 7.

Miss Dorothy Marshall Engaged to R. W. Simmons, Polo Player

Young Couple Frequently Seen Together at Fashionable Sporting Events.

BY JUDITH CASS.

DOZENS of Miss Dorothy Marshall's friends noticed the happy, excited smile she was wearing Saturday afternoon at the Arlington races. This morning the secret is out with the announcement her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Marshall, are making of the engagement of their younger daughter to the dashing young polo player, Richard W. Simmons, son of Mrs. George Welch Simmons and the late Mr. Simmons of St. Louis.

The announcement does not come as a complete surprise, for rumor has been rife the last several months at the many parties and sporting events at which Miss Marshall and Mr. Simmons have been noticed together.

Miss Marshall, a petite, vivacious, dark haired young lady, attended the University School for Girls and Miss Baird's school in the east before making her debut at a tea last Nov. 26 in her parents' studio home on Wilmette harbor. In this studio, which is one of the show places of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall have been host and hostess to nearly every visiting notable to the city, including the prince of Wales.

The Simmons family has long been prominent in St. Louis, where the senior Mr. Simmons, who was equally distinguished in sport and business, was killed on the polo field three years ago. Young Mr. Simmons is a graduate of Yale university and is now associated with a local investment house. This summer he is living at the Onwentsia in Lake Forest, under whose colors he is playing polo this season. A cousin, Edwin S. Simmons II., is in Chicago now with the St. Louis team playing polo at Oak Brook.

No plans have been announced for the wedding.

Society Ready to Welcome Flyers.

The stage is all set. Final plans have been polished off. Chicago en masse is ready to give Gen. Balbo and his Italian flyers one of the most rousing and brilliant welcomes ever accorded any foreign visitors to the city.

The schedule of entertainment in the hands of local dignitaries and members of society took definite form over the week-end and all of those with the coveted invitations to the luncheons and dinners and receptions are ready to break other engagements as soon as the silver winged armada comes to light on Lake Michigan.

First is the official welcome in Soldiers' field the day of arrival. From a small platform on the west side of the field six dignitaries, among them Commissioner Harry S. New, President Rufus C. Dawes, Italian Ambassador Russo, and Prince Potenziani—will greet Gen. Balbo. Following this welcome the flyers will go to the reception of the Dante Alighieri society at the Drake hotel. The first night the guests will dine and dance on the verandas of the Saddle and Cycle club at a party being arranged by Mrs. Harold C. Strotz and her committee. From all reports it's to be one of the jolliest affairs of the flyers' four day stay. Sophie Tucker and her corps of entertainers are going to give a program and in addition to the usual dance orchestra there will be Hawaiians strumming their guitars on the terrace.

Welcome of Fair Officials.

Officials of A Century of Progress will welcome General Balbo and his air men at a luncheon the second day of their visit in the Trustees' Lounge of the Hall of Science. That evening brings a breathing spell for the visitors for they will be free to do as they please . . . also the next day, but on the third night they are to be the guests of Mr. New, the government's commissioner to A Century of Progress, at dinner at the Congress hotel.

Still later that same night there is the brilliant reception and ball the Italy-America society and Prince Potenziani are giving at the Casino, which is closed for the summer, but is to be opened especially for the history making Italians. Members of the floor committee for this affair are to include, among others, Harold F. McCormick, Philip K. Wrigley, Edward Richardson Bacon, Herbert E. Bradley, Lieut. Col. Clifford Corbin, and George Pond.

The four day round of entertainment will end with a supper dance at the Tavern, arranged by the club and the Italian consul general, Giuseppe Castruccio.

Clark-Poole Wedding Today.

A wedding to be performed in the glorious mountains of New Hampshire this afternoon is of no little interest to many Chicagoans. It is that of Miss Caroline Clark, daughter of the Charles Carrollton Clarks of New York, to young William Morris Poole, son of the Ernest Pooles, also of New York. The service is to be read by the Rt. Rev. J. T. Dallas of New Hampshire at St. Matthew's church at Sugar Hill, where the Pooles' summer home is located.

Unfortunately, few of Mr. Poole's Chicago relatives have been able to go east for the ceremony. But there will be in one of the front pews Mrs. John R. Winterbotham, who is the bridegroom's grandmother; Mrs. Parmalee McFadden, who is in the east with her daughter; Mrs. Edward Poole Lay, and Miss Frances McFadden, who will make the trip up from New York.

The bride's cousin, Miss Frances Andrews of Newport, R. I., will be maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will include Mrs. W. Gillette Bird of New York City; Miss Mary King Loomis of Sharon, Conn.; Miss Mary Murray Mahony of Scarboro, N. Y., and Miss Elizabeth Ann Poole, who is the sister of Mr. Poole.

Nicholas Vedder Poole will serve his brother as best man. Ushering will be James O'Malley Jr. and William White Howells, Mr. Poole's cousin, of New York; Carrington Cabell Tutwiler Jr. and Otto Tod Mallery Jr. of Chestnut Hill, Pa.; Copeland Morton Jr. of Baltimore; William Woodbridge Dickinson Jr. of Chicago; Groverman Payne of Greenfield, and Arthur Little Hamilton Jr. of Belmont, Mass.

After a honeymoon trip Mr. Poole and his bride are to live in New York City, where he is associated with a publishing company.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, July 9.—[Special.]—Dr. and Mrs. Charles B. Slade of 565 Park avenue have gone to their country place in Greenwood Park, to remain until early in September.

Mrs. Frederic A. Carnochan has left for Bar Harbor.

Señora José R. De Chopitea of Lima, Peru, and Señorita Consuelo Chopitea have departed from New York for Biarritz, France. They will return early in October to be at the Plaza for the winter.

Judge and Mrs. Amos L. Beety gave a dinner last night at the St. Regis in celebration of Mrs. Beety's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Chalmers of Amsterdam, N. Y., are at the Pierre.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., July 9.—[Special.]—The speaker of the house and Mrs. Rainey, who recently removed to the Wardman Park hotel, left today to motor to their country home, Walnut Hill, near Carrollton, Ill. The speaker is driving his car, and they will make the trip by easy stages with no thought of time.

The secretary of labor, Frances Perkins, is spending the week-end in New England. She spoke last night at Wellesley college.

Mrs. Henry L. Roosevelt, wife of the assistant secretary of the navy, and their daughter, Miss Eleanor Roosevelt, a debutante of the coming season, have returned from their visit to Mrs. Joseph Leiter at Beverly Farms, Mass., and will leave with the assistant secretary the end of this month for their cottage at York Harbor, Me., where Mrs. and Miss Roosevelt will spend the remainder of the summer.

Prepare to Start Tours for Children.

Bright and early tomorrow morning Miss Louise Brewer, Miss Lucy Fairbanks, Miss Barbara Bullard, Miss Janet Bard, Miss Ellen Truax, Miss Margaret Chandler, and Miss Katherine Woodbridge will report at the Fine Arts building for final instructions in chaperoning 48,000 boys and girls about the World's Fair the next twelve weeks.

They have volunteered their services to those three energetic young women, Miss Katherine Waller, Miss Frances H. Levy, and Miss Elizabeth Anne Oberndorfer. These three, through their Century of Progress Children's Guide service, have been invited by a board of prominent Chicagoans to show the poor children of the city the wonders of the Fair. Funds to provide for the tours are to be raised by a series of dinner dances.

The first children's party is to be Friday following the first of the dinner dances Wednesday evening in the Joseph Urban room of the Congress hotel. Two thousand will be taken on this first trip and on each one of the succeeding trips.

One of the high lights of each one of the parties is to be a half-hour of story telling by Miss Georgene Faulkner, stories about the Fair. For these the children will gather on the bleachers that face Northerly lagoon and there they will also have their lunch. Each party is to begin at 11 in the morning and continue until 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Dinner Tonight for Ambassador.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas H. Strawn are entertaining the Japanese ambassador, Katsuji Debuchi, and Mme. Debuchi at a dinner tonight in their apartment on Lake Shore drive. Tomorrow M. Debuchi and his family, which also includes a son, Masaru, who goes to Princeton, and a daughter, Mlle. Taka Debuchi, are leaving for Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. James Minotto and their children, Demetrius and Idamay, are settled in the Robert S. Hotz house in Lake Forest for the rest of the summer. They arrived Saturday and already plans are under way for a good deal of entertaining for them.

Mrs. Charles V. Rich and her daughter, Miss Bettylee Rich, of New York, are arriving Wednesday to visit Miss Rich's fiancé's family, the Robert E. Kenyons of Lake Forest. Mrs. Rich will be here for a fortnight, but Miss Rich will remain for at least a month. Her engagement to Robert E. Kenyon Jr. was announced in New York by her parents last winter. Mrs. Edward H. Ahrens of Bronxville, N. Y., the former Pauline Johnson of Chicago, a sister in law of Mrs. Kenyon, is also coming with Mrs. Rich and her daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Strobel and Mrs. Strobel's sister, Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman, have left for their annual summer stay at the Biltmore in Santa Barbara.

Mrs. J. H. Mitchell Is Recovering.

Dr. James Herbert Mitchell reports the good news that his wife, the former Marion Strobel, is recovering splendidly from the mastoid operation she underwent recently, and that she should be able to leave the hospital and return to the house they have in

Wrights Entertain at Arlington

When this picture was snapped of Mrs. Warren Wright Saturday afternoon at the Arlington Park race track, it was too late for her to change her mind on the fourth race. Anyway she picked the winner! Smartly dressed in a blue and white costume, she and Mr. Wright were entertaining the Roy Carruthers, the Otto W. Lehmanns, the Charles McCullochs, and Mrs. Anne Camden Stoll of Versailles, Ky., in their box. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Grabel's Band Gives Concert at Fair Lagoon

Thousands Pause to Enjoy Splendid Music.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Band music is finally taking an official place in the activities of A Century of Progress. Victor Grabel's Chicago Concert band played the first of a series of concerts from the Floating theater on the north lagoon, and, judging by the quality of the concert and the several thousands who paused in their sightseeing to listen, the only mistake was in not starting the series at the beginning of the Exposition.

Mr. Grabel, the conductor, is to appear later in the summer as musical director of the Chicagoland Music Festival, a position he has held since the first of these gigantic concerts. He is an extremely able leader and he has managed to assemble one of the finest bands that has ever appeared hereabouts. The ear could tell, even if it had not been reinforced by the eye, that the band contains members from both the Chicago Symphony and Civic Opera orchestras. As a result its tone was well nigh ideal.

The overture to "Tannhäuser," the "Blue Danube" waltzes, grand opera excerpts, light opera excerpts, an occasional symphonic movement, and plenty of other popular music made up the program. Mr. Grabel was generous with encores, which ran all the way from Toselli's Serenade to marches by the late John Philip Sousa.

One work by the great march king was programmed and not an encore. It was the Century of Progress march, the last work Mr. Sousa wrote before his death and the official march of the Exposition. However, the modesty of Exposition officials or some other sufficiently good reason prevented its being heard until the Exposition had been going for six weeks. The march is really something in which to take pride. It showed that at the end of his long life Mr. Sousa had just as much feeling for sprightly, irresistible melody and sense of tone color as at the height of his career.

Choral music of good quality was featured in the hall of the Court of Science during the evening. The choir of the Methodist church of Kalamazoo, Mich., gave a program under the direction of H. W. Cleaveland and demonstrated that it is a well disciplined group of good voices capable of singing the best in sacred music. Later the stage was taken by James A. Mundy and his Negro choristers, who sang spirituals with great flexibility and accuracy and in an altogether delightful manner.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Popper of 1161 Chatfield road, Winnetka announce the engagement of their daughter, Elinor, to David E. Wanger Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Wanger of Hubbard Woods.

Benet Will Receive Theodore Roosevelt Award in Literature

New York, July 9.—[Special.]—Stephen Vincent Benet, poet, will be this year's recipient of the Roosevelt medal for a distinguised contribution to American literature, it was announced today by James R. Garfield, president of the Theodore Roosevelt Memorial association. The award, which is to be made Oct. 27 at the East 20th street birthplace of Theodore Roosevelt, was conferred in recognition of Mr. Benet's narrative poem, "John Brown's Body." This was published in 1928.

The poem is the story of two young men, one of the north and the other of the south, and deals with the period of the civil war. Mr. Benet is 35.

Good Morning!

Remember the Russian film, "The Road to Life," with its amazing revelations concerning the wild boys of Russia? "The Mayor of Hell" is reminiscent of that opus.

"The Road to Life" was propaganda for soviet reform schools and the players were the real thing—wild boys recruited from the streets and authorities and teachers actually in control. "The Mayor of Hell" seeks first to entertain. Secondly it may be considered as crusading against inhuman conditions that prevail in state institutions where politics crack the whip and graft holds sway.

After opening sequences that show boy hoodlums at work and play—dishonest work and mighty rough play!—and the manner in which they are consigned to the state reformatory, the film takes up life at the school.

The institution is presided over by a flabby devil, viciously portrayed by Dudley Diggs, and the most horrible conditions prevail.

Enters one Patsy Gargan, ward healer, gang boss, and now newly elected deputy commissioner whose duty it is once a year to inspect the reformatory and turn in reports. All Gargan's interested in is the salary.

"Yuh can turn in the reports for me, can't you?" he asks Superintendent Thompson. And Thompson thinks that will be just lovely.

And now enters—brought to the scene by a sad and brutal happening—the school nurse, Miss Dorothy Griffith. One look at her and his job becomes important to Gargan. In practically no time at all the heeler has turned reformer and has juggled the works so that he instead of Thompson is in charge of the reformatory. Immediately — enthusiastically assisted by Miss Griffith—they turn the place into a modern, self-governed institution where food is good and faith instead of suspicion is meted out to the young inmates. . . .

Things are spinning along when Thompson returns from his vacation and gets busy; when Gargan runs into some gun trouble in his city ward and when the powers of evil seem all set to sock the powers of good where it hurts worst. Pandemonium reigns at the reformatory—for Thompson fires Miss Griffith and there's no Patsy Gargan there at the minute to see about it. . . . O, well, trust the scenario writer! The finale is just the sort of a well meaning little picture should have.

"While "Mayor of Hell" isn't wildly convincing, it IS different. Mr. Cagney's potent personality and language ring the bell every minute he's in evidence — which is most of the time. Dudley Digges qualifies excellently as the scalawag superintendent. Madge Evans is smartly wholesome as the nurse. Allen Jenkins is funny in his own inimitable fashion as a Gargan henchman who objects to being called "Uncle Mike."

But why go on singling out individuals when really everybody in the cast does a bang up job? (MUST, I guess, hand an extra laurel leaf to young Frankie Darrow, as the boy gang leader. He's immense! And what a short time ago it seems that he was playing baby boy rôles!)

Direction is spotty with bright spots uppermost. Mr. Mayo DID at times sacrifice brevity to enthusiasm, but I think we may say that in "Mayor of Hell" he's turned out a movie that will intrigue the average oldster and youngster.

See you tomorrow!

Sally Invites 100 Children to See Movie

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Well, well—who's coming to our Orpheum theater party? Or didn't you read about it in yesterday's TRIBUNE?

On Tuesday, July 18, 100 boys and girls are invited to come with me to Warner's Orpheum theater to see "Zoo in Budapest," and if you'd like to be one of my guests you'd better hurry that letter, because Wednesday is the last day for judging them, you know! Just write and let me know why you'd like to come, and if you can make me realize that you'll really enjoy the party, your name might be in next Sunday's paper.

In case your mother says, "We-ll, I'm not sure that picture is suitable for you, child," you tell her that this is what our movie critic, Mae Tinée, said about the film:

"Here's a picture that the children will ADORE—but not one whit more than you will yourselves. 'Zoo in Budapest' is clean to the core and as fascinating as it is clean."

Doesn't that sound good?

Now don't forget your instructions, children. I am still eliminating numerous letters because the writers neglect to give ages or addresses. And you MUST write your own letters,—if you want to come to the party you can't have your brother Johnny ask for an invitation for you in his letter. It wouldn't be fair for me to accept as my guest any child who won't even bother to write a note.

So, if you're coming with me on July 18, your letter must be here by next Wednesday. If you'll write Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago, on the envelop, the mailman will see that I get it.

Brocade Bags Are Shopping Thrill of Day

Weaves Follow Tradition of Old Russia.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Even thrillproof shoppers are capitulating to the breath of royal Russian romance fashioned into some of the most irresistible evening bags that any acquiring shopper ever discovered. Quite literally you can now clasp with your own fingers a bit of exquisite brocade, shimmering in either silver, gold, or gleaming colors, and what's more you can own such a bag and keep it forever.

The brocades are Russian . . . woven in Russia, designed by artists who hand down the beautiful patterns from father to son . . . and the bags themselves have been fashioned by a young modern who appreciates the uncopyable loveliness of the brocades.

A special process assures an untarnished surface regardless of weather . . . they are made superlatively, with the glamorous imperial double eagle of ancient Russia stamped in either silver or gold on the moired silk lining of the flaps and under the eagle insignia following the legend that the brocade is designed for the exclusive use of Russian royalty. Some of the designs or patterns were new when Catherine the Great sponsored the beginning of fine textiles, others are bits of shimmering silver brocade taken from the altar brocades with the huge Romanoff R and the royal cross combined in a dramatic monogram as the center pattern . . . while others are made of a glorious, indescribable blue, and silver, or dusky tones of crimson, gold, and yellow accented with gold and silver.

You can buy tiny coin purses of these brocades exquisitely fashioned by hand and edged with tiny seed beads in contrasting colors . . . you can find envelopes or flat easy-to-carry pouches with clever scalloped edges to the numerous inside compartments of stiff heavy moire silk . . . and you can find a gorgeous silver cigarette case made to hold an entire package that is simply perfect. And all these lovely things cannot be duplicated, each piece is as different as the brocades they are made of, each has a bit of fascinating authentic history . . . they are the most exciting, interesting and romantic evening bags any one will ever find.

SWELL GARRICK

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

Swell Garrick—the World's Perfect Tailor's Dummy—is the label given him by those who didn't know that his well molded body had been created by athletic training rather than tailoring skill. Maitland, a crooked gambler, is the purported guardian of lovely Rhoda Fairclourh, unknowingly being used as decoy. Maitland plots to trick Rhoda out of a fortune. Garrick exposes to Rhoda, before Maitland and his gang, their crooked card tricks. Garrick is overpowered by Schewan, Maitland's chief, but defeats Schewan's purpose of burning him alive in his car. Maitland has Rhoda adjudged insane. Garrick knows she has been administered a drug which will produce temporary madness. Having no proof of guilt, he determines to settle the matter in his own way. Garrick learns from his solicitor that if Rhoda can gain and maintain her liberty for twenty-eight days she will be considered legally sane. Garrick undertakes a bold rescue. He escapes to London with Rhoda. At night they burgle their way into a private boat house on the Thames. Alf, a farmhand, out of work, finds their hideout. Garrick hires him as a helper and buys his silence. Next day Garrick returns to his home, where his life is threatened by the gang who have broken into the house.

INSTALLMENT XXV.

A SINGLE HANDED ENCOUNTER.

Swell Garrick, in reasonable fear of almost instant death, found his thoughts racing with such speed that everything else seemed incredibly slow by comparison.

With one hand Garrick was holding Archie Lawson in front of him as a shield—his other hand grasped the jammed automatic. There was a possibility of hurling the automatic at Schewan's head and rushing him.

Instead—he sent the pistol crashing through the window and with such force that the splintering glass seemed scarcely to check its progress.

Then he thrust Lawson forward—part carried, part hurled him onto Schewan's rifle.

Then in the mix up Garrick got the muzzle of the rifle in his own hand.

Now the man who has the muzzle of a rifle in his hand has an enormous leverage against the man who is holding it in readiness to fire.

Garrick, fighting for his life, in better training than any of them, was by far the quickest—but the others were not slow and Garrick knew it.

As he swung the rifle from Schewan, butt curving in the air, he followed with a straight kick to the stomach that sent Schewan reeling against the door. The terrified Lawson slipped behind—crouching by the revolving bookcase—out of the fray.

The butt was swinging on its arc—there was still no time to get anywhere near the trigger. The butt pirouted in midarc and thudded onto George's elbow, causing a yell of pain and knocking the rifle to the floor. All in the same movement, as it seemed, Garrick followed with a rush to grip George, intending to use him in turn as a shield against Dorling's rifle.

As Garrick crashed in, the violence of the impact knocking George down, he heard Dorling's rifle cough through the silencer.

He was certain that he was not hit, yet Dorling had fired—so could not fire again until he had worked the bolt of his rifle. At least there was time to use the rifle he had captured from Schewan.

Garrick swung round the rifle—and made his first miscalculation. Dorling was not where Garrick had mentally placed him. He was rushing out through the doorway, one hand holding the rifle vertically like a walking stick.

"Dorling shows sound sense! The police will be here in a minute to ask where that automatic came from!" laughed Garrick. George was struggling to his feet. "You can go, too, George! You, my dear Gorilla, will wait here," he added, as George scurried through the doorway. "I shall have much pleasure in handing you over and getting you ten years for attempted murder. If you try to draw a revolver you will get one through the heart."

"Huh! And you'd look a swell of a Garrick in court—shooting an unarmed man! You poor gink! Now you've got that gun in your hand you can't plead you're in fear of your life!"

"O, thanks awfully, Gorilla! My law always was a bit groggy. I have firmly fixed in my head the idea that it would be a public service to kill you. When I do kill you, of course, I must see that you have a weapon in your hand. Let us put it like this—try any tricks and I shall have to land you another in the tummy."

Schewan looked as if he contemplated taking the enormous risk of attacking Garrick. Then he shrugged his huge shoulders.

"I'll hand it to you that you can scrap," he grunted. "Next time I'll get you without a scrap."

"In ten years' time?" asked Garrick.

"O! That attempted murder stuff!" Schewan snorted. "There's some one hammering on your front door."

With cold insolence Schewan turned his back and walked slowly down the stairs, Garrick following, one hand on the trigger of the rifle.

At the foot of the stairs Schewan turned toward the kitchen quarters. The hall was tiled and Garrick noticed that Schewan's footsteps made no sound. He was wearing rubber overshoes like large galoshes and Garrick remembered now that the others had been similarly shod.

Keeping Schewan covered, he backed towards the street door and opened it. On the threshold was a constable in uniform and a plain clothes man.

"O, please come in!" Garrick's manner was positively gushing. "Some fellows enticed my servants away and turned up here with the intention of murdering me. They are in the kitchen, I think."

The two men stared at him in surprise. His collar was crumpled and one of the sleeves of his morning coat had been ripped. Added to this was the fact that Garrick was not looking at them but keeping his eye down the passage on the door at the head of the kitchen stairs, while holding "at the ready" a villainous looking rifle with silencer.

There was no one in the kitchen nor the scullery nor the servants' hall. There was no one in the basement and there was no trace of any one having passed into the tiny back yard that gave on to a high wall. The front area door was bolted on the inside. Yet, as there were only these two exits from the kitchen quarters, it was obvious that the wall must have been scaled.

"It seems to me," said the constable diffidently, "that the first thing to find out is whether you've missed anything, sir."

"They weren't out for robbery," said Garrick patiently. "It was murder."

"Where were they when they tried to murder you?"

Garrick did his best to explain and took them upstairs to the library.

"So this was the room, was it!" said the plain clothes man. Then he stopped and a cry broke from him.

His finger pointed at the corner of the room—in the direction of the revolving bookcase. Garrick strode forward.

Lying on the floor, in a pool of blood, was Archie Lawson. The plain clothes man thrust Garrick aside, then stooped over Lawson.

"Dead! Telephone for a doctor, Jarvis! What do you know about this, Mr. Garrick?"

Garrick knew well enough how it had happened. Dorling's rifle had gone off while he himself was tackling George.

The plain clothes man now looked meaningly at the rifle which Garrick still carried.

"A rifle went off in the mixup," answered Garrick. "In the rush I had forgotten all about this man. I was standing here—holding up Schewan, who was in the doorway. I took it for granted that Lawson had slipped out of the room. This fellow wasn't a fighter. . . . That telephone has been cut, constable, and I expect the one downstairs, too."

"You stay here with Mr. Garrick," said the plain clothes man to the constable. "I'll do the telephoning myself. You can wait in the hall and let no one in. Mr. Garrick, just lay that rifle down on the floor, will you?"

In twenty minutes Lanport arrived. There were five others in his car and there were two other cars. There was a doctor, there were photographers, and a couple of mechanics who at once set about mending the telephone.

While the various experts went to work, Garrick, alone with Lanport in the dining room, gave him an account, recording his own movements from the time when the detective had left him that morning.

From time to time they were interrupted by men who came in and handed written slips to Lanport. Nearly an hour had passed before Garrick had finished.

BY MARY MEADE.

We're not very neutral where onions are concerned. We're either mighty fond of the odoriferous vegetable or we "just can't stand them." Some of us are so prejudiced against them that we don't even give them a chance to prove how good they can be.

But I've seen some of the most vigorous "onion haters" devour a goodly portion of a casserole dish such as Hungarian goulash and pronounce it delicious. The onions were there in profusion, but the unsuspecting diners didn't realize they were eating them.

If you like onions, even though you may prefer them from the garden "as is," also serve them buttered, creamed, French fried, glazed, baked, escalloped with cheese, and in salads to keep families enthusiastic and completely appreciative. And remember that garnishes of toast points or dashes of paprika will go a long way in "putting the onions over."

For preparing creamed green onions, wash them, cut off the tops leaving a little of the green end on, and drop into boiling water. Cook them gently about 15 minutes or until tender. Serve with a thin white sauce or with melted butter to which has been added a tablespoon of lemon juice and a little chopped parsley.

STRING BEAN AND ONION SALAD.

2 cups cooked green string beans, cut.
1 cup finely chopped green onions.
6 tablespoons French dressing.

Mix the green beans and chopped onion and marinate with the French dressing. Chill and serve in crisp lettuce cups.

The round onions may be cut into ¼ inch slices, dipped in a thin fritter batter and fried until golden brown, in deep fat, heated to 395 degrees F. Drain them on brown paper and serve hot.

Or sliced onions may be soaked ½ hour in ½ cup of milk combined with ½ cup of water. Dredge with flour and seasonings and fry until a golden brown in deep fat heated to 365 degrees F.

Then, have you yet escalloped onions with cheese. It's a great delicacy.

ESCALLOPED ONIONS.

2 cups boiling water.
1½ cups thin white sauce.
½ teaspoon salt.
¾ cup bread crumbs.
½ cup grated cheese.

Slice the onions thin; drop into the boiling water and boil rapidly for 20 minutes. Drain and stir the onions and salt into the white sauce. Pour into a casserole and cover with the bread crumbs combined with the grated cheese. Bake in a moderately slow oven [325 degrees F.] 40 minutes.

GLAZED ONIONS.

3 tablespoons butter.
3 tablespoons sugar.

Boil the onions until tender. Cook the melted butter and sugar together for 1 minute. Add the onions and stir until well coated. Cook over an asbestos pad for 15 minutes. These are a delicious accompaniment for pork.

To bake onions, place 10 medium sized ones in a buttered casserole and top with 2 tablespoons of brown sugar, 2 tablespoons of butter, and ½ teaspoon salt. Bake in a moderately slow oven [325 degrees F.] about 1 hour.

Catholic League Tour.

The Catholic Woman's league is to have a tour to Mundelein on July 20. Buses will leave the Art institute at 10:30 o'clock. Luncheon will be served upon arrival in Mundelein after which guides will conduct the party through the grounds and buildings of the seminary.

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his case-book covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

THE STICKUP.

"First, raise your hands—all of you," came the quiet, cultured voice of the leader as three swarthy gunmen entered the First National bank of Belmont. "Now," he continued to the vice president, cashier, and bookkeeper, the only people in the bank, lie on the floor, face down. If you do as I say there will be no shooting, but if you do not . . . well!"

The three bandits, with $1,000 in cash and $4,000 in negotiable bonds, jumped into a car in front of the bank and sped down the main street.

Two weeks later three men were rounded up by the county sheriff and his deputies. They were brought in front of the bank employés, who definitely identified the tall, dark skinned man as the leader. As for the other two . . . well, they weren't positive but they were almost sure. being illiterate Mexicans, an interpreter was necessary in their trial before Judge H. M. Winters.

Despite their plea of innocence and a somewhat shaky alibi, they were all convicted and sentenced from one year to life in San Quentin.

The defense attorney, Rautbord, acquainted Fordney with the facts and, after talking to the trial judge and pointing out to him the improbability of the identified leader being actually the bandit, the case was reopened.

By accident one of the three actual bandits was picked up two days later, squealed, and his two companions were arrested. They all confessed and the three innocent men were released. Released, however, without any indemnity from the state for their incarceration, which they should have received.

HOW DID FORDNEY KNOW THE IDENTITY BY THE BANK EMPLOYEES OF THE LEADER WAS ERRONEOUS?

Debutante of Last Season to Be Bride.

Lake Forest for the summer early this week.

The William B. Storeys, who arrived at home last Wednesday from a trip to Europe, are leaving again today for California. They were busy seeing the Fair during the few days they were here, although they expect to be back from California in time to see it again, for they plan to return from Santa Barbara in October.

Mrs. Stewart Warren Towle Jr., the former Janice McNear, and her very young son, Charles McNear Towle, arrived Saturday to visit Mrs. Towle's parents, the Charles W. McNears, in their attractive Highland Park house, which is adjacent to the Exmoor Country club grounds. Her home is at March Field, Riverside, Cal., where her husband, Lieut. Towle, is stationed.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Tuttle, who have been visiting Mr. Tuttle's mother, Mrs. Henry Tuttle, in Lake Forest, are at present with Mrs. Tuttle's brother and sister-in-law, the James L. Houghtelings, in Winnetka. They are going to be in this part of the country until the end of July, when they will return to Millbrook, N. Y. Mrs. Houghteling does not know if her cousins, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall, will be coming to Chicago, as it was rumored they would. She and Mr. Houghteling are starting off on a short motor trip within ten days.

Mrs. Callahan Visits Ambassador.

After a delightful three weeks in Hertfordshire with her son and daughter-in-law, the Miller Callahans, Mrs. Americus F. Callahan returned to London last week to visit her brother-in-law, Robert W. Bingham, American ambassador there.

Mrs. Callahan stopped in London in June to see her niece, Henrietta Worth Bingham, presented to the queen. Then she hurried on to the country, postponing her stay in the city until just before her return. Mrs. Callahan will be back in Chicago the middle of August.

Mrs. Chauncey J. Blair has had to postpone her departure for Camden, Me., where she is to visit Mrs. John J. Borland, again because of illness. She has left St. Luke's, however, and is with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey B. Blair, on Cedar street. Chauncey Borland Blair Jr. will arrive on the 15th to visit his father, which is good news to the young set, for he is a very attractive and good looking man about 20, and he is sure to be in great demand while he is here.

Shriners Open Sessions with Church Services

Atlantic City, N. J., July 9.—(AP)—Welcomed by a flag decked city and boardwalk, the Shriners opened their national convention today, with religious services forming the prelude for the gathering's week of festivities and merry-making. It was announced that 35,000 crippled children have been cared for in the Shriners' hospitals, which have cost the Shriners $4,000,000 for building and $13,000,000 for maintenance. Former Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick of Philadelphia shared in the day's tribute to the hospital work, for, as imperial potentate of the order, he sponsored the Shriners' hospital idea at the 1920 national convention in Portland, Ore.

Oak Park H. S. Graduate Highest in Aptitude Test

George W. Shustek Jr., 518 North Marion street, Oak Park, a graduate in June from Oak Park High school, made the highest score in the aptitude test recently given 500 high school graduates in the Chicago area. He scored 348 points out of a possible total of 382. Kenneth Babcock, 615 North 8th avenue, Maywood, also an Oak Park High school graduate, was second with a score of 341. The test was the same which has been given 43,284 freshmen entering 205 American universities and colleges last year. The median score for the entire group was 163.7 points.

THE STAGE

"Take a Chance," a musical comedy of New York popularity, will have its Chicago premiere in the Erlanger theater tonight, with Olsen and Johnson as its star comedians and Ethel Merman as its prima donna. A radio broadcast from the lobby announcing the better known first nighters as they arrive will be a feature of the opening. A detachment of news reel photographers will also hover about the portals. Thus it appears that the Chicago stage is beginning to manifest the World's Fair spirit. C. C.

Change of Sleeves Can Make an Old Dress Look Refreshingly New, Smart

NEW SLEEVES.

Sleeves are an important part of a dress today. And did you ever see a prettier group of new sleeves than these? You often can make a dress seem entirely new by putting in different sleeves. The sleeves may be of a contrasting color.

The pattern, No. 2598, comes in small, medium, and large sizes.

Indiana Rose.

BY NANCY CABOT.

A patriotic daughter of Indiana designed and pieced the "Indiana Rose" quilt pattern. Printed fabrics were used in the original and continue to be used by other quilt enthusiasts who choose the design. It is doubtful if the pattern would be recognized if made up in plain colors.

For a quilt pattern of this design send 5 cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn.

Naperville Church Opens Celebration of Centenary Week

The centenary of Cook county's second Protestant church was celebrated yesterday at Naperville when old timers gathered at the Presbyterian church in that community. It was organized by the Rev. Jeremiah Porter just 18 days after he had founded the First Presbyterian church of Chicago.

The church was known as the Du Page Presbyterian church. At the time the church was organized Cook county included six other counties. The Rev. Wylie W. Steen of Missouri Valley college, Marshall, Mo., a former pastor, delivered the principal address at the centenary service yesterday. The program of the centennial will continue through this week.

Open Business Women's Meet on Social Note

Two Thousand Are Guests at Buffet Supper.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Famous women flyers, successful women doctors and lawyers—smart women in both the mental and sartorial sense—swarmed yesterday into two of Chicago's largest hotels as the biennial convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women opened on a distinctly social note.

The Stevens hotel is headquarters for the week. Many delegates are quartered also at the Palmer House, where the entire fourth floor was required last night for the buffet supper served by the Illinois State Federation, one of the largest functions in the history of either the hotel or the federation. More than 2,000 women attended the affair, of which Miss Martha Green of Champaign was chairman.

Guests were served in relays of 500 in the Red Lacquer room, while in the grand ballroom national officers and local chairmen greeted a triple line of members at a musical and reception. In the receiving line were Mrs. Geline McDonald Bowman of Richmond, Va., national president; Mrs. Helen M. Schluraff of Erie, Pa., first vice president; Miss Margaret K. Stewart of Phoenix, Ari., corresponding secretary; Miss Celia M. Howard of Elgin, Illinois State Federation president, and Mrs. E. Pearl Warwick, general convention chairman.

This morning the organization launches a series of occupational round tables at the Stevens, in which a large number of vocations will be surveyed from the standpoint of their opportunities for women. On today's schedule are journalism, insurance, medicine, osteopathy, nursing, secretarial work, retail store service, advertising and promotion, cosmetology, real estate, office management, the law, teaching and railroad positions.

Tomorrow morning Miss Ruth Nichols, famous aviatrix, will be chairman of the round table discussion of aviation and its possibilities for women. Mrs. Phoebe Fairgrave Omlie, feminine daredevil and holder of air racing records, will be on the program. Miss Pauline Fredericks, stage star, will be one of the speakers at the motion picture section.

This afternoon a debate on the advisability of uniform marriage laws will feature the round table gathering on the legal profession. Camille Kelley of Memphis, judge of the Juvenile court, will uphold the affirmative and Vivian Grace Gibbon of St. Paul, attorney, the negative.

Mrs. Bowman will officate tomorrow night at the first formal session of the convention. Another of last night's arrivals was Miss Lena Madesin Phillips of New York, past national president and now president of the National Council of Women, which will sponsor the women's congress of A Century of Progress next week.

Throughout the round tables and the general sessions, the theme of future opportunities for women wage earners will be stressed.

More than 4,000 women had registered last night.

Don't Let Scorching Sun Ruin Your Skin.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Ninety per cent of the fun of a vacation is coming back to hear: "My goodness, girl, but you look ten years younger!"

Under the least well planned beauty program you do shed that tired, worried look you left town with. But you can come back now looking a brand new girl, really! First caution, naturally, is not to try to gobble up all the sun's rays you can the first day or two. But you're surely wise enough by now to take your sun tan and protective oils along with you.

In case you don't feel this year that you can spend on this type of cosmetic, buy sweet almond oil, and use it. It is the basic ingredient of the protective and sun tan oils, you know. Anyway, use something so that when you return you won't spoil everything by looking as if your skin were dried to a frazzle.

About your hair, too, you want to use some of the same good common sense. Give it oil after a hard, wind bitten and sun scorched day. The post-vacation beauty of today is not the red faced, peeling nosed, hair bleached girl of a few seasons back. She may be tanned gloriously, but her skin is shining with health and her hair maintains its wholesome gloss.

There's always an hour or two of a vacation daytime that you wonder what you're going to do with. Why not this year use that time—or maybe it's only a half hour—to building for a stunning comeback? Go after face and hair like a professional. Give it a daily massage with your own efficient hands.

You'll find the swimming, hiking, rowing, and tennis, horse back riding and other such good exercises in themselves working marvels in your complexion. But go ahead and cap that natural health restorer with the skin preservative and scalp nourishing foods available to you.

Another thing, you may just as well come back with a better figure. The exercises named will help you. But just figure out how best you can lose a few pounds or gain them, according to need.

"Butterfly's" in Love with Lad Who Charms 'Em

BY DORIS BLAKE.

What would you do were you in "Butterfly's" shoes?

"Butterfly" has fallen hook, line, and sinker for an Adonis, so conceited and heartless that he keeps toll of his many, many conquests and laughs about how readily the girls fall for him. He is handsome, remember that. Every one looks at him on the street. And girls do make idiots of themselves over him. The man's been spoiled since he was 16, with girls, girls, girls on his trail.

"Butterfly" knows all this. She hates his conceit; she deplores his heartlessness. But she loves the fellow, regardless. Not long ago one evening she made up a foursome, including a girl friend, her beau, and this handsome devil. Before the evening was well under way "Butterfly" found herself marooned with the dull gentleman the girl friend brought along and forced to watch said girl friend draping herself all over the Apollo, and listen to her dovelike coos.

To Apollo the girl was just one more scalp to add to his collection. "Butterfly" obviously is the only girl he cares about. And, to repeat, she is mad about him, faults and all.

Your reaction, like mine, no doubt, would be to tell the girl to tell her Beauty to get himself a pedestal in the Metropolitan Art museum and give all the visiting female public a thrill. Why limit such rapture to one social set? But if you're in love, that's no answer! You want to know how to cure the weak one's disease.

Ridicule would be our suggestion as about the only method of handling such superb conceit. It's the one thing a conceited person cannot stand. Of course, the danger is run of so wounding Apollo's feelings he'll turn on "Butterfly." But if contented marriage is at stake, it's better to gamble on a prescribed remedy beforehand than carry the vice along into matrimony with you.

Laura Curtis Engaged to Bostwick, Noted Horseman

New York, July 9.—(AP)—The engagement of Miss Laura Elizabeth Curtis to George Herbert [Pete] Bostwick, noted horseman, was announced tonight by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Freeman Curtis of Roslyn, L. I.

French Blue Meets Eleanor Blue in Capital

BY SUZETTE BARILLET.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The Eleanor blue of Mrs. Roosevelt is meeting the French blue of Madame Laboulaye, for Madame Laboulaye, wife of the ambassador from France to America, chose a Worth dinner frock to wear at informal functions in Washington. This chiffon and lace frock sketched today is in that lovely tone of blue we know as "French."

Every inch of this frock is in this tone of blue, lace, and chiffon both. The lace, which is cobwebby is hand made and dyed to match the dress. It is used to make the sleeves which are set in on raglan seams in front, and to make the entire back of the bodice.

The front of the bodice is made of crepe chiffon, which is draped down over a strass ornament at the base of the neckline. The girdle is a crushed band of chiffon that ties in a tiny bow at the back of the waistline.

The skirt of this frock is given a fitted yoke at the hipline in front, and down the back there is a straight set-in panel. Slight shirrings are placed at the center front and on the sides of this skirt, where it joins the hip-yoke, and it is also circular flared so it is wide at the hem.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Chance to Brighten Home.

"Dear Miss Brown: I am coming to you for help for a family on our list. The family consists of a mother and 3 children. Just 35 years old, she has been a widow for 3 years. Two years previous to his death, her husband deserted her for another woman, and for the last 5 years she has had a most difficult time. She is living in an unattractive 3 room flat with the walls and floors badly in need of paint. As the children are exceptionally nice, I am eager to brighten up their home a little, if possible. They have only a few pieces of furniture, and would welcome a rug and some curtains. I shall be glad to call for anything offered. R. N."

This letter comes from one of the case workers of an organized charity.

Live in Unfurnished Flat.

"Dear Miss Brown: I know of an elderly couple who recently lost their savings, and are now forced to live in an empty flat. They have no furniture of any kind, and I thought perhaps some of your readers might be able to help them. They will be glad to repair anything. M. M."

Wouldn't you like to give your discarded furniture to this elderly pair?

See Success for Colleen Moore's Film

Add Prologue, Epilogue to Comeback Film.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 9.—[Special.]—Colleen Moore's comeback film, "Power and the Glory," is one of those pictures which, in advance of being shown to the public, is heralded within the industry as an expected success. In spite of that, however, the Fox company is now at work revamping it to some extent. A prologue and an epilogue are being added to make the thread of the story stand out more vividly.

J. H. Kerr, a Los Angeles animal owner is asking damages because his educated cockatoo, goat, and monkey were fired from the stage run of "Music in the Air" here. Edward Belasco, of the famous stage family, told Judge Ellis Eagan that he was compelled to dismiss the animal actors "because the human actors refused to work with them after one week."

Kerr said he had a verbal contract for twenty weeks at $42 a week, but Belasco denied this. "How I wish I could look forward to something like that," he testified. "But the truth is, no show has ever run more than seven weeks at the Los Angeles Belasco theater." The judge ruled with Belasco.

The movie title writers still follow the recipe of "Shanghai This" and "Shanghai That" when they want to fasten a title on something romantic and adventurous with scenes laid in the orient.

Spencer Tracy, Fay Wray—the latter with her pretty hair a mess of violent burnt orange—Ralph Morgan, Mundin, Gene Pallette, Albert Conti, Wilhelm von Brinken, and Maude Eburne compose the cast for "Shanghai Madness." Scenes shot from the deck of what represents a weather-beaten Chinese river steamer, show such a ralistic waterfront of shacks, hovels, and warehouses along the studio's specially created "river" that an onlooker almost feels out of place without a kimono.

17,000 at Opening of Oxford Centenary at London Stadium

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 9.—Unprecedented scenes were witnessed at the White City sports stadium tonight when an Anglo-Catholic centenary service was held on the track ordinarily used for greyhound racing. Seventeen thousand persons attended the impressive open air service inauguarating the week of the Oxford centenary celebrations in London—the largest Church of England congregation ever brought together. On the green turf was erected a large altar at which the bishop of St. Albans officiated. The preacher was the Rev. Dr. Williams, rector of St. Mary the Virgin, New York.

Obedience Is Tool, Not an End in Itself

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Obedience is not an end in itself. It is a tool—a means to an end.

If you will think of it in that way, it will have the effect of revolutionizing your management of your children, especially if you are having trouble with them. It will keep you from the mistake of thinking that made one mother write me: "I cannot conquer my 5 year old boy. I am harassed to death."

We don't want to conquer children. Far from it. We want to so train them that eventually they will be masters of themselves. They must be guided so that in time they will know how to direct their own energies, thoughts, and emotions. We do not want to conquer them.

Therefore, we do not want to teach them to obey simply because subjugation is good. We want to gain obedience because it is not possible without it for us to protect them, to guard their health, to train them, and to make them members of society.

For instance, one of our aims is to help them to form regular habits of eating, sleeping and bathing. Our aim is not obedience but without obedience how can we build up a healthful routine in these three essentials? We can't.

Another aim is physical protection, especially of the younger child.

A similar aim with the older child applies to protecting him from the world at large—mentally and socially and as far as his health is concerned. A boy or girl who has learned to obey comes straight home from school when he or she is told, comes home from a party at the designated time, and generally falls in with a way of living which is planned lovingly and intelligently for his or her good.

Brushes Away Gray Hair Keeps Permanent Wave

Now you can really look years younger. With an ordinary small brush you just tint those streaks or patches of gray back to your natural shade—whether blonde, brown or black. It is so easy to do—at home—with Brownatone. Over 20 years' success. Guaranteed harmless. Active coloring agent is purely vegetable. Defies detection. No tell-tale, "dyed" look. Cannot affect waving of hair.

No need to guess. First cut a lock of hair from your head and apply a little of this famous tint. If Brownatone does not give your gray, streaked, dull, or faded hair its natural color, youth and luster, your money back. Only 50c.

Beach First-Aid Stations Find NOXZEMA Best Remedy

...greaseless, too, doesn't stain clothes!

"WE'VE tried just about every known remedy for sunburn at Coney Island First-Aid Stations—and we've found that the only sure way to relieve sunburn is to use Noxzema Cream," says John McMonigle, Chief of Coney Island Life-Guards.

Mr. McMonigle knows what is best for sunburn—he and his staff have tried all the well known remedies—treating thousands of cases every year. Noxzema was carefully tested—it has been used for five years steadily as the only sunburn remedy at Coney Island First-Aid Stations. It is also used at most other big beaches.

Don't take chances with a painful sunburn—get an inexpensive jar of Noxzema. It is not greasy. It's a snow-white stainless vanishing cream which sinks deep into your burned skin. Notice how soft, cool and soothing it feels on your hot, aching shoulders—how it takes out the "fire"—ends all pain instantly.

There's only one thoroughly tested sunburn remedy—that's Noxzema. Get a jar now at any drug or department store.

CUBS WIN, 4-0 AND 2-1; SWEEP GIANT SERIES

MAYOR TO LEAD CITY IN RECEPTION FOR IRISH BOXERS

TEAM TO ARRIVE JULY 20; FIGHTS CHICAGO AUG. 2

Parade from Station to City Hall.

BY ARCH WARD.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly will head the delegation of Chicago sportsmen who will welcome the amateur boxing champions of Ireland on their arrival July 20. The boxers, escorted by a band and hundreds of fans, will be taken from the Union station to the mayor's office for the city's official welcome.

The committee which has been appointed to greet the young men from across the sea at the station includes many of Chicago's most widely known citizens. The reception, however, is not limited to the persons who have been invited to represent various organizations. Everybody is welcome.

Last year the biggest crowd ever in the Union station turned out to shout hello to the German boxers. It is expected that the throng this year will be even larger.

Horan in Charge of Parade.

Al Horan, Municipal court bailiff, will be in charge of the parade. The boxers will arrive on the Golden Arrow of the Pennsylvania lines at 11:50 a. m. July 20. The parade will form in Canal street and will proceed up Jackson boulevard to La Salle street and north in La Salle to the city hall.

After the reception in the mayor's office the boys will be taken to the Midwest Athletic club where they will train for their bouts with Chicago's Golden Gloves champions at Soldiers' field Aug. 2.

The west side, which claims a larger Irish population than any other section of the city, will be host to the Irish boxers Friday evening, July 21. Business and professional leaders will attend a dinner at the Midwest Athletic club at 6 o'clock, after which will come a public reception in Garfield park. A band will play a program of Irish airs, speakers will try to tell the boxers they are among friends, and every one will be invited to stay for outdoor dancing after the talks.

The west side reception is being arranged by William Druley, president of the Midwest A. C., and Julian T. Fitzgerald, chairman of the club's athletic committee.

On South Side July 24.

Not to be outdone by the west side, the south side will entertain the boys the following Monday evening, July 24. The south side program will be concluded with a street dance in Jackson park. Sixty-third street, from Stony Island avenue to the first drive east, will be roped off for dancing.

Patrick W. Barrett is chairman of the south side committee. Assisting him are James M. Whalen, sanitary district trustee; William H. McDonnell, south park commissioner and president of the Englewood Business Men's association; Frank J. O'Brien, president of the Greater South Side Chamber of Commerce; Herbert Byfield, president of the Woodlawn Business Men's association; M. Cohen, secretary of the Englewood Business Men's association; Frank Reynolds, president of the Brainerd Business Men's association; Charles C. Blish, president South Shore Real Estate board; William J. Oliver, president Chicago Irish-American Goodfellowship club.

Public officials who will meet the Irish champions at the train follow:

Mayor Edward J. Kelly; P. A. Nash, chairman Democratic central committee; Thomas J. Courtney, state's attorney; Edward J. Hughes, secretary of state; Thomas F. Donovan, lieutenant governor; Edward J. Barrett, state auditor; Emmett Whealan, president county board; Robert Sweitzer, county clerk; Peter J. Brady, city clerk; James J. Kearns, city treasurer; William H. Sexton, corporation counsel.

Michael L. Igoe, south park commission; Richard J. Collins, president civil service commission; William J. Lynch, harbormaster; Albert J. Horan, Municipal court bailiff; Joseph Gill, clerk of Municipal court; James P. Allman, commissioner of police; John Alcock, deputy commissioner of police.

Michael Corrigan, chief of fire department; Daniel J. Carmody, fire commissioner; John E. Conroy, clerk of Circuit court; Joseph B. McDonough, county treasurer; Martin McNally, member of board of local improvements; George E. McGrath, superintendent of streets; Fred Maguire, election commissioner; Joseph P. Geary, civil service commission.

Congressmen Edward Kelly, Harry Beam and Thomas O'Brien; Senators George Maypole and Richey V. Graham.

County Commissioners Peter M. Kelly, Daniel Ryan, Maurice Kavanagh, Mary McEnerney, Mrs. Glenn E. Plumb, Mrs. E. J. Fleming.

Judges of Superior Court: John M. O'Connor, Denis E. Sullivan, John P. Sullivan, James J. Kelly, Walter Stanton, Walter P. Steffen.

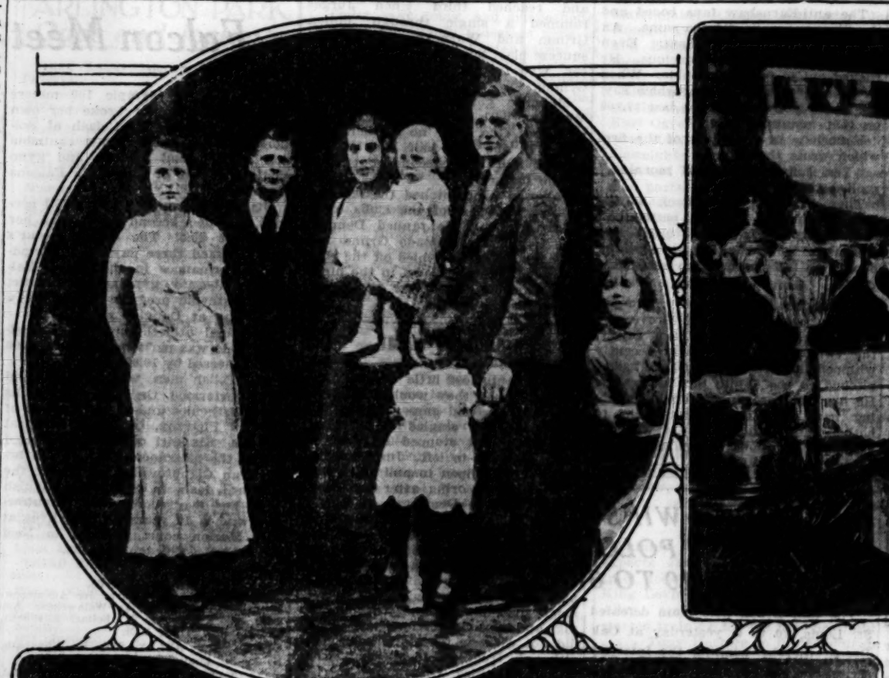
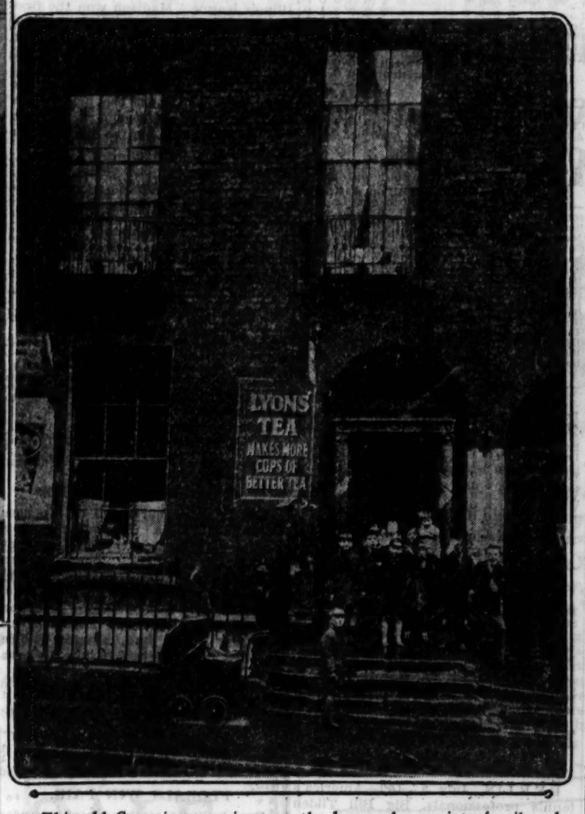
IRELAND CALLS PADDY WORLD'S GREATEST FEATHERWEIGHT



Patrick Hughes of Dublin, Irish Free State featherweight champion, displays some of the trophies his iron fists have won.

Hughes (seated), who will sail from Southampton Wednesday to represent the Free State in International Golden Gloves bouts at Soldiers' field on Aug. 2, is an apprentice printer on the Irish Press, a Dublin daily. A group of his fellow workers wish him luck. In the upper picture Paddy (right) poses with his two sisters, a brother and his nieces outside their Gardiner street home.



This old Georgian mansion was the home of a society family when the Gardiner street district was the best residential section of Dublin. Society since has drifted southward across the Liffey and Boxer Paddy Hughes lives here now with his brother and mother.

It's a Mistake to Punch Mr. Hughes

BY JERRY CURRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, July 9.—The Gardiner street district, where the fine old Georgian houses once sheltered the cream of Dublin society before the flow of city life drifted southward across the Liffey, gives to the Free State one of the greatest featherweight fighters in the world.

He is Paddy Hughes, 22 year old apprentice printer, who on Wednesday embarks on his second American invasion within a year to compete in an important international contest. Hughes will represent the Free State against the Chicago featherweight champion in the International Golden Gloves bouts at Soldiers' field on the night of Aug. 2.

Puts Favorite in Hospital.

Last summer he fought for the Free State at Los Angeles, providing the most talked of fight in the Olympic games. An unpopular three round decision was given against him in his first round match with Carlos

Pro League May Adopt Hockey Plan

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Chicago's professional football season will begin Oct. 15 when the Bears and the Cardinals meet at Wrigley field. This was revealed by the schedule arranged yesterday for the ten teams in the National Professional Football league by the club owners at the Blackstone hotel. The schedule, however, is tentative and it will not be released until later.

The Chicago Bears will open their schedule at Green Bay, Wis., on Sept. 24. The Packers, who relinquished the league title last fall to the Bears after three years, probably will be seen at Wrigley field three times, twice against the Bears and once against the Cardinals. The Cardinals will play all their home games on the north side again.

Plan Sectional Titles.

The magnates have under consideration adoption of sectional cham-

A KNOCKOUT!

This Easy Golden Gloves Ticket Plan!

Today's the time for all good fight fans to buy their tickets to the International Golden Gloves matches between the champions of Ireland and the champions of Chicagoland at Soldiers' field Aug. 2.

And just to make it easy, there are 178 places in the Chicago area where you can buy seats. Beginning this morning, just call around at your neighborhood Walgreen Drug Store (all 175 stores are handling tickets), or go to the Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street, Room 530 Tribune Tower, or the Midwest Athletic club.

Ringside prices are $3.30, $2.50, $2, and $1.10. There are nearly 30,000 seats available at 55 cents. All are reserved and all provide an unobstructed view of the ring.

Out of town fans and others who prefer to order by mail may send check or money order, payable to Chicago Tribune, to Golden Gloves Ticket Manager, Room 530 Tribune Tower, Chicago. Telephone orders may be placed by calling Superior 0100 and asking for Local 466 or 530.

PARKER WHIPS MAKO FOR CLAY COURTS CROWN

Frankie Wins in Straight Sets, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

Frankie Parker of Milwaukee is the new master of America's clay tennis courts.

The 17 year old Milwaukeean, who changed his name from Pajkowski to Parker, won the championship in convincing fashion at the Chicago Town and Tennis club yesterday by defeating Gene Mako, University of Southern California star, with an avalanche of prize shots in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

It was the third national crown won by Parker. Previously he had captured the national boys' title and the national junior championship, defeating Mako each time in the finals.

Mako in Lead Once.

Parker was an easy victor yesterday as he stormed through his far huskier but less experienced rival before a crowd of 2,000. He led all the way except for a brief spell in the third set when Mako took the lead, 3-2. Rallying with deep lobs and bringing his famous backhand into play, Parker broke through Mako after that, won the next four games and the set, match and title.

In points Parker excelled his rival, 100 to 68. He lost his service only twice to Mako's seven, and only nine games of the 27 went to deuce. Mako failed to score a single ace, principally because of foot faults.

Parker Starts Fast.

Frankie, clad in white knickers and appearing about 14 years old, broke through Mako's service to win the first game of the match, 4-2. He lost the third on Mako's service after deucing it and then reeled off three straight games at 4-1. Mako stopped his march in the eighth after another hard fought deuce game, 6-4, but Frankie won the set by taking the final game, 4-1. During the set Parker outpointed Mako, 34 to 23, making only 13 errors to Mako's 27.

The second set was hard fought, with the two players all square at 3 all after six games. But again Parker stepped on the gas and won the set with game victories at 4-0, 4-1, and 5-3, scoring 31 points to Mako's 19. In that set he committed only 12 errors, nine of them outs, to Mako's 19.

Mako Makes Rally.

Mako's best showing came in the final set. He came back after losing the first two games to win three in succession. Parker, however, rallied sharply and breezed in with four successive game victories at 4-1, 6-4, 6-4, 4-0. Placements, scored by cutting the chalked sidelines with deadly accurate shots, carried Frankie over. Mako committed fewer errors, making 16 to Parker's 20.

Mako, teamed with Jack Tidball in an all-Los Angeles combination, came back to land the doubles title with a 6-2, 2-6, 7-5, 4-6, 6-0 triumph over John McDiarmid, Fort Worth, Tex., and Robert [Lefty] Bryan, Chattanooga, Tenn.

Point and game score by sets:

First Set [Won by Parker, 6-3.]

Parker .....4 4 3 4 4 4 3 4 4—34
Mako .....2 1 5 1 1 1 5 6 1—23

CRONIN LOSES POINT IN RACE FOR BIG 6 LEAD

Joe Cronin was the only member of the big six to get into action yesterday and all he had to show for his efforts was one hit, a single, in three official times at bat. As a result the Washington manager lost a point in the race for batting honors, dropping to .367, three behind Jimmie Foxx and one behind Chuck Klein. The standing:

WARNEKE HURLS 6 HIT SHUTOUT; TINNING VICTOR

Bud Singles to End Duel in Ninth.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs got right up in the pennant race with a bang yesterday when Lon Warneke whipped Carl Hubbell, 4 to 0, in the first game of the double header with the Giants and Bud Tinning followed up with a four hit masterpiece to beat Freddy Fitzsimmons, 2 to 1. Tinning drove in the winning run in the ninth inning of the second game.

The double victory gave the Cubs four straight in their series with the league leading Giants whom they now trail by four games. The Cubs rose to third place, passing Pittsburgh, and are now a game back of the second place Cardinals.

Both games were thrillers, though Tinning had to work much harder to put over his great show than did Lonnie, who permitted only two runners to reach third, although he allowed six hits. Tinning gave the 33,000 customers gooseflesh because the Giants made a run in the first inning and the Cubs couldn't effect a tie until the sixth.

Fitting End to Program.

The ending was such as befitted a highly dramatic afternoon of baseball. Bill Jurges doubled with one down in the ninth, the fourth hit off Fitzsimmons, and went to third on a wild pitch, whence he scored on the Cubs' fifth and Tinning's second hit of the game, a single to left.

The first game was Warneke's tenth victory of the year and his second shutout against the Giants. Tinning's victory was his seventh straight. Tinning has lost only one game, and since that one was plastered on him May 4 by this same Fitzsimmons by a score of 2 to 1, the revenge yesterday was perfectly balanced.

By sweeping the series with the Giants and taking two out of three from the Reds, the Cubs have won six out of seven since limping out of Brooklyn after a double header a week ago yesterday. Last Sunday night the Cubs were 9½ games back of the Giants. In one short week, in which they laid off two days, the Cubs made a net gain of 5½ games on the league leaders.

Giants Make Five Errors.

The Giants committed five errors in the infield during the afternoon, all of them in the jams. Three of the Chicago runs in the first game technically were unearned, but the one that was earned, the first one, was undefiled, not that it makes any difference. The tying run in the second game was unearned because of two errors. These things are cited just to reveal how jumpy the Giants have become.

While it primarily was a pitchers' day, the Cubs scarcely could have romped the way they did without some great fielding plays. Jurges was a whirlwind at short time after time and Bill Herman sparkled on several occasions, as did Mosolf. The palm probably will be awarded to Demaree and Koenig for a play in the Giants' ninth inning of the second game.

Ott Caught at Third.

With the score tied at 1 all and one down, Ott was safe on Grimm's error. Vergez then singled to center, and Ott seemed to have a good chance to reach third. But Demaree, with a full head of steam, scooped up the ball and shot it to Koenig, who with lightning dexterity slapped it on Ott. That play sank the Giants for keeps. Moore followed with a hop to Jurges for the last dying wiggle in the New Yorkers' unhappy stay in our cool city.

FIRST GAME

The first three innings gave the two coteries of sluggers little about which to boast and the base runners little on which to reflect. In these first three innings the Giant hitting was confined to a single by Moore with one out in the second. Joe didn't advance. In the same span the Cubs made two singles, the first by Demaree with one out in the second and one with which Grimm led off the third. Neither runner advanced.

In the fourth the Giants stirred up a little fun. After Warneke had thrown out Terry, Ott singled past English and went to second when Vergez also shot a ground single to left. Moore sent a long fly to Demaree and Ott took third after the catch. Vergez tried to steal second but was out, Hartnett to Jurges, after Gabby had feinted Ott back to third.

Score Without Hit.

The Cubs got their fourth inning run home without the aid of a hit or error. Bill Herman walked, the first pass issued by Hubbell in 24 2-3 innings of National league pitching. Cuyler then bunted and it was recorded as sacrifice fielder's choice when Mancuso threw to Jackson too late to force Bill Herman at second. Hubbell walked Babe Herman, filling the bases with none out. Demaree filed to Moore, Bill Herman scoring. Cuyler, however, was doubled, Moore to Vergez, when he tried to reach third. Hartnett singled to left, putting Babe Herman on third. The inning ended when Hubbell threw out Grimm.

Here is the detail in which the collapse of Vergez led to the chasing of Hubbell in the fifth. Jurges opened with a bunt which Vergez completely over ran, the ball popping along into

RUTH HITS THREE HOMERS; YANKS TRIUMPH TWICE

Tigers Lose Opener, 11-7; Drop Second, 7-6.

New York, July 9.—(AP)—Babe Ruth was the mighty man again today and led the Yankees out of their slump to a double victory over the Detroit Tigers, 11 to 7 and 7 to 6. The Babe clouted three home runs, bringing his total to 22 and leaving him only two behind Jimmie Foxx in the major league race, and drove in six runs.

BABE RUTH.

Ruth's first two homers came off Lynwood [Schoolboy] Rowe's delivery in the first game, each with a man on base, the third off Tommy Bridges in the second contest. The double victory left the Yanks four games behind Washington.

Bill Dickey also knocked in six Yankee runs, hitting a homer in the opener. Charley Ruffing hurled fine relief ball to win the first game.

KUHNS DEFEATS ALBERT IN CHESS GAME AT FAIR

Dr. M. S. Kuhns, president of the National Chess deferation, defeated Dr. Allen D. Albert, assistant to President Rufus C. Dawes of A Century of Progress in the first of a series of outdoor chess games in the Hall of Science at the Fair yesterday, in which living models, dressed in medieval Persian costumes, moved on a 60 foot chessboard.

The players were seated at a regulation chessboard overlooking the large board, and their moves were called by a herald, following which the heralds on the main board moved the living pieces from position to position.

The second outdoor game will be played Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Twenty moves were required for Kuhns to checkmate the red king. After the pageant the intercollegiate contests resumed.

Edward M. Borsodi of Yale, a first round winner, was defeated in the first second round match by Justin J. Naviski of Maine, who scored his first win in 41 moves. Other results:

Willis E. Lamb of California defeated John D. Matheson, West Point, in 33 moves.

Martin C. Stark, Harvard, won from Seymour Oather, Illinois, in 37 moves.

Nathan D. Beckhardt, College of the City of New York, won from Melvin E. Valk of Wisconsin after 37 moves.

Cincinnati, O., July 9.—(AP)—Only four percentage points kept the Cincinnati Reds from sharing the National league cellar with the idle Phillies after losing a double header to the Boston Braves today, 3 to 2 in ten innings, and 3 to 1.

Derringer lost his own game in the first contest, allowing singles by Berger and R. Moore after hitting Jordan in the tenth. The second contest developed into a tight battle between Frankhouse and Lucas. Lucas was hit more freely, but was saved by a succession of double plays. Scores:

DODGERS, CARDS SPLIT.

St. Louis, Mo., July 9.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals split a double header today, Ralph Boyle, Brooklyn outfielder, ending a tenth inning tie to give Brooklyn the first game, 8 to 6, and Tex Carleton shutting out the Dodgers, 2 to 0, in the final.

Boyle broke the tie in the first contest with a triple, scoring Hutcheson and Shaute. The Dodgers pounded Bill Hallahan for ten hits and five runs in seven innings and gained an early lead.

Tilden and Barnes Beat Germans in Tennis, 4 to 1

BERLIN, July 9.—(AP)—America's tennis professionals, Big Bill Tilden and Bruce Barnes, defeated Germany in an international series completed today, 4 victories to 1. The Americans won both of the final singles matches. Barnes defeated Roman Majuch, 4-6, 6-1, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, and Tilden conquered Hans Nusslein, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2. Nusslein beat Barnes on Friday for Germany's only victory.

Fonseca Has His Worries With Pitchers and First Base

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., July 9.—Some time between now and 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon Lew Fonseca, who manages the White Sox, hopes to locate two pitchers whom he can suspect of having strength enough to work a double header against the Mackmen. The manager's hopes, however, are not strong, and he admits it. He's seen all but five starting pitchers knocked out in the last 26 games played by the Chicagoans, and when you ponder pitching performances such as these you must wonder how the team is able to win at all. Hitting is the answer.

JOE HEVING.

The two who may get assignments tomorrow are Milt Gaston, about the only consistent one of the lot during the pitching drought, and Walter Miller, the southpaw, who hasn't done much since the surprising one hit game against Washington more than a month ago. There also is a possibility that Joe Heving might be started instead of Miller. Heving has been used only in relief roles, but Fonseca is so desperate he is thinking of making starters of rescuers and rescuers of the men who have been flops as starters.

One Hurler Must Go.

The pitchers also are providing Fonseca with worry from another source. He must unload one of them within a few days. Harold Haid, purchased from the Coast league, is due to report at Washington the middle of the week and he can't join up officially until room is made within the 23 player limit.

On the basis of what half a dozen of the pitchers have done lately any one of them could be dismissed without ceremony, but Fonseca has to figure on the possibility that some or them might begin producing later in the race. He has even thought of taking himself off the active list to make room for the newcomer, but he doesn't want to do this until he knows he is getting a man who positively will be of help.

Sullivan Is Problem.

Another thing that is causing Fonseca concern, not to mention what the other players think about it, is first base. Billy

CLASSIC WINNER? THEY CAN'T EVEN PICK A FAVORITE!

Arlington Fans Sure of Good Price Saturday.

BY FRENCH LANE.

There was much deep thinking and considerable tongue wagging among the horsemen and the followers of the horses at Arlington Park yesterday.

It all had to do with the $35,000 Classic stakes to be run there on next Saturday afternoon. For here they were, these wise men of the turf, on the threshold of one of the most important races of the year in America—an event which in the past has decided championships—and they were not only bewildered as to the probable winner, but they couldn't pick the horse that will rule as the favorite in the wagering.

Twenty-five in Training for Race.

There is a reason for such a situation, of course, and Joseph McLennan, the Arlington racing secretary, pointed it out to a group of Classic dopesters during the training hour yesterday morning.

"There are 25 candidates at Arlington now which are actually pointing for the Classic," he said. "Two or three others will come in early this week from the east. That gives us a possible field of about 27, and while I hardly believe as many as twenty will go to the post, just consider the records of the more likely starters.

"Fourteen are double stakes winners either in their 2 or 3 year old campaigns. They represent the winners of all the great stakes that have been run during that time except the Kentucky Derby, and if Col. Bradley's Brokers Tip, which won it, were physically fit to run in the Classic, he would only add to the maze and the mystery of the whole thing."

Favorite May Be 5 to 1.

McLennan further advanced the opinion that unless something bordering on the sensational develops either in a race or in the training activities this week, the favorite in the Classic will be at least 5 to 1 in the betting. It is an unheard of situation for a mid-summer 3 year old stake event.

The post of honor would seem to rest between Mr. Khayyam, the American Derby, Woods Memorial and Chesapeake stakes winner, and Head Play, Preakness winner and narrowly beaten in the Kentucky Derby.

But since they gained their early season fame, there have been new developments. Man o' War's son, War Glory, won the Dwyer stakes in New York, and only good horses capture that stake. Gold Basis, a stablemate of Gusto, last year's Classic winner, dropped down into Kentucky and showed a great performance to win the Latonia Derby.

How About the Fillies?

Okapi, another from New York, won the Sheridan purse at Arlington on Saturday so convincingly that his Classic stock soared to new heights. Then also the four great fillies of the division, Barn Swallow, Swivel, Edelweiss and Bamboula, will be as fit on Classic day as trained hands can make them. It isn't at all improbable that the Classic will result in a filly triumph.

Just to add to the confusion, Kerry Patch, last year's Belmont Futurity winner, which has lately reached top form, stepped off the cars from New York yesterday. You could tell by the Irish twinkle in his eyes that he has something up his sleeve.

New Star May Shine Today.

No doubt another, or possibly two or three outstanding candidates will develop out of the running of the Rio Grande purse—a dash at a mile—at Arlington this afternoon. This is another Classic warmup. Classic candidates coming together in this race will be Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Sun Apollo and Dark Winter, Audley Farm's Knight's Gal, W. R. Coe's Pomposity and Pomponius, Norman W. Church's Northgalis, J. E. Hughes' Silent Shot, and Mrs. J. H. Whitney's Poppyman.

A sensational performance here could easily make a Classic favorite out of the colt that shakes such a race out of his system.

A victory for Mr. Khayyam, Head Play, Gold Basis, War Glory, Barn Swallow or Swivel will just about prove that the 3 year old championship situation has at last been cleared up. A triumph by any of the others might indicate that the 3 year old champion still is hiding out behind somebody's big red barn.

Pereyra of Argentina, but he battered the South American, who was expected to win the Olympic championship, so mercilessly that Pereyra had to be taken to a hospital, physically unfit to compete further in the games.

Hughes is a product of a quarter where life is a struggle for existence, often bitter but never relaxed. Gardiner street folk are a democratic, resourceful, hard working lot. Trouble is an infrequent visitor among these peaceful people, but it finds in them a bitter foe. This environment has left its mark on Hughes.

Quiet, easy going, and sympathetic, Hughes apparently possesses none of the requisites for a fighter except his powerful shoulders and big fists. In each of 110 fights his condescending nature has been manifest until he has been stung. The first solid blow his opponent lands inevitably electrifies Paddy into a savage, two fisted mauler. Paddy must be hit to fight, but once he is hit, he must be pried from his foe.

Fighting Lust Is Recent.

"The funny thing is, I never started out to box," he explained. "Some of the fellows used to do a bit of sparring in an old kitchen down the street, and when they had enough of it they would play cards. I used to come and watch them at the cards. Then one night they made me strip and put me in with a lad who was fairly good. We got along all right until he hit me too hard. I went for him straight away and leathered him until he had to stop."

The kitchen encounter, however, left Paddy with no interest in the sport. Sometime later, though, he saw his uncle fight Frank Cooper and Mossy Doyle, two well known boxers in the Free State, at the Queen's theater in Dublin. The cheers of the crowd and the thrill of the milling fascinated him and he immediately joined the old North City club, which since has gone defunct. In a short time he was given his first public bout against a youngster from the Unity club. The youngster stung Paddy in the first minute of fighting, unfortunately, and Paddy hammered him into a technical knockout before the end of the round.

Whips German Champion.

He lost his second fight on points, but scored a one round knockout in his third public appearance, then went on to win the juvenile championship in 1927. The following year he fought and defeated Mickey Culbert, Olympic featherweight runner-up in 1928, and Corporal McDonough, the army and all-Ireland champion. He was selected for the Irish team which went to Berlin to meet the German champions in the fall of 1928 and won his fight.

Hughes continued his triumphant march through club and public matches until he reached the training period for the Chicago invasion with a record of 102 victories in 110 starts. Fifty-five of the victories were knockouts. His last defeat came late in 1932 after the Olympic games, when a team of American fighters toured Europe.

Paddy was matched with Mike Belloise, a terrific puncher with a record of 57 knockouts. His experience in the Olympic games had left Hughes eager for revenge. He entered intensive training and waited impatiently for the day of the fight. A week before the bout his father was stricken with influenza. The illness became critical almost immediately, and Hughes withdrew from the fight.

He Fights, But Loses.

The father, learning of Paddy's withdrawal from a sister, made Paddy promise that under no circumstances would he fail to appear against Belloise. Death claimed the father two days before the fight and Paddy, fulfilling his father's wish, fought the American. It was a close fight, and Belloise was awarded the decision, although he had not hurt Hughes throughout the three rounds.

Hughes is employed by the Irish Press, a Dublin daily, and expects to be made a full fledged compositor before the end of the year. His chief fault, he claims, is an uncontrollable inclination to hit too hard when he is "annoyed" by his opponent. He was "annoyed" a little by Antonio de Martini, the Italian champion, in their bout June 8, and dropped Martini for two nine counts.

KEN MASTERS HURT IN SPEED RACE CRASH

Ken Masters was seriously injured at the Evanston Motor Speedway yesterday when his automobile overturned on the northwest embankment during the running of the One Hoss Shay Derby, a junk car race. He was taken to the Evanston hospital, where it was said he would recover.

Two of the three sprint races on yesterday's card were won by Ken Breeding, Gorden Chard, holder of the track record, won one. Jimmy Schneider and Emil Andres were forced out in the time trials through motor trouble. Results:

TEN LAPS—Won by Ken Breeding; Paul Markegraf, second; Bill Ruch, third.

TEN LAPS—Won by Gorden Chard; Tom Slattery, second; Ted Wilmes, third.

FIFTEEN LAPS—Won by Wes Breeding; Gordon Chard, second; Bill Ruch, third.

JUNK CARS—Won by Bud Willeumeier; Walter Meyer, second.

Leonard to Have Weight Edge in Bout with Di Vodi

Kid Leonard will have an advantage of eight pounds over Andy Di Vodi in an eight round fight tomorrow night at Western stadium. Leonard, a 160 pound fighter, must make 156 for Di Vodi, who weighs 148. Di Vodi will be making his fourth appearance in Chicago.

Cliff Greenwood, southern welterweight, will meet Frankie Hughes of Clinton, Ind., in the six round semi-final.

The card scheduled tomorrow at the Johnny Coulon club has been canceled. Coulon has completed negotiations with Herbert Byfield, head of the White City Amusement company, to present a show at the White City outdoor arena on July 18. At the Rainbo Fronton Friday night Matchmaker Coulon will offer Joe Roman, Pete Blanchard, Art Donovan and Eddie Chinski against suitable foes.

Boxing fans are looking for a knockout in the eight round bout between Kari Ogren and Bud Saltis at Northwest stadium Wednesday. Both middleweights have displayed aggressiveness and hard punching against sparring partners. Neither will have any difficulty reducing to the agreed poundage of 163.

Johnny Fitzpatrick will replace Paul Dempsey against Tony Muscarello in the six round semi-final if Dempsey doesn't come out of hiding. Shortly after he signed for the match Dempsey disappeared. Muscarello has a winning streak of eight straight. Matches at four rounds will bring together Steve Pajdo and George Engel and John Mirabal and Sammy Bernstein.

Stanley Seliga and Joe Margetic will wrestle at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street tonight. Boxers will compete in seven other bouts. Any boy registered with the Central A. A. U. is eligible to enter. Drawing will be by lot.

Sammy Wolff, Chicago promoter, expects Jack Sharkey's signed contract today for a match here with King Levinsky on Sept. 7. . . Hugh Allen, amateur featherweight, has started training for his first pro fight. . . . Tony Herrera is in Pittsburgh, Pa., where he will face Lew Raymond tonight.

Hold Meet in Washington on Duck Laws

BY BOB BECKER.

Thousands of Illinois hunters will be listening for reverberations from the meeting of the waterfowl advisory board this week because the conservationists are to gather in Washington and again mull over the problems which affect the sport of duck and goose hunting.

The advisory board of the migratory bird treaty act is the body which listens to evidence on the relative abundance or scarcity of waterfowl, argues about the length of the season, hears talks on duck baiting, bag limits, zoning, and all other problems concerning migratory waterfowls. Then it makes a recommendation to the department of agriculture regarding our waterfowl seasons and hunting rules.

Here Are the Questions.

This year the prediction is that there will be orations delivered before the board in Washington on the following questions:

Should the United States government prohibit the practice of feeding wild ducks or geese with hunters occupying blinds on or near the feeding grounds? There is a certain group of conservationists who are going to take the floor at Washington on this question and insist that the biological survey do something about it. As far as we can determine [with the east shying away from this subject] the feeling is that this question of feeding ducks corn, wheat, etc., is up to the states. Conservationists grant that there are abuses connected with the distribution of artificial feed to waterfowl. But many of them want the states to handle this factor in hunting.

Should the bag limit be reduced? There will be discussion on this because some of the leaders who are stirring up the duck baiting question also want the bag limit reduced to ten ducks per day.

Illinois May Be Zoned.

Should Illinois be zoned for waterfowl hunting with the northern part of the state getting an earlier season than the lower half? The zoning proposition has been in the air for some time and has caused all kinds of excitement among hunters. Irrespective of whether it is wise, practical, or to the advantage of the majority of hunters to divide the state in shooting zones there seems to be a tendency on the part of eastern officials to not touch the zoning business in this or any state.

Once opened up the rest of the year would be spent trying to satisfy duck hunters with intricate zones so that everybody would get the best bags of ducks. In addition to these questions the length of the 1933-'34 season is also due for an airing with some wanting a 45 day season and others demanding the same 60 day season.

HUTCHISON AND ARMOUR WIN IN EXHIBITION GOLF

Beat Cooper and Walsh, 2 and 1.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Tommy Armour of Medinah and Jock Hutchison of Glen View yesterday defeated Harry Cooper of Glen Oak and Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr, 2 and 1, in an 18 hole exhibition match at the Westgate Valley Golf club.

The match was specially arranged by Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley, vice president of the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association. All four of the competitors were judges in THE TRIBUNE golf school's form contest at Mid-City last Wednesday night. The fifth member of the jury, Bob MacDonald, acted as referee yesterday. As a result of their victory, Armour and Hutchison carried away $250 each, Westgate Valley having offered a purse of $500 for the winning team.

Armour Shoots 68.

Armour shot the best medal card of the day, a 68, two strokes under par. Hutchison and Walsh each turned in a 72, and Cooper, who encountered considerable difficulty on the first nine, finished with a 74. Armour and Hutchison came home with a best ball of 64 against their opponents' 68.

An enthusiastic gallery of 1,500, a majority of whom participated in THE TRIBUNE golf school, followed the match. Walsh won the first hole with a birdie four, which he fashioned by dropping his third shot just beyond the pin. Armour responded with a birdie on the second by running down a seven foot putt to even the match.

Armour Comes Through.

Tommy trapped his drive to the short 3d, but nearly holed out of the sand, the ball halting on the rim of the cup. They halved the next three holes. At the 85 yard 7th, one of the most unique water holes in the district, C

PUBLIC RELIES ON INFLATION IN BUYING GRAINS

Speculation Offsets Profit Taking.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Inflation of grain prices, with an advance in many of the leading stocks to highest levels of the last few years, has stimulated heavy and continuous buying by the public. This has more than offset profit taking by professional traders and has carried prices for all grains to new and surprising levels.

A few months ago wheat traders, in trying to forecast the future on early reports of damage to the winter wheat, considered 75 cents about as high as prices would go. That mark is passed and all the active futures showed above the dollar level, with net gains of 57 cents on July, 58 cents on September, and 37 cents on December.

The wheat situation in all is one of the most remarkable known. Between inflation by the government and serious damage to the winter and spring wheat crops there is a situation heretofore unknown to the grain trade.

Public Relies on Inflation.

The public has believed in inflation as the main factor, while the professional trader, as well as the cash interests, have divided their opinions on crop damage, inflation, and prices. Prices have always been a big factor with professionals in forming market opinions. This year, however, those who have worked on conditions regardless of prices have been the most successful in securing large profits.

The market has remained liquid for four months, and in the best condition for traders to get in and out on bulges and breaks.

A government report on production and condition of the leading crops is due this afternoon, and is expected to be bullish. Owing to the recent advances, however, it is believed by many that crop losses have been discounted by the advance in price. Estimates as to the government figures range from 490 to 530 million bushels of wheat, the winter being slightly above 300 millions, and the spring below 200 million bushels.

May Lower Private Estimates.

The average of private crop reports issued a week ago was 323 million bushels of winter and 196 million bushels of spring wheat, while final returns last year were 726 million bushels. The Canadian crop is estimated around 360 million bushels for the western provinces, against 428 million bushels harvested last year.

New winter wheat is moving to market in a moderate way, farmers not being anxous to sell, despite the high price compared with what they looked for early in the season.

Millers are said to be well stocked with wheat and flour, and have made large sales to bakers and general consumers, who are also well stocked. The government processing tax of 30 cents went into effect last midnight.

All wheat futures sold above the dollar level late in the week, but reacted on profit taking, July closing at 99 cents, September, $1.01⅞ to $1.02, December, $1.04½ to $1.04⅝, and May, $1.08⅜ to $1.08½. The high on the latter delivery during the week was $1.10¼, the finish being 2 cents off from top. Net gains for the week were 5 to 5¾ cents. Prices for the week follow:

Steel Output Up as Rise in Prices Looms

In addition to the rise in steel output, which has come to be almost a familiar event, new price advances and limitations on future deliveries, a "surge of activity" in scrap, and the lighting of several more blast furnaces were notable developments in the iron and steel industry last week, according to the magazine Steel.

"Specifications against contracts entered prior to recent price advances and in anticipation of an Aug. 1 deadline on preferential prices for heavy finished products appear to insure a July output of steel at approximately the current rate, which was 55 per cent last week and will be at least 56 per cent this week," says the magazine.

Measuring the scope of the revival in the industry, the review reports that daily average steel ingot production in June rose 34 per cent to 99,904 gross tons, the largest since April, 1931, and that calculated total output for the month was 2,597,517 tons.

Production for the first half of the year was 8,989,192 tons, or 1,291,982 tons over the same period last year.

"Thus far the automotive and tin plate industries have borne the brunt of the rise," the review observes. "Tin plate promises to remain at its present peak well into the fall, but automotive specifications may taper this month in anticipation of a letdown in assemblies in August.

"Thus the issue of steel production in late July and August probably will rest with the railroads and the building industry. Present indications point to improvement in railroad orders, and structural tonnage will undoubtedly gain when the public works program gets under way and the threat of higher prices matures projects held in abeyance."

At Chicago, where steel works operations gained 3 points to 56 per cent of capacity, the mills' activity is being supported by rail releases on orders placed a year ago.

Price Advances Spread.

The construction of a New York Central railroad viaduct in New York accounted for 15,500 tons in a total of 25,406 tons in structural awards.

Price advances continue to spread, remarks Steel. Prices of scrap have risen 50 cents to $1 a ton in most districts. Wire products have increased $6 to $7 a ton, relaying rails $2 to $3 a ton, spiegeleisen $3 a ton, ferromanganese $10 to $14 a ton.

"Progress toward a single price basis, one of the objects of the steel industry, is indicated by a limitation to Aug. 1 on preferential prices to large buyers of plates, shapes, and bars," says Steel, "and thereafter 1.60 cents, Pittsburgh, is expected to apply on all orders for the remainder of the third quarter."

Steel's iron and steel composite is up 48 cents to $29.67, the finished steel composite up 20 cents to $47.50, and the scrap composite up 37 cents to $10.16.

$4,250,000 Gold Reaches France from United States

CHERBOURG, France, July 9.—(AP)—A shipment of gold valued at $4,250,000 consigned to the Bank of France arrived on the Europa today. This more than covered the bank's loss last week, which was its first in seven weeks. The shipper of the gold, brought on the vessel from the United States, was not announced. The gold was in 78 kegs, presumably "earmarked." It was reported here that the Aquitania, due on July 11, is bringing $5,000,000 gold for French banks.

ALLIED CHEMICAL VICTORY CLAIMED BY COMMITTEE

New York, July 9.—(AP)—The stockholders committee of the Allied Chemical and Dye corporation, headed by C. W. Nichols, which sought the replacement of a fourth of the directorate as a result of the company's difficulties with the stock exchange, made public today a letter to its members canceling a special meeting scheduled for Aug. 10.

"The management of your company has finally agreed to make adequate reports to stockholders," the letter said. "This affords stockholders essential safeguards heretofore lacking and eliminates the imminent threat of the stock being stricken from the stock exchange list. This committee has thus achieved those essential objectives which called for immediate action.

"However, we remain of the opinion that the board of directors as now constituted is inadequate. The small independent element on the board should be augmented by the addition of new directors of standing to the end that the company will have a board which, while giving wholehearted support to the management on operating problems, will nevertheless have the independence to protect the interests of shareholders when idiosyncrasies of management menace their welfare."

Ludlum Steel Co. Reports Increase in June Orders

Orders received by Ludlum Steel company in June totaled $386,797, against $295,161 in May and $159,523 in June, 1932, H. G. Batcheller, president, reported yesterday.

2 PHILADELPHIA CONCERNS GIVE PAY INCREASES

Philadelphia, July 9.—(AP)—A ten per cent salary increase was announced today by the Philadelphia plant of the Brentwood Knitting mills. The increase becomes effective as of July 6.

H. B. Miller, manager of the Philadelphia branch of the Truscon Steel company, announced increases of from ten to twenty-five per cent in the wages of all employes.

Neither announcement stated whether the increases covered previous pay cuts.

Restores Wage Cut.

Pottstown, Pa., July 9.—(AP)—Howard Jarvis, superintendent of the Sweet-Orr plant, today announced restoration of a twenty per cent wage reduction, effective on July 17.

FIRES TO GLEAM AGAIN IN EASTERN COKE DISTRICT

Connellsville, Pa., July 9.—(AP)—Thousands of glowing fires are to gleam again on western Pennsylvania hillsides, reflections of industry's gradual emergence from the darkness of depression. Row on row of flames are due to spring up from row on row of "beehive" coke ovens, suppliers of fuel to his majesty—steel.

For as steel production hovers around the 50 per cent of capacity mark the demand for coke rises and the "beehives" get their opportunity to share in the industry's returns.

Many of the ovens have been dark for two or three years because the more modern ovens, which save by-products in the process of making coke, were able to meet steel's greatly decreased needs for fuel.

The H. C. Frick Coke company, one of the big producers of this type of fuel, has begun the overhauling of its standard plant at Mt. Pleasant, Pa., the largest beehive coke plant in the United States. With its 999 ovens, the plant will employ 500 men. It has been idle for a year.

Wheel Foundry at Berwick to Resume Operations

Berwick, Pa., July 9.—(AP)—The wheel foundry of the American Car and Foundry company plant at Berwick, idle since Jan. 1, will resume operations on July 17, the company announced today. Wheels will be produced to fill jobbing orders. Officials said these orders have been increasing and give the brightest outlook in several years for the jobbing business done by the plant.

FEDERAL RULE OF TRADE HELD RECOVERY PERIL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., July 9.—Permanent business recovery is threatened rather than advanced by invasion of government into the affairs of the people and control of their industries and commerce, Leon R. Clausen, president of the J. I. Case company of Racine, large manufacturer of farm implements and one of Wisconsin's leading industrialists, said today.

Mr. Clausen had marshaled his thoughts in opposition to a program proposed by the Committee for the Nation and also charted a plan of the government steps which he believes would result in a business revival. Summarized, his remedy for economic doldrums is withdrawal of government from business management and interference and a reduction of taxes. Otherwise there is no inducement for investment nor reward for industry, he believes.

Profits Go in Taxes.

"It seems doubtful if anyone of sound business judgment would enter upon new ventures when he has to assume all the risk of the business and all the losses, while if profits are gained they are confiscated by the government through the various kinds of taxes required to support the abnormal and impossible overhead," he said.

"The cost of government has increased 10 or 15 times as fast as population and it is obvious you cannot increase government burden at such a rate without coming to the breaking off point, in addition to the loss of freedom and the multiplication of restrictions and regulations the citizen has experienced as an individual."

The graduated income tax, justified politically under the euphemism of assessing the [illegible] in accordance with the capacity to pay, the Wisconsin manufacturer defines as a leveling downward process. "As a forest cannot be raised by cutting off the highest treetops, can the nation be lifted up by pressing down upon the most able in the field of production and trade?" he asked.

Tax One Class to Aid Others.

"In carrying on its endless activities, the government has sought to finance itself by taxing one part of the people for the assistance of another. It has violated a natural economic law by a graduated income tax. A tax where larger rates are assessed against some than others can be nothing more than confiscation.

"A government cannot make Carusos out of all its citizens by law, nor

Life Insurance Chiefs Forced to Cut Own Pay

Part of Superintendent of Insurance Ernest Palmer's program for improving the financial condition of some of the small insurance companies has been to influence company officers to accept salary reductions. The salary of one life insurance company president has been reduced from $80,000 to $15,000 annually. Another, who has been getting $75,000 per year, is understood to have taken a 50 per cent cut.

An indication of business improvement is found in the membership record of the Chicago Association of Commerce. During the first half of 1933 new members elected showed an increase of 51 per cent over those admitted in the like period of last year. Membership losses due to bankruptcy, mergers, etc., showed a decrease of 50 per cent up to June 30, 1933, as compared with the same period in 1932.

An example of how the World's Fair is helping Chicago business: A friend tells how Harry Lauer of the Pennsylvania company, Philadelphia, in Chicago with his father to visit the Fair took a walk along Michigan avenue. UPTURN IS SEEN AS GUARANTEED BY UNCLE SAM

Political Events Bear Out Belief.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 9.—They are beginning to talk in Wall street of this "new deal" boom in stocks—now clicking along toward the end of its fourth successive month—as a "government guaranteed" market. Developments are not lacking, of course, to warrant the viewpoint implied by the phrase, however wide it may fall of strict literal fact.

A stickler for the letter has only to scan the big events of the last week, the President's rather blunt refusal to fall in line with any plan for currency stabilization at the London conference, the fall of the dollar to a depreciation of 30 per cent—the heaviest discount from gold parity it has suffered since 1868—and the aggressive steps being taken by the administration to keep prices generally pointing upwards come what may, to realize that the securities upswing has the sympathy and well wishes of the official powers that be if not their formal backing.

"Show of Confidence."

It has been no secret from the outset, of course, that Washington was not exactly averse to the "show of confidence," which a rising stock market is popularly supposed to register toward a new order of things in national government. The swiftness of the advance, however, and the realization in responsible quarters that stock prices were far outrunning the pace of business and the rise in commodity prices was long a cause for genuine

To the advantage of its Customers

the facilities of this bank are now increased

FOR almost 44 years this bank has served Chicago. Consistently it has followed certain definite ideas in transacting business.

In the Banking Department for example, this institution has encouraged close relationships between its customers and its banking officers. To further that end a spacious Banking Mezzanine has just been built.

The quarters of the Senior Banking and Divisional Officers are on this floor — removed from the routine of the Main Banking Room. The mezzanine thus facilitates your contacts here, increases the comfort and convenience of doing business with the institution.

There are new improvements in the Main Banking Room — more public space, added means of caring for your transactions quickly, effectively. These changes stand completed.

To finish the cycle of improvement, the Savings Department also has been altered. Changes there have made our customers' contacts in this department even more pleasant and satisfactory. To the people who save at this bank, these improvements are evidence that the institution today holds to its traditional idea of personalized banking.

You are invited to use the facilities of any or all of The Northern Trust Company's five complete departments. These include, besides Banking for commercial or personal checking accounts, the Trust Department, Investment Bonds, Savings and Safe Deposit.

THE DIRECTORS OF THE NORTHERN TRUST COMPANY ARE:

creased speculative buying by the outsiders, who have given the market more attention than at any time in recent years, have all contributed to make a big market with wide price swings and a mixed trade sentiment.

Many traders believe prices are high enough and have taken profits, while others are selling the market short, thinking prices too high. A third element, however, believes that should wheat prices advance and hold gains, corn will follow to a considerable extent.

The government crop report today is expected to show around 2,450 to 2,500 million bushels. Private estimates given out early last week suggested an average of 2,488 million bushels, compared with final last year of 2,908 million bushels. Acreage is estimated at 3 to 4 per cent less than harvested last year. Early corn closed Saturday at 60 cents; September, 64⅛ cents; December, 68¾ to 68¼ cents, and May, 73½ to 73⅝ cents. Oats Shortest in Thirty Years.

Estimates on the probable showing of the government report on oats are 725 to 750 million bushels, said to be the smallest in thirty years. Average estimates of the five private crop reports given out July 1 suggested 749 million bushels. Last year's production was 1,242 million bushels. Traders who bought futures several weeks ago on crop reports have mainly taken profits on the 35 cent bulge and there is now a new set of holders. Closing trades were at net losses of ⅛ to ¾ cent, July being 45¾ cents, September, 46⅛ cents; December, 48⅛ to 48⅜ cents, and May, 52⅜ cents.

Rye was sold heavily by large holders, with offerings well absorbed. Cash deliveries on July contracts went into the hands of carriers, and the close was at 2¼ to 2½ cents net advance. July finished at 78¼ cents; September, 81⅞ cents, and December 85⅞ cents.

Barley Is Higher.

Barley was liberally traded in and closed 2¼ to 2⅝ cents net higher, September being 59¼ cents, and December 62⅝ cents.

Lard is the highest in several years with cash lots up to $7.12½ at the close. Speculative trade has increased and futures closed around the season's top, gaining 75 to 80 cents.

U. S., CANADIAN INTERESTS VIE FOR PRICE BROS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

QUEBEC, July 9.—Only two syndicates now are interested in acquiring control of Price Bros. & Co., it is learned, these being the McConnell-Sweezey group, representing Canadian capital, and the Duke-Mellon aggregation, representing American interests. The English syndicate headed by Lord Beaverbrook is reported to have dropped out of the field.

Canadian capital is interested in the Price Bros. & Co. property for the sake of newsprint manufacture, but the American syndicate is primarily interested in power, with manufacture of newsprint only a side issue, although an important one. Both concerns are reported to have offered bids to the trustees and the bondholders. A meeting of bondholders was held in Montreal yesterday to discuss the matter.

OVER 3 BILLION OF U. S. ISSUES DUE WITHIN YEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 9.—Obligations of the United States government that will mature within the next twelve months amount to $3,307,056,600. They consist of treasury certificates of indebtedness, notes, and noninterest bearing discount bills.

In addition, the first liberty loan 4¼s are redeemable on Dec. 15, 1933, if notice is given by Sept. 15. This issue amounts to $535,982,600. The liberty 3½s, outstanding in the amount of $1,392,277,350, will also become redeemable on Dec. 15 if three months' prior notice is given. The fourth liberty 4¼s, of which $6,268,095,250 are outstanding, may be redeemed in whole or in part on April 15, 1934, if notice is given by Oct. 15, 1933.

SHOWERS BRING RELIEF TO DRY CANADIAN FIELDS

WINNIPEG, Man., July 9.—Occasional thunder showers and hail storms broke the oppressiveness of week-end mugginess on the Canadian prairies today and brought a measure of relief to parched crops throughout the three western provinces. Temperatures were uniformly high, but many section reported that cloudy skies broke the force of the sun's heat.

Except in southern Saskatchewan, where the grasshopper plague assumed menacing proportions again, and in southern Alberta, where rain is badly needed, crops were reported in fair condition, with few districts experiencing important damage.

Graham Auto Shipments Increase Over Year Ago

Detroit, Mich., July 9.—Shipments of Graham motor cars in the second quarter were more than 18 per cent greater than in the same period of 1932, Robert C. Graham, executive vice president of Graham-Paige Motors corporation announced today. Total shipments were 3,560 cars, compared with 3,004 cars in the second quarter of 1932. For the sixth consecutive month export shipments exceeded those for 1932.

RAILROAD LIENS LEAD ADVANCES IN BOND MARKET

Secondary Issues Share in General Gains.

New York, July 9.—(AP)—Led by the active rails, bonds last week moved buoyantly into new high territory for the last year or more.

Enthusiasm was spurred to a feverish pitch at times, not only in response to spurting stocks and commodities coincidental with the depreciated dollar but as a reflection, at least in part, of the continued substantial improvement in business and industry.

The low priced carriers, including a number which are in receivership, leaped forward for gains of 1 to 4 or more points almost daily. In some instances defaulted issues, at the end of the week, showed an advance of more than 2,000 per cent over this year's bottom prices. The best grade transportation maturities, while maintaining a fairly steady to firm position, generally stood on the side lines.

Secondary Issues Climb.

Most of the secondary utilities and industrials participated to considerable extent in the forward push. In these groups encouragement was derived from the highly gratifying increase in electric power output, the unabated upswing of steel production, the booming of automobile manufacturing and other performances in the wholesale and retail merchandising fields.

Foreign obligations gave an unusually good account of themselves. French government and municipal issues, which are payable in gold at the par of the franc, were especially in demand for extreme gains of around 20 or more points. The advance of these loans, as in some other foreign government bonds, was attributed to arbitrage purchasing based on the fall of the dollar in terms of currencies still tied to the gold standard.

U. S. Issues Easier.

The United States government department was inclined to ease a trifle in rather dull trading. Notwithstanding this the federal reserve system open market buying continued at the rate of about $21,000,000 a week. The weakened dollar, however, in addition to much uncertainty surrounding the treasury's necessary financing plans, apparently caused some hesitation in the government group.

As an indication of the renewed interest in corporation bonds, especially of the secondary or speculative type, Friday's total sales of $25,522,000, par value, was the largest aggregate since March 20, 1930.

Public Service Corp. of N. J.

Investors' Guide: Will you please inform me about Public Service of New Jersey?—W. M. C.

Answer: Public Service corporation of New Jersey is a holding company. Through subsidiaries it furnishes utility services to a population of 3,850,000 from the Hudson river opposite New York City south across New Jersey to the Delaware river opposite Philadelphia.

A little more than half of gross revenues is derived from sales of electricity, one-fourth from gas sales and the remainder from transportation.

Earnings of the transportation division, in common with those of other companies in the same line, have been unsatisfactory.

Although residential and lighting sales of electricity increased slightly during 1932, smaller industrial takings resulted in total decline of 4.67 per cent from 1931. Gas sales were 4.40 per cent down from 1931.

Gross for the 12 months to May 31, 1933, were $119,737,000, against $133,145,000 for the preceding 12 months. Net income was $26,768,000, against $30,394,000.

Gross for the full 1932 year was $125,834,000, against $137,259,000 for 1931 and $138,162,000 for 1930. Net income in 1932 was $28,898,000, or $3.46 per common share, against peak earnings of $30,353,000, or $3.82 per common share, for 1931. Net for 1930 was $29,663,000.

Current financial position, both on a consolidated and nonconsolidated basis is strong. At the close of 1932 consolidated current assets were $51,283,000 and current liabilities were $14,897,000.

Funded debt of the system aggregated $210,176,000.

There are outstanding 1,190,885 shares of $100 par preferred, 518,464 shares of $5 no par preferred, and 5,503,193 shares of no par common. The management has kept common dividends in line with current earnings. The quarterly disbursement was reduced to 70 cents a share from the previous 80 cent basis effective June 30, 1933.

The New Jersey public utility commission has requested an appropriation to cover an investigation of rates.

The company operates in a compact, normally growing territory. Net, prior to 1932, showed a steady upward trend and, barring rate reductions, should reflect any general pickup in industry.

Transcontinental Oil.

Investors' Guide: Will you kindly let me know what rate of exchange was made when Transcontinental Oil was taken over by Ohio Oil?—H. E. B.

Answer:. Transcontinental Oil company was acquired by Ohio Oil company in August, 1930, on the basis of 4-7ths share of Ohio Oil no par stock for each share of Transcontinental Oil stock.

PUBLIC UTILITY.

Public Utility Holding corporation, an investment trust, today reported for fiscal year ended May 31 net income of $433,665, compared with net income of $1,827,993 in previous fiscal year. Figures do not take account of losses on sales of securities or write downs in values of securities.

UPTURN IS SEEN AS GUARANTEED BY UNCLE SAM

Political Events Bear Out Wall Street Opinion.

alarm by those who felt that the burst of enthusiasm was too violent for the market's good.

Only last month it was strongly intimated, supposedly from a source close to the President's inner circle of advisers, that the White House was of a mind to sound a note of caution unless the market makers themselves voluntarily applied the brakes. Since the failure of the efforts to stabilize currency at the London conference Wall street has heard that the lid is off on speculation so far as the capital is concerned—the inference being that the speculators are free to go as far as they like with their price inflating activities.

Reason For Gains.

Something of this belief has been responsible, according to well informed brokers, for the sensational price upheavals of two or three sessions of the week, notably those of Monday and Thursday, when THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's averages spurted 3.27 and 2.31 points respectively. Friday's turnover was even larger than that of either of these days, running close to 7,000,000 shares, the second heaviest total since the inflation movement got under way.

The averages mounted to a new peak of 97.94, but customary weekend profit taking shaved the gains run up earlier in this session and kept the new showing down. The week on the whole was the most active since the panic days of October, 1929, the turnover for the five trading sessions amounting to 29,055,220 shares, a daily average of 4,811,044 shares including yesterday's short session.

Virtually every day of the five, however saw levels mount to a new high for the year as traders all over the country sought to convert shrinking dollars into soaring equities.

Hugh Gain in Wealth.

Yesterday, the anniversary of the all-time bear market lows of last year, found the index closing at 94.82 as compared with the bear low of 33.98 on July 8 last year. In terms of paper wealth the gain in the year has amounted to approximately 23 billion 500 million dollars, of which some 19 billion, 500 million dollars has been recorded in the last four months.

As a result of its exertions, the market is now at about the average levels of 1924, the index for that year having ranged between 82.26 and 107.23. The administration is said to be immediately bent on raising prices generally to the levels of 1926, which would seem in the opinion of Wall street commentators to justify a belief that further advancement can be counted upon before that "serious reaction," which, by the very order of things, must overtake the market sooner or later.

Expect Further Rises.

There is no longer any doubt in the Wall street mind therefore that inflation is here. Moreover, those buying stocks with such a free hand now are convinced that it is going a great deal further in the weeks immediately to come. The evidence is just as undeniable, however, that the business revival is gaining momentum and that the reduction of unemployment figures are increasing the mass buying power.

Some industries have made strides that are really impressive, the steel trade, for instance, which is now operating on a profitable basis of 56 per cent of capacity, the railroads which, with their sharp rise in earnings, are rapidly moving out of the red, the textile industry which is "coming back" from all accounts by leaps and bounds.

INDUSTRIAL CODE TO BE DISCUSSED IN CONVENTIONS

Executives of the Associated Equipment Distributors, representing construction equipment dealers, will select a committee to draw up a tentative industrial code at their annual executive meeting at the Edgewater Beach hotel this morning. The twelve members of the executive committee will hold a joint session with twenty construction equipment manufacturers tomorrow for the purpose of coordinating the codes of both groups. Carl E. Smith, Los Angeles, is president of the organization, while A. C. Blaisdell, Cincinnati, is secretary of the executive group.

Some 500 members of the Automotive Engine Rebuilders association will discuss the industrial recovery act during their five day convention, which opens this morning at the Hotel Sherman. C. A. Fleetwood, Fort Dodge, Ia., is president.

The industrial code will also be discussed at the three day convention of the Better Bedding Alliance of America which opens this morning at the Palmer House. A committee was at work last week drafting a code for the consideration of the convention. Charles Friedberg, Leavenworth, Kan., is president of the association which is composed of bed springs, mattresses, pillows and studio couches.

AL SMITH'S BANK EXPECTED TO BE UNIT IN MERGER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 9.—A merger of the County Trust company and the Lawyers Trust company is being negotiated, and an announcement is expected to be made this week, according to officials of the institutions.

The County Trust company, of which Alfred E. Smith is chairman, was established in 1926. The Lawyers Trust company, which is owned by the Lawyers Title and Guaranty company, came into existence in 1925 when it was formed to handle the banking business of the Lawyers Title and Trust company, the title business being continued under the old name.

The two institutions combined will have aggregate deposits, on the basis of the latest available figures, of about $32,000,000; total resources in excess of $41,000,000, and capital funds of more than $8,000,000.

NATION'S TRADE SWEEPS AHEAD WITHOUT PAUSE

Many Unexpected Orders Received.

New York, July 9.—(AP)—The improvement which developed in industry recently became even more pronounced during the last week as business moved forward with unprecedented rapidity.

Trade reports indicated that orders poured in from unexpected sources and for amounts unsurpassed for many a moon. A further reduction of unemployment was shown, accompanied in many cases by encouraging announcements of pay increases.

"It no longer is an opinion that business is on the upgrade, it is a fact," announces Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., which feels that the weekly increase in the back log of unfilled orders is unquestioned proof of the permanency of the general improvement.

At the same time, confusion surrounding future value of the dollar—in the wake of the administration's inflationary legislation — is prompting wholesalers as well as retailers to place orders with considerable caution. Most analysts hold that the success of the fall merchandise season will largely depend upon the prices at which the farmer will be able to sell his produce, together with the relative vitality of mass purchasing power.

At Peak for 1933.

Most graphs depicting the course of industrial activity are now at the peak for 1933, while others have crossed last year's position and some have crossed into the 1931 territory.

In the latter category, the steel industry continues to be a blue ribbon leader, with production nearly on a parity with 1930. Production in late July and August, it is believed, will probably rest with the railroads and the building industry. Thus far, the automotive and tin plate industries have accounted for most of the demand.

Electric power output advanced strongly for the week ending July 1, the latest available report. The gain of 13.7 per cent over the corresponding week last year meant that production was above the level of the like 1931 week and also higher than the average for the years 1928 to 1930 inclusive. This was the first time power output had advanced above the corresponding level of two years ago.

Car Loadings Advance.

Due to suspension of operations on Independence day, automobile production last week, as estimated by Crum, showed a decrease of 17,723 units from the preceding week. However, the total of 41,915 units indicated no change in daily output.

Loadings of revenue freight for the week ended July 1, totaling 634,075 cars, were 29.8 per cent above the like period last year, the highest such increase reported this year. With the exception of two weeks last October, the volume of freight was the heaviest handled by the railroads since Dec. 3, 1931. Loadings in all classes of commodities showed substantial increases. The favorable showing followed the forecast of the shippers advisory boards for the third quarter of 1933, indicating a rise of 10 per cent in traffic over the corresponding months of 1932.

Other trade indices revealed marked strength. The production of lumber was the largest since September, 1931, and the bituminous coal output was approximately 50 per cent ahead of last year.

Expect Early Test of Farm Relief Act

Many Unexpected Orders Received.

Washington, D. C., July 9.—(AP)—A processing tax of 30 cents a bushel rested since last midnight squarely upon all wheat going into the making of food for American consumers, and administrators of the farm act today were expectant of an early legal test of this first application of one of their principal powers.

They were uncertain from what quarter the test would come, but both Secretary Wallace and George N. Peek, chief administrator, said frankly they looked for a prompt challenge in the courts of their authority to levy the processing tax on wheat.

While this tax went into effect today on grain poured into the hoppers of flour mills and other primary wheat processing plants, and also upon the floor stocks of millers, wholesale dealers and bakers, retail dealers will have 30 days during which foods made chiefly of wheat are not taxable.

Pleased at Response.

The expected legal challenge today failed to dampen the enthusiasm of Wallace, Peek, and other aids for their general farm program. They expressed pleasure over the response of cotton farmers to their acreage reduction plan.

They reported yesterday that up to about Friday noon farmers had offered to plow up more than 5,500,000 acres of their growing crop in return for government benefits. This meant that the campaign for reduction had passed the halfway mark.

Because the campaign has proceeded at its greatest speed in recent days, administrators believed that the more than 22,000 field workers had obtained on Friday and Saturday agreements from growers covering from 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 additional acres.

Postpones Final Date.

Wallace postponed the final date for receiving contract offers from Saturday to next Wednesday and expects the campaign to hit its fastest pace during the next three days. But if farmers in a substantial number have not had an opportunity to sign contracts by that time he will provide a further extension.

If Wallace succeeds in obtaining agreements for removing from 10,000,000 to 11,000,000 acres from production, he is confident that this year's potential crop can be reduced at least 3,000,000 bales. This would bring the prospective crop to around 10,000,000 bales, a substantial decrease from the high rate of production of the last decade.

STOCK TICKERS IN DEMAND AS MARKET BOOMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 9.—The Western Union Telegraph company reports that renewed public interest in the markets is reflected in the addition of more than 200 tickers each month on the 31 stock and commodity ticker systems operated by the system, during the last three months.

The number of tickers in use is now greater than a year ago. Such distant places as Butte, Mont.; Spokane, Wash.; Tucson, Phoenix, and Bisbee, Ariz.; Santa Fe and Albuquerque, N. M., have recently had their first tickers installed.

U. S. DATA SHOW TRADE GAINS BY OTHER NATIONS

Italy Expands Output; Cuba Calmer.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Favorable conditions in various European and far eastern countries were reported by the department of commerce today in its weekly survey of the foreign business situation on the basis of advices from its representatives abroad. The report, in part, follows:

ITALY—Industrial production continued to increase during May and commercial centers reported business improvement. Foreign developments, principally the evidences of improvement in the United States and the signing of the four power treaty pact, have strengthened confidence. As a result of the increase in exports and the decrease in imports, the unfavorable trade balance has been reduced.

Bank Clearings Smaller.

Bank clearings were smaller during May and reductions were recorded in the circulation, loans, and discounts of the Bank of Italy. Retail prices continued to drop slightly, but the wholesale index has been rising steadily for four consecutive weeks. The bourse has been more active and government securities have shown marked improvement.

JAPAN—The continued advance in yen exchange has improved certain Japanese import lines, particularly the automotive trade, the outlook for which is more favorable. The current exchange rate fluctuates between 26 and 27 cents. Price indexes, after declining steadily since the beginning of the year, are now stationary. Exports of rayon continue active. Cotton textile exports for the first five months of this year show an increase of 33 per cent, and yarn exports an increase of 7 per cent over the same period for last year.

Cuba Reported Calmer.

CUBA—A much healthier undertone prevailed in business circles. The apparent abatement of political unrest has had a beneficial effect on business sentiment, and the rise in sugar and other commodity prices has stimulated wholesale buying, with importers and wholesalers replenishing stock. Sales to retailers have not kept pace with the increase in wholesale purchases, as greatly reduced consumer purchasing power has militated against any marked improvement in retail sales.

HUNGARY—Exports for the first four months of 1933 were valued at 103,900,000 pengos, and imports 93,100,000 pengos, leaving a favorable balance of 10,800,000 pengos, compared with an unfavorable balance of 12,300,000 pengos for the corresponding period of last year. [The pengo equals 17.49 cents.] Sentiment indicates that the downward trend has finally come to a standstill.

Frigidaire Corp. to Launch Midseason Trade Campaign

Dayton, O., July 9.—[Special.]—E. G. Beichler, president of the Frigidaire corporation, General Motors subsidiary, said today that the company will launch the most comprehensive midseason business campaign in its history on July 15. The campaign will include a wide national advertising campaign in 500 newspapers. About 15,000 dealers and salesmen will participate.

FEDERAL RULE OF TRADE HELD RECOVERY PERIL

Industrialist Assails Crippling Taxes.

can it make them Paderewskis, Lindberghs, nor Tunneys. When we come to the field of business, the government is trying to elevate all by confiscating from a few thus leveling downward.

"We have got into our difficulties primarily, I believe, because of the unwarranted expansion of government into the irresponsible control of production and trade, transportation and finance. There are undoubtedly other reasons which contribute.

Government No Panacea.

"I am not in sympathy with the idea that we are going to get out of this depression by turning over everything to the government, giving up our rights and freedom as citizens, leaning on the government for everything in the future. This is the direction in which we are presently going, and the thing, which in my opinion is the major cause of our present predicament."

Wisconsin, in which state the primary election theory evolved a generation ago, contributed an unsound foundation to present government, Mr. Clausen believes, resulting in the discard of the successful political practice of the previous hundred years. The law, he said, contrary to its expressed purpose, deprived the people of the power of selecting candidates for office. "It has created a condition where the competent and successful, the man most fit to make the laws, has little chance to be elected," he said.

The legislative program which the Wisconsin manufacturer believes would result in a revival of manufacturing and trade begins with the repeal of the primary law, followed by the repeal of all restrictive laws relating to production and trade enacted within the last 25 years and including the Sherman anti-trust law, which antedates that period.

Cut Government to Necessities.

His third point would be the reduction of government personnel and activities to the primary functions of maintaining peace and order and protecting its citizens, together with the abolition of most of the departments existing in Washington and the state governments.

Mr. Clausen advances the thought that legislatures and congress should confine themselves for 10 years to a review of the statutes with the specific idea, publicly announced, of repealing every unnecessary law and confining actual legislation to that which is essential to law and order; the restriction of government in relation to production, trade, finance, and transportation to the collection of necessary statistics of real use and benefit.

"It is my belief," he concludes, "that the American people will find ways and means again to go ahead in a manner that is in accord with natural laws and put our country in a sound economic condition. The best proof of this is what we did the first hundred years of our existence, when people had their rights and privileges and when governments did not attempt to dictate every detail of their daily lives, even to what they eat and drink."

FRISCO'S PLAN TO REORGANIZE FACES CONTEST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 9.—Opposition to the reorganization plan of the St. Louis-San Francisco company will be voiced not only by holders of undeposited bonds but also by some large owners of certificates of deposit when hearings on the proposal are opened by the interstate commerce commission on July 18, it was learned today.

Bonds deposited in agreement with the readjustment program amount to more than 72 per cent of the total, compared with 66 2-3 per cent required under the bankruptcy law to make the plan binding upon the minority. Opposition to the plan springs from differences of opinion as to the fairest concessions to ask of each class of securities and from the opinion of some large holders of bonds that the plan is not drastic enough in recapitalizing the road.

The plan and agreement of July 6, 1932, stated that the plan was the only alternative to receivership and that the directors and the security holders' committees "strongly urge the security holders to avoid this alternative by prompt deposit under the plan."

The agreement provided, nevertheless, that the plan of any modified or substitute plan may be carried out, irrespective of any receivership of the railway or any foreclosure of its mortgages.

WANTED—MALE HELP.

Miscellaneous.

IF YOU ARE ACCEPTED IT WILL BE TO OUR INTEREST TO HELP YOU MAKE AS MUCH MONEY AS THESE OTHER MEN MAKE—AND IN THE SHORTEST REASONABLE PERIOD OF TIME!

In the meanwhile your income might be less. It took you time to learn your past business, trade, or profession. It probably will not take you 10% of that time to become proficient in this permanent, profitable work, that knows neither layoffs nor seasons, which calls for no investment or deposit or financial risk. I believe that I can show you men here who started with greater handicaps than you ever had, and won out gloriously. J. D. is one of these. He had suffered real reverses, but he has won with our help and because of our remarkable product and through his intelligent work last week he made $99.61. He has made well over $100.00 in a week. His June income trebled over his May income.

V. J. C. also has made more recently than he made last week, but his last week's earnings were $54.00. R. K., also last week, made $76.95. These men and many others with similar earnings—men right in this office—never had what you might call advantages, but are successful! Mr. C. was an upholsterer, Mr. D. a salesman, Mr. K. a mechanic. S. G., a new man, made $29.50 his first week. He will succeed far beyond that—and so can you—but your first month might mean not over $100 to $135, and that only if you apply yourself.

There is one certain thing here: this company is able to pay you and always pays promptly and fully. It is a company of the highest standing, and it can accept only men of character and who will work. We wish family men, between 25 and 47 preferably. But if you believe that you can qualify, and are sincere and will call from 9 to 12, Monday, July 10, I will give you the time for a private interview. If I believe you can succeed, you will be given the opportunity; if I think you cannot, you will be told so privately. You can see me only during the hours named. Ask for R. W. McMillan, 9 South Kedzie-av.

MEN

On account of the steady progress and growth of our company we are in a position to take on a few additional men from time to time; the requirements for these positions are quite reasonable so that the average man of good habits and clean-cut appearance will stand a fair chance of being employed.

This company has been uniquely successful throughout this depression, in fact 1933 will be our fourth successive record sales year. In line with our steady gains in business, the earnings of our men are higher; not only are more men earning $50.00 and $75.00 a week, but in recent months we have issued many weekly pay checks running between $100.00 and $250.00, throughout the entire country. These earnings, of course, are generally made by more experienced men, but there are exceptions where new men have quickly advanced themselves to the higher incomes.

Here are a few examples of current earnings: C. A. W.'s week's earnings were $75.55. T. J. M. for the week earned $64.28. W. R., for the same period made $61.41. L. D.'s week's earnings were $50.01, and L. D.'s $52.28. E. F in one day made $98.84. Yet these men started smaller, but with no greater opportunity than YOU have right now!

Similar positions are available in our local office to a few more men who are qualified to learn this work, and who would be satisfied with earnings of $125.00 monthly while learning, provided they saw opportunities for increases with experience. Only men accepted for the positions will be given a very thorough course of training free of charge.

For personal interview, call at 430 Hyde Park Bank Bldg., 53d & Lake Park Avenue Monday morning, July 10, 9 to 1

MEN WHO DON'T ANSWER ads, yet would like a profitable business of their own without investment I sincerely believe will be glad to investigate this opportunity.

We offer a clean, honest position that will insure a fair return for your work.

If you meet our requirements of NEAT APPEARANCE, INDUSTRIOUS nature, 25 to 50 years of age, we will set you up in a little business in your own neighborhood—WITHOUT one CENT INVESTMENT on your part. You won't get rich, BUT YOU SHOULD NET FROM $38 to $70 a week.

By this time next week one of your friends may have the franchise to your territory, so don't put this off. INVESTIGATE this PLAN—IT COSTS YOU NOTHING but your time and it may be just what you have been looking for.

APPLY FOR INTERVIEW
MONDAY ONLY,
9 to 12 A. M.,
Room 618, Mather Tower,
75 E. Wacker-dr.

MEN LIVING IN WESTERN SUBURBS WILL BE SELECTED FOR THESE PLACES!

I wish men who will come with the same character and purpose that prompted four men to come into this office this week—to refer to Mr. Treun, Mr. Newton, Mr. Richardson, and Mr. Leon. They realized that there was a job to do, and they would be well paid for doing it—they did not have to question the financial responsibility of their employers, and they knew that past experience was of small moment except as it had molded character in them.

This is highly profitable for the right men—and I mean it. Train in my personal talk with you, and if I believe you can do the work, we stand ready to put everything back of you without a penny of cost to you. I can see you from 9 to 12 only, Monday, July 10. Ask for Mr. Wilbor, Room 26, at 212 S. Marion-st., Oak Park, Ill.

Capitol in Springfield Damaged by Fire—Repeal Convention Today—Boy Dies in Double Tragedy

FIRE ATTACKS STATE CAPITOL AT SPRINGFIELD; DAMAGE NEARLY $100,000.
Smoke pouring from the south wing of the state capitol yesterday as firemen began battle against stubborn blaze, which was discovered under roof. The house chamber, where repeal convention is scheduled for today, was damaged by water and many important state documents were lost. (Story on page 1.)

OFF TO CAST THEIR VOTES FOR REPEAL TODAY.
